PITTSBURGH'S RAPID TRANSIT TO BE MERGED

Philadelphia Company Tells of Plans for a Mammoth Deal.

CAPITAL STOCK TO BE GREATLY INCREASED

$15,000,000 in New Shares Will Be Necessary for Consolidation.

BONDED DEBT WILL REACH $22,000,000

Monongahela Lines Will Be Leased and Consolidated, Birmingham and Suburban Lines Acquired as Property.

The board of directors of the Philadelphia Company has arranged to increase its bonded debt to $22,000,000 and the capital stock to $36,000,000. Arrangements have been made for the absorption of the Southern Traction Company, the stock issue of which amounts to $5,000,000, for $2,500,000 of Philadelphia Company common stock. Negotiations are pending for the absorption of the Suburban Rapid Transit Company and other smaller interests, which will give the Philadelphia Company absolute control of traction operations in the Pittsburgh district.

All these matters will be presented to the stockholders of the Philadelphia Company for their approval on December 4. At that time the committee which is arranging for the absorption of the outside interests will be ready with its report, including the details of merger not yet arranged.

The present bonded debt of the Philadelphia Company proper is $6,500,000. Of the proposed new $22,000,000 bond issue, $6,500,000 will be reserved to take up the outstanding bonds when they mature. Of the rest $12,000,000 will be available to exchange as part payment for $12,000,000 preferred stock of the Consolidated Traction Company, if this amount is turned in under the proposition of the Philadelphia Company. The remaining $3,500,000 bonds will be directly available to provide funds for the betterment and extension of the properties.

The present authorized issue of Philadelphia Company stock is $21,000,000, of which $6,000,000 is 5 per cent non-cumulative preferred and the rest common. The additional stock issue to be authorized consequently will be $15,000 to make the entire authorized issue of $36,000,000.

Of its present authorized common stock the company has unissued less than $250,000, or such an amount as scarcely to figure in the scope of the present plans. Of the preferred stock there remains unissued little over $2,000,000. The new authorized issue of $15,000,000 will be all in common shares.

The terms under which the Southern Traction Company is to be absorbed is that the entire issue of $5,000,000 of the stock of the company is to be transferred for $2,500,000 of the common stock of the Philadelphia Company. This will be done by an exchange of one $50 share of the Philadelphia common for one $50 preferred and one $50 common share of the Southern stock. Owners of almost the entire stock of the Southern company have agreed to the exchange on this basis. The bond issue of the Southern is $3,000,000.

President J. H. Reed of the Philadelphia Company had posted to the stockholders a complete prospectus, covering the work done and the plans in relation to the entire traction consolidation. Stockholders are requested to either attend the meeting on December 4 or execute enclosed proxies and send them to the secretary of the company, W. B. Carson. Ex-Judge Reed says in this statement:

"The board does not desire to recommend action by the stockholders without

OFFICERS TRAPPED AND MURDERED IN A MOONSHINER'S CABIN

Riderless Horse Found at Neighbor's Gate Causes Search to Be Made.

CHARRED BODIES FOUND

OXFORD, MISS., Nov. 17.—John R. Montgomery, deputy United States marshall protem, a respected citizen of Oxford, and Deputy United States Marshal Hugh Montgomery of Pontotoc, left here yesterday for the purpose of arresting Will Mathis, an alleged counterfeiter and moonshiner, who lives 12 miles east of this place. Early this morning Montgomery's horse was found standing at the gate of Curdy Hall, a neighbor of Mathis, and Mathis' house was burned to the ground.

Upon further investigation two partially burned bodies were found in the ashes of the burned building, which have been identified as the remains of the deputy marshals. John A. Montgomery's horse has not been found, and it is supposed that Mathis made his escape on him after the men had been killed and the house set on fire. Mathis' wife was at her father's, a few miles from her burned home, and she says she and her husband left home yesterday, her husband leaving the country.

Mathis was indicted last summer for making and passing counterfeit money and was out on a $2,000 bond. The principal witness against him was a negro, living in the same neighborhood, who a month ago was assassinated. The two Montgomerys went out to arrest Mathis for making illicit whisky, and it is supposed that they were prevailed upon to remain for the night and were shot while guarding their prisoner.

A posse of 30 or 40 of the leading citizens of Oxford went out to the scene of the murder today and every effort will be made to capture Mathis.

A LITTLE CHILD UNITES A FAMILY

Son of a Well-Known Bostonian Is Reconciled to His Wife by Their Daughter.

BOSTON, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Through their 7-year-old adopted daughter, to whom both are greatly attached, a reconciliation has been effected between Dr. Sumner Paine, son of Gen. Charles J. Paine, the yachtsman of cup defender fame, and Mrs. Payne. They have been separated since May 29 last, when Dr. Payne discovered his wife with Peter F. Damm, a music teacher, and began to shoot.

Mrs. Payne claimed that Damm had visited their home on Beacon hill to give the child violin lessons. Both claimed that Damm, with his coat off, was dictating the libretto of an opera when Dr. Payne returned home. Dr. Payne's arrest, his charges against Damm, Damm's suit for $10,000 damages, Mrs. Payne's libel for divorce, followed by a similar libel on the part of the doctor, were general topics for some weeks.

Now the unexpected has happened and husband and wife are spending honeymoon No. 2. The reconciliation is as sudden as it was unexpected. Nevertheless, both Dr. and Mrs. Payne say it has come to stay, and they are perfectly happy now that they have come to a mutual understanding.

MINERS OF THE NORTHWEST TERRITORY MAY THROW OFF THE CANADIAN YOKE

(Special to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 17.—Rebellion is raising its head in the mining regions of the great Northwest Territory. According to reports which have reached here 5,000 miners of all nationalities have resolved to throw off the rule of the Dominion of Canada and establish a republic with Dawson as the capital.

According to the details of the story arms, ammunition and provisions have been taken into that country over the railroad and cached at strategic points. Prominent American residents of Skagway are said to be leaders in the conspiracy, which is said to have its inception in the irritating and unjust exactions of the Canadian government in the regulation of the gold mining industry. The ramifications of the alleged plot include Skagway, Victoria and Vaucouver.

The plan is to overpower the mounted police, arrest the civil authorities and take the government into their own hands. The rigors of the Arctic winters would give the insurgents six months' immunity from attack by Canadian or British troops and the adventurous conspirators hope for intervention or outside assistance by the time the melting of ice and snow will permit the invasion of their isolated republic.

It is further related that a hurried conference lasting until midnight was held at Skagway, November 5, at which were present Capt. Corrigan of the northwest mounted police, who had arrived from across the Canadian border late that evening; Judge Brown of the United States district court, United States Marshal Shoup, United States Attorney Frederich and Maj. Hovey, commanding the United States troops at Skagway, attended the meeting. This was the last of several hasty consultations between the civil and military representatives of the two powers in relation to the mysterious transportation of supplies into the interior and rumors of a conspiracy to lead the miners in a revolt against the Canadian government in the Northwest Territory. Those present maintained subsequently the strictest silence concerning the new evidence laid before them and their evident anxiety helped to confirm the rumors of conspiracy.

Capt. Corrigan took a train back across the border the next morning, while United States Marshal Shoup embarked on the first steamer for Seattle, which port he reached several days ago. The object of his visit was presumably to confer by telegraph with the authorities at Washington. He sailed yesterday afternoon on the Dolphin on his way back to Skagway.

DRUGS AND TROUBLE WRECK MIND AND BODY OF O. B. WHEELER, JR.

Arraigned in New York Court for Forging Notes Amounting to $103,000.

UNDER DOCTOR'S CARE

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—O. B. Wheeler, Jr., spent today as a prisoner in police headquarters under the care of a physician. He appeared in the Center street court earlier on a charge of forging the names of Potter Palmer and other prominent Chicagoans to notes with a face value of $103,000.

When he was arraigned before Magistrate Cornell he was in bad condition. Henry J. McCormick, his attorney, explained to the magistrate that his client was suffering from the over use of drugs, and the man held onto the bench to steady himself as he stood before the magistrate. Upon this statement of his apparent condition, the case was continued until tomorrow.

Wheeler had the air of a prosperous business man. He is small of stature, quite bald and wears a beard. While waiting to be arraigned he walked nervously about the court room. The attorney said that for a month past Wheeler had been constantly attended by a private nurse, who knew much about the alleged attempts on his part to raise money on the notes.

Forgery is charged on the one hand and temporary insanity offered as an excuse on the other. Mr. Wheeler is the president and present owner of the Richmond Brick and Tile Company of Kreicherville, S. I., and worry over an attempt to enlarge the plant there is said to have brought on an illness, which, with the use of drugs, unbalanced his mind.

Mr. Wheeler was accused of embezzling $16,000 from George W. Vanderbilt while employed on his estate at Baltimore, in 1893, and it is stated by the National Association of Brickmakers that he has been suspected of unbusiness like dealings before.

In court this morning his attorney asked that the man be sent to Bellevue hospital for treatment, but he was remanded to headquarters on the statement of Detective Sergeant Price that he could have his own physician there. This is Dr. Gray Ward. Magistrate Cornell expressed sympathy for the prisoner, and said the five notes held in evidence seemed to be signed by the same hand. Mr. McCormick said in court that he believed his client had signed the notes and written several letters to himself about them while mentally deranged.

Dr. W. Turrington of Chicago, whose name as an individual and a member of a corporation is on two of the notes, is on his way to New York to appear as a witness in the case. Dr. Ward will also appear to testify as to the man's mental condition. His wife and child are prostrated by the shock, and will see none but their most intimate friends.

OBJECT TO HIS LETTERS

Chief Engineer of the Pittsburgh, Binghampton and Eastern R. R. Accused of Misusing the Mails.

BINGHAMPTON, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—S. E. McCormick, chief engineer of the Pittsburgh, Binghampton & Eastern Railroad Company, is held on the serious charge in United States court of misusing the mails.

McCormick who is a resident of Towanda, Pa., was engaged by the syndicate organized to build the Pittsburgh, Binghampton & Eastern Railroad, to lay out the line. His work proved satisfactory at first and all went well. Then trouble arose between him and several members of the company which resulted in a wordy war and it is charged that he wrote postal cards and letters bearing undue and annoying charges, mailing them to members of the syndicate residing in New York and Pittsburgh.

Mr. Sawyer, president of the road, made the complaint and Henry Comstock, one of the trustees, seconded the charge. McCormick waived a hearing in the case, which goes directly to the United States grand jury. He is prepared to make a fight and sensational disclosures are promised.

KANSAS TOWN RAIDED.

Robbers Enter Store and Bank, but Are Driven Off by Citizens.

WELLINGTON, KAS., Nov. 17.—Safe blowers raided Milan, a small town 16 miles west of here, at an early hour this morning and after entering every prominent store, among them one in which the postoffice is located, wrecked the safe and fixtures of the Milan State bank with dynamite. Two doors were blown off the safe, but the third, on which was the time lock, resisted the force of the explosives and citizens who had been aroused by the noise rushed into the streets with shotguns and drove the robbers away before they had secured any plunder.

Believing the robers were concealed in the bank a posse kept watch until daylight when it was discovered they had escaped. Secreted in a vault of the bank was $4,000 which was not taken and the robbers secured but a few dollars.

Bloodhounds from Wichita were taken to Milan, but they refused to take the scent and the pursuit of the men was abandoned.

FIFTY BOLOMEN IN ISLAND OF SAMAR ROUTED IN BATTLE

Sixteen Natives Are Killed, While the Americans Lose but Two.

SEVERE BLOW IS DEALT

MANILA, Nov. 17.—Company E of the Ninth infantry, Capt. F. H. Schoeffel, was attacked by 50 bolomen and several insurgents armed with rifles at a point six miles from Tarangnan in the island of Samar. The insurgents tried to rush the Americans, but failing to accomplish their purpose, they quickly broke and scattered. The men of the Ninth had a corporal and scout killed and one private wounded. Sixteen of the bolomen were killed while the riflemen escaped.

Ten Hotchkiss rapid-fire guns will be sent to the southern islands for operations in the mountains. Capt. Herman Hall of the Twenty-first infantry has been scouting for several days in Batangas province. He had four separate engagements with the insurgents there, judging from the firing on these occasions Capt. Hall estimates the force of each band of the rebels at from 30 to 50. They made no attempt to charge Capt. Hall's party. Capt. Hall's scout resulted in the capture of one insurgent officer and 50,000 pounds of rice.

Gen. Sumner, commander of the district of Southern Luzon, highly praises Capt. Hartman and his troop of the First cavalry, who last Wednesday morning attacked 400 insurgents entrenched in rifle pits at Buan, Batangas province, and routed them. Gen. Sumner says the blow thus administered by Capt. Hartman is the most severe the insurgents have suffered since he, Gen. Sumner, assumed command of this district.

Owing to the fact that the United States transports Sheridan, Waldron and Hancock all met with accidents in the Inland Sea of Japan, and the returning party of visiting congressmen is consequently now delayed in the latter country, the transport which arrived at Manila November 12 will be immediately dispatched to Japan. Gen. Chaffee opposes United States transports in future passing through the Inland Sea.

The Filipino priest Deposoy has been sentenced by court-martial to the penalty of death for the murder of certain of his countrymen who favored the Americans. Out of respect, however, to the condemned man's calling and the great religious body to which he belonged, and most unworthily represented, Gen. Chaffee has comuted his sentence to 20 years' imprisonment. Gen. Chaffee desires it to be understood that the leniency exercised in the case cannot be taken as a precedent and that no person in the islands can be permitted to plead his office, however sacred and exalted this may be, as protection against crimes committed.

The municipal authorities have decided to enlarge the city of Manila and to incorporate within its limits the suburb of Santa Ana.

WOULD OPEN THEATERS ON SUNDAY EVENINGS.

Philadelphia Pastor Says That Saturday Night Should Be Spent in Preparing for Sabbath

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Rev. Henry R. Gummey, pastor of the Protestant Episcopal church of St. John, in his sermon this morning advocated a radical departure from the present system of church service.

He said in part: "The religious observance of Sunday is seriously interfered with by the popular custom of devoting Saturday night to pleasures. In view of this fact it would almost be better to have the theaters open on Sunday evenings rather than on Saturdays."

The sermon was in the main an advocacy of preparation for Sunday. Attendance at the theaters on Saturday night, Mr. Gummey thought, was not the best prelude to the principal service on Sunday morning. The Bible, he said, showed that the original day of worship was from sundown Saturday to sundown Sunday. His text, upon which he based this assertion, was Genesis 1, 5: "And the evening and the morning were the first day." The early Christians, he said, had devoted this period to worship and the custom was kept up until in the middle ages, when it gradually dropped out of use.

CRISIS HAS PASSED.

Chilean Cabinet Ministers Will Retain Their Portfolios—Argentine Dispute Will Be Settled.

VALPARAISO, CHILE, Nov. 17.—(Special Cable.)—It is believed that the Chilean cabinet crisis will end tomorrow in nearly all of the ministers retaining their portfolios. The controversy between Argentina and Chile over the opening of pathways in the disputed territory will be amicably settled. United States Minister Wilson will start tomorrow on a trip through the southern provinces.

Plague at Russian Seaport.

HOUSES OF WORSHIP DESERTED BECAUSE OF SUPPOSED FIRE

TRACK LAYING STOPPED

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

BEAVER, PA., Nov. 17.—The usual Sunday quiet of "Saint's Rest" had a rude awakening this morning, when the clanging of the fire bell diverted the attention of church folk on their way to worship, and took them from the narrow path to secular scenes. There was no fire, though the town apparatus was in full operation, first blustering through the streets and then giving vent to the pent-up fluid in the fire plugs, which was turned full upon a gang of workmen busily engaged in laying a street car track. The excitement was the culmination of a long existing war between the town of Beaver and the Beaver Valley Traction Company, and today's activity resulted in 30 of the company's workmen being drenched by the fire department and then placed under arrest.

The borough officials have been endeavoring to restrain the traction company from laying a double track from this place to Bridgewater for the past six months. About two months ago an injunction was issued against the traction company, and until this morning no effort was made on the part of the company to lay the tracks. About 10 o'clock this morning 30 men employed on laying the track between the two places were about to start to work within the Beaver borough limits. They were discovered by several citizens, and the alarm was immediately given by ringing the fire bell.

Crowds of people were on the streets on their way to church. They all started on a run for a supposed fire in the East End, with the fire department in the lead. The firemen were in such haste that the ladder truck was nearly destroyed by crashing against a telegraph pole. The hose carriage arrived first where the men were at work. The trouble was explained to them, and after attaching a hose to the fire plug, a stream of water was turned on the workmen. They were not disturbed by the water, however, and when Constable W. B. Fallon arrived, he placed the workmen under arrest. They were later released on bail, which was furnished by President John Buchanan. They will have a hearing tomorrow afternoon.

PRO-BOER SEA FIGHT.

Dutch Fishermen Board British Smack and Maltreat the Crew.

LONDON, Nov. 18.—An extraordinary demonstration of pro-Boerism is reported by a Brussels newspaper. It seems that a Dutch fishing boat belonging to Ymuiden, while off Wellingen lightship in the North sea, pretended to be in distress and approached a British smack. Thirteen fishermen from the Dutch boat boarded the British craft and attacked the crew of the latter, shouting "Long Live the Boers." Several of the Britishers were wounded.

It is alleged that before making the attack the Dutchmen locked their captain in his cabin.

TEMPERANCE WOMAN DECLARES ROOSEVELT A MAN OF DESTINY

PLEA FOR RIGHT LIVING

FT. WORTH, TEX., Nov. 17.—Politicians strive to make Theodore Roosevelt vice president, that they may remove him as governor of New York and no longer be hindered in their wicked schemes, and behold a most signal and disastrous reversal of their plans. Roosevelt, a man of destiny, becomes president, while his successor, Gov. Odell, develops ability to rise above aims and standards of machine politics. History emphasizes the exactness of God's justice.

Unordained preachers of the Women's Christian Temperance union occupied the pulpits of Fort Worth churches to-day and the sentiment quoted above is that of Elizabeth Greenwood of New York, national evangelist superintendent of the organization.

Interest centered in Miss Greenwood's discourse because of the fact that it was she who had been selected to preach the annual sermon. The text from which the fair sermonizers took their discourses were: I. Corinthians, I.-17. "For Christ sent me not to baptize, but to preach the gospel, and Matthew, v.-17. "I am not come to destroy but to fulfill." The supreme thought in Miss Greenwood's discourse was preaching the gospel. She said that all history teaches wisdom of right doing and folly of wrong doing. The speaker instanced Robespierre, Lord Jeffries, Louis XVI. and Czolgosz.

Thirty-four members of the union occupied pulpits in different churches preaching in most instances morning and evening. Doctrinal discourse was tabooed. Methodists occupied Presbyterian pulpits, Unitarians talked to a Methodist Episcopal church, south, congregation, and Baptists and Congregationalists fraternized under the white banner of temperance.

Some of the most prominent pulpit orators were Mrs. Mary H. Hunt of Boston, Mass.; Mrs. Margaret Dye Ellis, Washington; the Rev. Eugenie St. John, Kansas; Mrs. Clara Parrish Wright of Illinois; Mrs. Mabel L. Conklin, national lecturer and organizer, New York; Mrs. Addie N. Fields, world's missionary to Mexico; Mrs. Marion Dunham, Burlington, Ia.; Mrs. Howard Hoge of Virginia; Miss Belle Kearney of Mississippi; Miss Christine Hewitt of London, England. All these speakers preached to appreciative and overflowing congregations.

This afternoon a grand Philippine rally was had at the opera house which was overflowed. The question of evangelizing the Islands was discussed from the light of the personal relation of one who had been there and pledges were secured to maintain a missionary for a year.

SENATOR CULLOM ACCEPTS.

Announces That He Will Be the Next Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—Senator Cullom of Illinois will be chairman of the foreign relations committee of the senate to succeed the late Senator Davis.

"Ever since Senator Frye announced that he would not take the chairmanship of that committee," said Senator Cullom today, "I have expected to take it, being the senior member of the committee after Mr. Frye. That is still my intention. It is so understood by my friends and by other senators. Yesterday I talked with Senator Lodge, who is next on the committee after myself, and he offered me his congratulations on my coming chairmanship, which I accepted. We conferred as to the future work of the committee. There is no rivalry between us, and, of course, there will be no contest for the place.

"I cannot understand why rumors to the effect that I was undecided whether or not to take this chairmanship should be put into circulation. I have had no other intention since Mr. Frye declined the honor."

Mr. Cullom's decision to accept this chairmanship will cause him to resign the chairmanship of the committee on interstate commerce.

Government Expert Says That the Philippines Are in Need of Proper Banking Facilities.

SAN FRANCISCO, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Charles A. Conant, who was sent to the Philippines several months ago by Secretary of War Root to investigate the coinage and banking systems of Uncle Sam's new possessions, returned yesterday on the steamship China. He says the Philippines are in need of proper banking facilities.

When the legislators of the country produced a law limiting the letting of commercial franchises to one year's duration it put a stop to the commercial development of the Philippines. "This restriction," says Mr. Conant, "puts a stop to all railroad enterprise and absolutely prevents any mining development."

There are sugar and other plantations already established, however, and the owners, like agriculturists in any land, are occasionally in need of ready money. The ruling rate of interest for any such accommodations is $40 per cent per annum. One bank, Mr. Conant says, makes loans on crops at the nominal rate of 25 per cent. By the time the transaction between borrower and lender has been completed, however, the regulation 40 per cent looks like a cheap rate.

CAPT. JOHN B. FORD MAKES NEW GIFT

Ninetieth Birthday of Pioneer Flint Glass Manufacturer of America Fittingly Celebrated—Lifelong Freedom from Labor Troubles.

Citizens of Tarentum and friends from up and down the Allegheny valley yesterday fittingly observed the 90th birthday of Capt. John Baptiste Ford. They also solemnly pledged that on each recurring of the anniversary they will gather to pay tribute to this great philanthropist. Tarentum has reason to honor Capt. Ford. He has made it possible for the Young Men's Christian association of the town to own, debt free, a $50,000 home.

Capt. John B. Ford.

It was in this magnificent structure that the initial founder's day service was held. On every November 17 of future years there will be a similar celebration of the Tarentum people.

Although it is little over a score of years since Capt. Ford went to Crucible his name is known in every valley home. It is a synonym for honesty, thrift and philanthropy. To the thousands who have labored in his factories he has appealed to them more in the light of a friend than a mere employer. In 50 years he has never had a strike, nor was there a man in his hire who was unwilling to be in his employ. So enduring was the love his workmen at Ford City bore him that they erected a $8,000 statue, a tribute unknown to have been paid to another employer.

Capt. Ford could not be present yesterday, and it was a great disappointment to him, for the erection of the building has been given as much of his personal attention as his declining years would allow. Through his agent, Squire P. McCall, he sent a message that was received with deafening applause. It told the organization that a $30,000 paid fire insurance policy and a $5,000 endowment had been arranged for.

A Life of Constant Struggle.

Capt. Ford's life has been full of adversities. When he had reached the allotted age of man, he saw a fortune disappear. Most men would have welcomed death as a solace, but it was not so with him. He was yet to go down in history as the father of the plate glass industry in America, and become a multi-millionaire. After all these struggles he must suffer the ravages of cancer. With it all he is a happy man. His brain is as active as it ever was and he has a memory that would make a bright schoolboy jealous.

Surrounded by grandchildren and great-grandchildren, the writer found him yesterday at his home in Crafton. His house is close to the great factory where in the early 80's he revolutionized the plate glass industry and proved to Europe that in the future the United States would not need to import her plate glass. He likes the busy scene, for since within the last few years he found reverses but every essential for comfort is there and the day laborer knows that at the captain's he is as welcome as the millionaire.

"I am sorry that my health will not permit me to go down to the exercises this afternoon," said he, "but I should not complain. I have been well treated in the world. I have been prosperous and though I am happy and at peace with all men.

Many Gifts Come From Him.

This was uttered in a clear, firm voice and the words flowed rapidly. If one could forget the captain's age and his affliction, he would think that he was listening to a man in the prime of life. Capt. Ford does not talk of his philanthropy. He has nothing to say about his generosity for building a $50,000 home for the Tarentum Y. M. C. A., or of his $30,000 gift to Allegheny college, or of the magnificent gifts to Ford City, or of the gladness his thousands have brought to more than one church in Wyandotte, Mich., or of the countless acts of kindness he has performed in the Allegheny valley. These are forbidden subjects at his fireside. He did consent, however, to give four years of his life that it would take college to do. He did, but best of all, he likes to talk of his relations with the thousands of men who have been fortunate enough to be in his employ.

Danville, Ky., was the birthplace of Capt. Ford. After a scanty common school education, he, early in the last century, learned the trade of saddlery. "In a little room back of New Albany, Ind., I set up in business," said he, "soon after reaching my majority. I saw there were greater opportunities in other lines of trade, and I drifted into ship building at New Albany. In 1854 I had a good-sized shipyard. During the war I at one time had 20 boats in service. After the war a rush came along who wanted to buy me out; I found that I was worth several hundred thousand dollars.

"One of my sons came up to Pittsburg to attend a business college. I afterwards learned that it was his daily custom to over to Allegheny and watch the men ne of the factories blow glass. When was time for him to enter business he isfactions of my old age.

I am a great believer in the fact that pital and labor should always stand friendly grasp. "It has been my princiwould be a preventive of industrial sturbances."

Life Devoted to Good Deeds.

Captain Ford is no longer actively en-ged in the glass business. Most of his dings were sold to the trust. He still s his immense soda ash business at yandotte. It is managed by others.
t he keeps track of everything that is ing done. A good deal of time is de-ted to answering correspondence. He marked yesterday: "There are a great ny people, whom I never heard of bee, writing to me now since they have und that I have a little money." He uld not admit it, but quite often a let-leaves the Ford residence with a ck in it. Many of the ministers and eir wives in the valley have received otiable paper good for $50 and $100.
Captain Ford is known to be quick to rget a wrong. Spite is not a part of s makeup. This was well demonrated a few years ago when a business mpetitor blocked a deal for him.
portly afterward the man failed and ked the captain for the loan of several ndred dollars. The money was ompdly given him with the announce-ent: "Pay it back when you are able."
Even the people who have known Cap-n Ford ever since he went to Creighton d no idea of the extent of his generosy. This was demonstrated when it was cided to have a Y. M. C. A. in Tarenm and the question of its housing rose. B. F. Sprankle conceived the ea of securing a place where the young en could go so that they would not subjected to the evil influences of the reet. He suggested to Squire McCall, ho is a crony of the captain, that proby Mr. Ford would be willing to subribe $5,000. "Uncle Bob" talked it er with the captain. The result was at last June the Y. M. C. A. was able move into its handsome home, with e information that even the dishes in e culinary department had been paid r by the captain.

Tarentum's Founder's Day.

committee presented them to Captain ord last night:

The Resolutions Adopted.

Whereas, This being the 90th anniversary f the birth of Capt. John B. Ford, a man ho came to this community almost 20 years go and created the plate glass industry in his country, having proven himself a man of reat business ability by promoting the indus-rial interests of this region; and,
Whereas, He has taken a deep interest in he social and moral welfare of the com-unity, giving from the generosity of his eart this magnificent building with all of its urnishings, baths, gymnasium, library and eading rooms, and still further nurturing it y a large endowment, making it one of the ost useful gifts that man can leave to his ellows; and,
Whereas, The citizens of Tarentum and icinity being gathered here today, the 17th f November, wishing to express their interest n Capt. Ford and the appreciation of his enerosity, do unanimously adopt the follow-ng resolutions:
Resolved, We extend to Capt. Ford our hapy congratulations that God has spared his ife to the unusual length of four score years nd ten, and has preserved the faculties of his ind in remarkable strength and vigor.
Resolved, We extend to him unstinted praise nd unbounded gratitude for the gift of this uilding and all pertaining thereto, given durng his life for the perpetual use of this com-unity.
Resolved, We most heartily approve not only f the spirit that prompted the giving, but lso the wisdom that has led him to give it n the form of Young Men's Christian asso-iation building, whereby more than in any ther way it will become the greatest good to he greatest number.
Resolved, We extend to him our sincere and ympathetic sympathy during these days when ncreasing infirmity signals him that ere long he silver cord will be loosened and the golden owl broken, and he, too, will sleep with the athers.
Resolved, We pledge ourselves to administer his gift with such attention that the high pur-ose of the giver thereof may be accom-lished. We pledge ourselves that on each nniversary of Capt. Ford's birth we will as-emble and unite in such exercises as will per-etuate his name among us and by annually eceiving donations to a permanent endowent fund, the interest of which will be used y this association.
And we do also unite our petitions that the avor of Almighty God may be on the latter ays of our 32nd benefactor, and that when his end comes he may be ushered into His resence with great joy.
The anniversary of the birth of Capt.
ord was properly observed yesterday at ord City, Meadville and Wyandotte.
The Tarentum Y. M. C. A. building s a three-story red brick structure, with white brick trimmings. It covers a ground space of 80x160 feet. The first floor is well elevated, gives good height to the basement, where the gymnasium is located. In the basement is everything needed for physical training.
There are numerous tub, shower and needle baths. The bath rooms are constructed of marble with tile floors.
There are 200 lockers for use of the members and a number of dressing rooms and an office for the physical director.
About half of the basement is devoted to the gymnasium proper. It is fitted with every device that is needed to develope muscle. There is a circular inclined running track, which is reached from the first floor.
The entrance to the building on the first floor opens into a large reception hall. Off it is the library containing 2,000 volumes paid for by Capt. Ford. Non-members can have the advantage of the library by the payment of $1 a year.
On the same floor is the office of Secretary A. F. Hoffsommer, the reading, men's game room and the junior department.
The second floor is reached by a broad stairway. On this floor is the entrance to the auditorium. With the balcony, it has a seating capacity of 750, but this can be increased to 1,000 by throwing open some smaller rooms which connect with it. There is a broad stage, with a dressing room in either wing.
On the second floor are the directors' and ladies' parlor, the gentlemen's parlor and two large class rooms. There is a well-appointed culinary department.
It is completely furnished. On the third floor are two large class rooms.
The best of furniture and carpets have been used throughout the building.
There are even two pianos. In fact, there is nothing missing which has a place in the building. Electricity is used for lighting and big boilers in the cellar

RAPID TRANSIT TO BE MERGED

the express knowledge by the stockholders that some of the members of the board are interested, as stockholders, in some of the corporations whose shares or properties are contemplated to be acquired. Negotiations have been carried on in the several cases by committees of the board not interested in the corporations, and their reports will be made directly to the stockholders' meeting."
Details of the deal for the 999-year lease and purchase of part of the Mellon traction, light and power properties, are given for the first time. The general plan is that the Philadelphia Company will at once or after a term of years pay an average of about 5 per cent on the capital stock of the operating Mellon properties.
The preferred stock of the Pittsburgh and Charlerol Street Railway Company is to be sold to the Philadelphia Company for $709,000. In addition, a fixed annual rental of $35,000 is to be paid, the sale of the stock to be closed when the lease is executed.

Monongahela Is to Be Leased.

The Monongahela street railway system is to be leased to the Consolidated Traction Company, which in turn will be controlled by the Philadelphia Company, the latter guaranteeing the lease for the Consolidated Company.
This lease, like the others, is to date from the first of next year, when the lessee will assume all charges, and, after meeting these, including 5 per cent interest on the $4,400,000 bonds of the companies of the Monongahela system, will pay a rental of $165,000 for the first year, this to be increased at a rate of $18,750 annually till the annual rental becomes $315,000, after which this sum will be the fixed annual rental.
The Allegheny County Light Company becomes the lessee of the Monongahela Light and Power Company, the annual rental on which property is fixed at $85,- 000, something less than 5 per cent on the capital stock of the Monongahela Light Company. The bonds of this company, on which the 5 per cent interest will have to be met, amount to $1,750,000. A majority interest in the Allegheny County Light Company is held by the Philadelphia Company, which guarantees the lease for the lessee.
The Pittsburgh & Birmingham Traction Company is to be leased to the United Traction Company for 999 years from January 1, 1902. The annual rental is $150,000, being 5 per cent on the stock issue of $3,000,000. The Birmingham bond issue is $3,000,000.

All Shares Will Not Be Turned Over.

If all of the shares of the Consolidated Traction Company and the Southern Traction Company were turned over, under the Philadelphia Company offer, there would be required in bonds, stocks and funds for the Philadelphia Company to complete the deal, $25,829,000. All will not be brought into requirement at once, however, as there is a material minority that has not yet deposited Consolidated securities under the plan of absorption.
For the $12,000,000 preferred stock of the Consolidated Company the Philadelphia would have to pay $12,000,000 in bonds, $1,800,000 in preferred stock, $800,- 000 in common stock and $720,000 in bonds and for the Consolidated's $15,000,000 common, $7,500,000 of Philadelphia common.
For the stock of the Pittsburgh and Charlerol Company the obligation of the Philadelphia Company is for $709,000 in cash. For the $5,000,000 of Southern Traction stock the Philadelphia Company will have to issue $2,500,000 of its common stock.
The agreement with A. W. Mellon in behalf of the Mellon interests further provides that the transfer shares of all of the Mellon traction lines, on which construction has not started, without additional cost to the lessee and purchaser.
During the last fiscal year of its operation the Philadelphia Company paid in dividends, interest and taxes, $1,404,332.
Its net earnings were $1,950,212, and gross earnings $3,041,072.

Get the Most Out of Your Food

You don't and can't if your stomach is weak. A weak stomach does not digest all that is ordinarily taken into it. It gets tired easily, and what it fails to digest is wasted.

Among the signs of a weak stomach are uneasiness after eating, fits of nervous headache, and disagreeable belching.

"I have taken Hood's Sarsaparilla at different times for stomach troubles, and a run down condition of the system, and have been greatly benefited by its use. I would not be without it in my family. I am troubled especially in summer with weak stomach and nausea and find Hood's Sarsaparilla invaluable." E. B. BICKMAN, W. Chester, Pa.

STRIKERS FIRE ON MINE GUARDS

75 Union Men Attack Miners' Homes Near Madisonville, Kentucky.

WITHDREW AFTER TWO MEN WERE SHOT

One Was Dead When Found and Another Fatally Wounded--Several Defenders Wounded, but Not Seriously.

MADISONVILLE, KY., Nov. 17.—Mining troubles in this district brought more bloodshed this morning. James H. Smith, a negro striker, is dead; George Grouch, another striker, is fatally wounded, while John West, Hut Dawson and Nathan Bush, all guards, are wounded, but none of them dangerously.
The trouble occurred at the mines of the Providence Coal Company, 17 miles from here, where an attack began at an early hour. The attacking party, some 75 or 80 strong, first fired on the engine house and in a few minutes the company's stables were surrounded. Several animals were killed or disabled. By this time the guards were becoming active and the attackers formed in a semi-circle over the brow of the hill. From this point they poured a well directed fire upon the houses occupied by non-union employes and their families. Men aroused by the crash of bullets rushed to small timber piles, arranged for use in such an emergency, and from behind these returned the fire. The attacking party, sending volley after volley into this quarter, kept up a steady fire on the tipple, engine room, stable and other buildings of the company, while the guards were doing effective work. The battle raged for almost an hour and a half, when the assailants withdrew, leaving Smith dead and Crouch shot through on the field. How many wounded they took away with them is not known, but the leader was seen to fall, and it is believed some of the party who went to the rescue were hit.
County Judge Hall, at Providence, started an investigation. An inquest was held, the coroner's verdict being that the negro came to his death at the hands of the guards while defending life and property, and they were therefore justified. It was not long before the news reached Adjutant General Murray, who at once commenced an investigation, opening communication with the governor.
Following the battle at the Providence mine there were riots at other Kentucky mines. An attack was made on the nine guards at the Monarch mines, three miles from Earlington, tonight, but it was repulsed. Two employes of the St. Bernard Coal Company, at Morton's Gap, were fired upon by a mob who sprang from behind a tree. There was much trouble at other places, but neither injury nor loss of life followed.
Owing to the day's riots and the serious situation in the mining field of Webster and Hopkins counties, the governor has ordered out the militia. The troops will leave for the scene of trouble before daylight.

BIG ORDERS FOR ROLLING STOCK.

The Baltimore & Ohio railroad will place orders for equipment, to be delivered next year, amounting to over $7,500,000. Included, according to a dispatch from Baltimore, will be 6,000 freight cars, most of which will be steel cars furnished by the Pressed Steel Car Company of Pittsburgh. In addition, the Baltimore & Ohio is ordering 50 locomotives and 38 passenger cars. The Pennsylvania railroad system has added 2,200 cars to its 9,000-car order placed with the Pressed Steel Car Company. The Pennsylvania's car order, placed in Pittsburgh, will thus aggregate about $11,200,000.

SOCIETY WILL PRAISE HORSES

NewYork's Great Show Opens at Madison Square Garden Today.

THE BLOODED ANIMALS ARE READY

Every Indication Points to the Fact That the Show This Year Will Eclipse All Others--William C. Whitney Says a Word.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Horse show week is here again, here with all its vaunted promise of social reunion and aristocratic parade, with all its color and music dash, with its symposium of winter fashions, its flutter of feminine hearts and its flutter of coveted blue ribbons for the proud sons and daughters of Bucephalus.

Nothing is lacking but the welcome blast of Harry Wilcox's bugle. It will rouse tomorrow morning the sleeping echoes of the shows of former years and the great annual pageant—the 17th of the National Horse Show association—will be in full swing.

At Madison Square Garden all is in readines. The pungent fragrance of the fresh tan bark; the fresh paint on the woodwork, arena rail and judge's stand; the furbished upholstery of the boxes; the newly-laid promenade, 15 feet wide, as of yore, and the neighing and stamping of the hundreds of blooded beauties in their stalls down in the basement—all these proclaim the advent of another week of unchallenged supremacy for fashion and the horse.

In conformity with time-honored custom the annual luncheon of the association, which always takes place on the evening of the opening day, was given this afternoon in the restaurant of the garden. As always, it was informal in character, and delicate in its informality. About the central table that was laid in the form of a horseshoe, were grouped 230 guests. At the center of the curve sat Cornelius Fellowes, president of the association. When coffee and cigars were reached, Lander's orchestra struck up the "Red white and Blue." All the guests rose to their fet and some began to catch the patriotic refrain. Then William C. Whitney, at the head of the table, began beat time with his long arms. He joined lustily in the chorus and soon 200 male voices, led by the former secretary of the navy, had set the festooned bunting all aflutter with the rattling refrain:

"The army and navy forever,
Three cheers for the Red, White and Blue."

Cheers for Mr. Whitney and cries for a speech greeted his impromptu leadership at the end of the chorus, and he yielded smilingly, and said: "This is an unexpected call, but I am heartily glad, as I always am, to have this occasion come round again. I feel so not wholly because of the excellent luncheon, and entirely because we are embarking upon another week which is to bring together here representative horsemen and good fellows from all over the United States, to say nothing of a marvelous assemblage of beautiful women, but I always feel glad because we are to have another week of solid enjoyment with the horse."

PREMATURE BLAST KILLS FOUR MEN

Similar Explosions in Two Stone Quarries Followed by Like Results.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)
CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 17—There was another premature blast at a limestone quarry yesterday in which two men were killed and two injured. The dead are Oliver Dodge, aged 23 years, married, and Frank Wiley, aged 30 years, single. The injured are Frank Lancaster, badly cut and bruised, and Robert Nicewarner, cut about the face and body by stones.

The accident occurred at Millville, Berkley county, W. Va. A stone weighing many tons had been blasted from the mountain side and a smaller blast set to break it. The small blast failed to go off and Dodge and Wiley attempted to edge off a piece of the stone in order to remove the dynamite, when the explosion occurred.

COLUMBUS, O., Nov. 17.—Two men were killed and four injured as the result of a premature explosion of a blast at the Casparis stone quarry, northwest of Columbus, today.

The dead are A. M. Vaccie and John M. Antonio. Those injured are Peter Montrose, Carmine Delle, Frank Wilson and C. C. Thorne.

The two men killed were working under a ledge and were buried under tons of rock. Thorne, the foreman, was hurled 80 feet in the air, but his injuries are not serious. Wilson will probably die.

MISTAKEN IN MARRIAGE.

Parkersburg Woman, Finding Her Wedlock Invalid, Becomes Wife of Another Man.

PARKERSBURG, W. VA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The announcement of the marriage of Miss May Bosworth to Samuel Trissler has created a sensation here, the bride having been known as the wife of William Buehler, a prominent business maan, for a long time. Fifteen years ago Mr. Buehler met Miss Bosworth at her home in Marietta. Her parents objected to their marriage and she eloped with Buehler to Aberdeen, Ky., where they were married. They settled in this city and Buehler became wealthy. A few months ago it came to light that owing to some technicality the marriage at Aberdeen had not been valid. A license, it is said, was secretly procured here but for some reason the second ceremony was not performed. Recently Mrs. Buehler, as she was known, began receiving the attentions of Samuel Trissler, a wealthy saloon keeper, and on Friday they went to Marietta and were married by the Rev. A. E. Coll, she giving her maiden name. They have returned here.

BURNED IN A CHURCH.

Firemen Seriously Hurt in a Blaze Which Destroyed a House of Worship in Carbondale.

CARBONDALE, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The First Methodist church of this city was destroyed by fire this morning, resulting in a loss of $50,000. The fire was discovered at 7 o'clock and three hours later the entire structure was in ruins, nothing remaining but the stone walls.

Charles Hull, a fireman, was caught by the flames in the bell tower and was so badly burned when he reached the door that he fell down the stone steps, enveloped in fire. His condition is serious. The origin of the fire is unknown, and the loss is only partially covered by insurance.

SIX INJURED BY EXPLOSION

REPAIRMAN'S TORCH SET FIRE TO GAS MAIN

Two Victims May Not Recover—The Workmen Were Hemmed in a Ditch and Were Rescued From the Flames With Much Difficulty After Being Severely Burned—Serious Disaster in Washington County.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)
WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 17.—A gas explosion occurred along the main pipe line of the Wheeling Gas Company at Buffalo, eight miles west of here last evening, which resulted in injuries to six men, two of whom may not recover. The explosion was caused by the gas ignited from a torch in the hands of one of the repairmen. The injured are:

W. S. BRONSELL, burned about the face and arms. It is thought he inhaled the flames and may not recover.
LYLE MAXWELL, burned about the face and body; may not recover.
MARTIN HOGAN, severe burns in the face.
GEORGE DENNISON, severe burns.
CARL MARTIN, slightly burned on hands and face.

The accident occurred just before the men were about to quit for the day, and other men who were at work at the place had narrow escapes. The big main of the Wheeling Gas Company had sprung a leak yesterday morning near Buffalo and the company had sent out a repair party. The gas had been turned off all day, and the men were at work in a deep ditch making the repairs. As darkness fell several torches were used to give the men light nough to work by, and there was thought to be no danger, as the gas had been turned off completely.

The repairs had been almost completed, when, it is said, through some mistake the gas was turned on at the gates and came rushing along through the main with the great pressure.

Bronsell, ifnorant of the fact that the gas had been turned on, was holding the torch near an opening, instantly igniting the gaz.

The flames, with a roar, leaped 40 feet into the air, filling the ditch and illuminating the country around for some distance.

The men penned in the deep ditch were at the mercy of the flames. The gates, which were only a short distance from the scene of the explosion, were at once closed, but not before the six imprisoned men had been badly burzed. Help was at once secured, and the victims lifted from the ditch and cared for. There was no physician at hand, and it was some time before medical aid could be summoned. A physician was summoned from this place and the injuries of the men dressed temporarily. They were late last night removed to the hospital at Washington. Bronsell's hat was entirely consumed by the flames, and his head burned bare and blistered in large patches. All the other men were suffering intense pain from their burns.

New Church at Valley Forge.

PHOENIXVILLE, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The new Baptist chapel at Valley Forge was dedicated today with all-day exercises in charge of the Rev. E. E. Hoffman of Conshohocken, who has charge of the mission. The chapel is the first house of worshhip in historic Valley Forge. Some years ago an effort was made to erect a large memorial church there, but after expending a large sum on the foundation walls alone, the scheme failed.

FATHER ASSAULTED DAUGHTER'S LOVER

Connellsville Man's Skull Crushed by a Stone and He May Die

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)
CONNELLSVILLE, PA., Nov. 17.—This afternoon A. J. Brown, a prominent building foreman, hurled a stone at Morgan McKinney, it is charged, because he objected to the latter keeping company with his daughter, Miss Mabel. The stone fractured McKinney's skull, and he is in a dying condition at the Cottage hospital.

Miss Brown has known McKinney for several years. She is employed in a dry goods store, and the couple saw much of each other until about three months ago, when Brown forbid the man to enter his house. This was because, it is alleged, he discovered that McKinney has a wife and five children living at a point on the main line of the Pennsylvania railroad, in Westmoreland county.

For the past two weeks Miss Brown has been seriously ill and was not able to leave her room until today. This afternoon the members of the family were seated in the parlor. Suddenly Miss Mabel left the house and hurried across the street. Her father followed, calling her, and saw her join McKinney on the other side. The two started away together, the father following. When he reached them he sprang on McKinney, it is alleged, and a fierce fight ensued. McKinney is about 35 years old, while Brown is more than 50. Brown, it is charged, secured a big stone and hurled it at McKinney's head, and the latter sank to the street. Then Brown took his daughter home, where she collapsed. She is still in a serious condition. McKinney was hurried to the hospital.

McKinney has been in Connellsville for several years, and is employed in the freight department of the Baltimore & Ohio railroad. A. J. Brown is employed as general foreman for Calhoun & Co., builders. The family has lived in Connellsville for 18 years. Brown is held awaiting the result of McKinney's injuries.

Sleep Walker Killed.

ALTOONA, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Emma Heister was found dead west of the station at Ryde, Mifflin county, this morning by a track walker. The body was lying in the ditch along the track and was attired only in a night robe. She was known to be a somnambulist, and it is supposed she had wandered away from the house while walking in her sleep and had been struck by a train.

Murdered for Money.

CUMBERLAND, MD., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—John Miller aged 70 years, one of the wealthiest farmers in Washington county, was found dead yesterday evening near his home at Reedyville. There was a ullet hole in his head. The murdered man was returning home from the village store, where he had a $20 bill changed. When found his money was gone.

Prophesied His Own Death.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—When he returned home from school Friday night Clyde Keefer, a 10-year-old boy, threw off his coat and startled his parents by saying: "I'll never wear that coat again. I'm going to die." His words were prophetic, for he became ill that night of pneumonia, grew rapidly worse aand died last evening.

Alleged Clergyman With Many Aliases Wanted in Several States.

Pennsylvania Woman Claims That the Man the Police Are After Married Her and Ran Away With All Her Money.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
603 Fifteenth St., N. W.,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.

The Rev. Samuel Franklin Murphy, D. D., alias J. Thornton, alias Capt. J. B. Hamilton, alias James L. Douglass, is a much-wanted man. He is described as a prepossessing young person, of ministerial appearance, weighing about 130 pounds, about 5 feet 6 inches in height, with thick black wavy hair, and wears spectacles. Pennsylvania wants such a man, so does Georgia, while certain parties in Virginia have entered complaints. It is the intention of the local police authorities to get out a descriptive circular of the man in order to bring him here for trial.

On June 7 last Maj. Sylvester, superintendent of police here, received a communication signed by R. Ross, chief constable of the policq department of Edinburgh, Scotland. Inclosed was a letter from Mrs. Sara L. Dill of Finleyville, Pa., dated December 24, 1900, and another signed by Michael Wayne, a photographer of Edinburgh, which had been written on May 28 last. In her letter to the police authorities Mrs. Dill requested information in regard to a person whom she had known by the name of J. B. Hamilton, a picture of whom was inclosed. She wanted to know not only about the original of the picture, but of his realtives.

She also stated that she believed he was in Scotland, and that he was wanted in Pennsylvania for robbery. He had left the state on September 25, 1900, two months before the letter was written.

Photographer Wayne, in his communication to the Scottish police, which was inclosed to Maj. Sylvester, gave the substance of a letter which had been received by him early in May of this year from a party at Middleburg, Fla. The Florida letter wanted a dozen cabinet photographs which had been taken by Mr. Wayne eight years ago of "J. Thornton, of East Marcheston," in a Highland costume. It directed that they be sent to "J. B. Hamilton, care Mr. Merson, Middleburg, Fla."

With this information at hand, Maj. Sylvester on June 17, a few days after the receipt of the letter from the Scotch authorities, wrote to the sheriff of Finleyville, Washington county, Pa., inclosing Constable Ross' communication, and also the letter of Mrs. Dill of Finleyville, and of the Scotch photographer.

Yesterday morning a reply was received by Maj. Sylvester to the letter which he had written the sheriff of Washington county on June 17 last. In addition to other charges it stated that J. Thornton, alias Capt. J. B. Hamilton, alias J. B. Douglass, etc., had married Mrs. Dill under the name of Douglass, and after one month of matrimony got possession of all her money, about $2,500.

It stated that an effort was being made to have the county authorities offer a reward for the man who had committed many crimes under the cloak of religion. Mrs. Dill did not have the money to follow him. No reason was given in the communication for the delay in answering, but it is supposed an attempt was being made to run down the man. The letter was signed by O. M. Henderson, deputy sheriff.

Other information received by Maj. Sylvester shows that the clerical impostor is wanted in other points in Pennsylvania, Virginia, Georgia, and other places and that he had a worthless check for $125 cashed here by a second-hand furniture dealer on November 5 last.

Several letters have been received showing that Murphy is now in the west. One of them, received under date of November 9, was mailed at Kansas City, Kan., while another, written a day or so after that, was mailed either in Oklahoma or Mexico. It is the intention of Capt. Boardman to get out a descriptive circular of the man, which will be distributed broadcast throughout this country, as well as the British Isles, Canada and Mexico.

OBJECT TO LONG HOURS.

Policemen on Quarantine Duty Are Objecting to the Arduous Work Assigned to Them.

PHILADELPHIA, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—A strike may occur soon among the 200 or more policemen who are on quarantine duty in the northwestern part of the city and are obliged to work 12 hours a day. There is a general dissatisfaction among them on account of their long hours, especially since the cold weather has set in. Petitions will be circulated tomorrow, asking for eight hours, to be uniform with the regular police. The petitions will be given to the police lieutenants for transmission to headquarters. If favorable action is not taken it is said that many of the "brownies" will resign.

A graphic conception of the prevalence of smallpox in this city is to be had from the statement that more than 200 policemen have been assigned for quarantine duty.

KAISER WILL HUNT THE DEER AND BOAR

Preparations Are Being Made for a Big Drive at Letzlinger.

(Special Cable to The Pittsburgh Gazette.)
(Copyright, 1901, by New York Herald.)

BERLIN, Nov. 17.—It may not be known to everyone that the kaiser keeps a pack of hounds at about an hour's journey from Berlin. They are foxhounds, about 60 of them; but they do not hunt the fox; they go after the wild boar, and it may interest British and American sportsmen to know that the foxhound hunts the boar with as much zest as he does the red rascal.

To Letzlingen, the castle where this pack is kept, the emperor and the crown prince, who, by the way, has developed into a fine shot, will start on November 18, the shooting to take place on the 20th and 21st.

The first day's sport will consist of an immense deer drive, which will take place in the upper forests of Colbitz and Planken. On the second day the program will consist of a wild boar chase with hounds. The boar, upon being found, is given 20 minutes' start. And then away the field goes in full pursuit.

After that is over there will be another deer drive, and this time in the upper forest of Letzlingen. As on the first day, breakfast will be taken in the hunt tent, where, by the way, all kinds of strange drinking horns and trophies of the chase figure on the table. In the evening there will be a large and early dinner in the castle and the same night the imperial party will take a train at 8 o'clock.

Swedish Government Will Equip Its Navy Department With Stations for New Telegraph System.

STOCKHOLM, Nov. 17.—The success of the experiments with wireless telegraphy in the autumn maneuvers of the Swedish army has induced the government to provide for the erection of an extensive system of coast signal stations.

The exhaustive tests during the maneuvers showed the possibility of transmitting orders to the navy department at Stockholm from specially erected coast stations and from warships hidden among the coast islands. The Swedish engineers are credited with several improvements, increasing the facilities of wireless communication.

AMERICANS TO BE INVITED.

Principal Rowing Clubs May Enter. Eight-Oared Race at Cork Next July.

DUBLIN, Nov. 17.—Baron O'Brien, lord chief justice of Ireland, who recently announced his intention to offer a cup for an international rowing competition in connection with the Cork exhibition next year, presided yesterday at a meeting of a special committee which decided to issue invitations to the principal rowing clubs in Great Britain, the United States, Canada and continental Europe to enter an eight-oared race at Cork about July 2, for the cup Lord O'Brien will present.

The cup, which will be of the value of £250, will become the property of the winning crew. Letters warmly approving the project were received from the marquis of Londonderry, postmaster general; from Baron Alverstone, lord chief justice of England, and from Baron Ardilaun, president of the Royal Dublin society, and others.

FOREIGN NEWS NOTES.

The final result of the general elections for the Hungarian house of representatives is as follows: The Liberal party has obtained 277 seats and the different opposition parties 137, consisting of 25 clericals, 82 Kossuthists, 11 Ugronists, 13 Independents, 5 Nationalists and 1 Democrat, the government having a majority of 140. For the first time in Hungarian parliamentary history, a peasant has been elected who belongs to the Kossuth party. Count Albert Apponyi, the famous orator and former leader of the National party, which amalgamated three years ago with the Liberal party, will be proposed as president of the house and doubtless will be elected without opposition. Hungary.

Budapest, Nov. 3.

The Scottish Home Industries Company has just completed a two days' sale of work here. The association is controlled by Scottish noble ladies like the duchess of Sutherland, and its object is to find market for the peasant industries of the highlands and islands. When money enough has been accumulated schools of trade handicraft like those of Germany, France and Austria will be established in the districts, and rural technical education becomes part of the general system, which at present only touches large centers of population. The first rural school is to be set up in Sutherlandshire, and its cost is to be defrayed by the duke of Sutherland and Andrew Carnegie. Scotland.

Glasgow, Nov. 5.

August was the 120th birthday of the little prince imperial. That day is celebrated in Japanese households as the "hashizome no iwai," or first using of chopsticks, which means that the baby is allowed to eat rice for the first time. As, however, the little prince was absent in Nikko from the latter part of July, it was decided that the fete should be postponed until October 5. Japan.

Tokyo, Oct. 20.

The widow of the late Herr Lobbecke of this city has turned over to the city her husband's collection of shells, which, according to a fair estimate, is worth $125,000, besides having great scientific value. The collection is the largest of its kind on the European continent, and is equaled only by that of the British museum at London. The gift also includes specimens of reptiles, corals, mollusks, minerals and a fine library of natural history, together with cash amounting to $12,000, to be used in the interest of the collection. Germany.

Bremen, Nov. 5.

Hawaii is at last to have a distillery. The refuse of the sugar mills is to be turned into rum and spirits. A corporation has been formed and all arrangements made for the erection and operation of a distillery on the line of the Oahu railway, convenient in transit to most of the big sugar plantations on this island. It is proposed to utilize the waste saccharine matter in this way. It is expected that the principal market for the product will be found in the Australian colonies and the orient. Hawaii.

Honolulu, Nov. 2.

Near La Louviere, at a place called Triveres, on October 20, a new coal mine was opened on which considerably more than $5,000,000 has been expended. Two pits have been sunk. The first shaft was begun early in 1899 and finished before the end of the following year. The second shaft was begun about the middle of 1900 and coal was reached in February, 1901, so that the two shafts reached coal in a little less than two years. One thousand men will be employed, and it is calculated that from 10,000 to 11,000 tons of coal a day can be extracted. Belgium.

WILL FORCE THE REBELS TO FIGHT

The Military Commander at Colon Preparing for an Expedition.

COLON, COLOMBIA, Nov. 17.—The Colombian gunboat Gen. Pinzon arrived here today from Savanilla with 300 troops.

In view of the unchanged conditions on the isthmus, this evidence of the government's policy to reinforce its forces here gives credence to the presumption that Gen. Carlos Alban, military commander of this district has finally resolved to lead a strong attacking force against the insurgents within his jurisdiction, and attempt to terminate the present wearisome deadlock between the Colombian rebels and their government.

The commander and officers of the U. S. S. Iowa were tendered a ball last night at Panama by the Colombian officials and the elite society of that place.

FOOD COSTS LESS MONEY THAN DRINK

Statistics Show That the German Empire Spends Vast Sums for Liquor.

(SPECIAL CABLE TO THE GAZETTE.)
BARLIN, Nov. 17.—Germany is deserting its traditional love for beer in favor of the more seductive high ball, gin fizz and other forms of schnapps.

According to the latest statistics of a German society that is combating the abuse of spirituous liquors, the society finds that every German man, woman and child average five glasses of spirits per day, while the government's annual revenue is 100,000,000 marks from beer, it secures 165,000,000 marks revenue from alcoholic drink. It is also stated that not only does the fatherland show an over indulging love for alcohol, but the German colonies also show in the customs returns that one-third of the exports to Togoland and one-seventh to East Africa is spirits.

The final statistical disclosure claims that the German empire spends three thousand million marks a year in intoxicating drink, but very much less in food.

SECESSION MAY RESULT.

Refusal of Knights of Labor to Re-Elect Simon Burns, Master Work- man, May Cause Desertion.

Pittsburgh captains of labor were much concerned yesterday over the move of the Knights of Labor convention in Indian- apolis, which on Saturday finally voted to have Henry A. Hicks of New York suc- ceed Simon Burns as master workman. The general opinion seems to be that Burns' defeat may throw his support from the Hayes-Chamberlain faction, and this will leave the incorporated Knights of Labor with very little strength. Burns returned to Pittsburgh headquarters yes- terday, but refused flatly to discuss the outcome of the Indianapolis convention.

George J. Churchill, master workman of the Southern Traction Company As- sembly of the Knights of Labor of the Pittsburgh district assembly No. 3, which stands as a whole with the Parsons fac- tion of the Knights of Labor, said yes- terday that he believes the defeat of Burns will be the best thing for the gen- eral order, or its successor. He regards Burns as the strongest man in the or- ganization of the opposition, and with the Burns support withdrawn, as it probably will be, the Hayes faction will be too weak to continue.

"Burns is too good a man in the labor movement to be finally defeated," said Churchill, "and I believe that in no great time he will be with the Pittsburgh dis- trict organization."

District Master Workman John Fernan spoke of the matter along the same lines. It was stated by other Pittsburgh labor leaders that the vote, which had finally defeated Burns, after he had been re- elected master workman, was probably not fully representative of the conven- tion. If the Parsons' faction loses the present litigation, it will probably af- filiate under a new name.

Mr. Churchill, who is a member of the district executive board of the Knights of Labor, yesterday addressed the Team- sters' assembly in Knights of Labor hall on the advancement of the order.

Hard Colds

Hard colds nearly always lead to something serious. They run into chronic bron- chitis, pneumonia, consump- tion. Doctors know this. That's why they so generally approve of Ayer's Cherry Pectoral. They tell us they cannot prescribe anything that cures coughs so quickly.

HAULED THE MONEY AWAY.

It Wasn't His Coin, and Now Cole- man Has Been Hauled Up to Tell the Court About It.

Peter Coleman, a Hungarian living at East Pittsburgh, was given a hearing Saturday evening by Justice of the Peace James Milhodley on a charge of larceny and held for court.

Coleman formerly boarded with Ed- ward Brindley at Gookers hollow, North Braddock. Several of the boarders there have hoarded considerable sums of money. Last Friday afternoon Coleman chartered a wagon, and, going to Brind- ley's house while the members of the family were all out, stole a trunk belong- ing to one of the boarders containing $75 in cash and some clothing.

He hauled this to East Pittsburgh, and when he had it safely stowed away in his room the thought struck him that the game was very easy and he might as well have another trunk. Driving back to Brindley's, he picked up another trunk and started for the door. Just as he was going out Brindley stepped in front of him.

The proprietor of the house grasped the situation in a moment, and while his former boarder was trying to untangle himself from the trunk, landed a right swing on the thief's neck which put him out of the fight. A policeman was sum- moned, and when Coleman recovered con- sciousness he was reposing in a cell in the North Braddock lockup.

LERGY SUSTAIN GAZETTE

egheny Congregations Told to Help in Suppressing Exposed Vice.

FEAR CLOSES A NUMBER OF SPEAK EASIES

Gazette's Exposures Caused Many to Close Up, and Sunday Drinks Were Hard to Find—A Few Dive-keepers Kept Open.

Vice no longer dares to flaunt itself openly in Allegheny. The crusade carried on by The Gazette against the joints in the First and Fourth wards is beginning to tell. Yesterday brought a great change from the conditions usually prevailing on Sunday in the affected districts.

The tide of popular opinion is rising against the dive-keepers and those who protect them. The sentiment has grown wonderfully within the week, and yesterday the question was discussed in several pulpits of the city. All the ministers urged their congregations to take an active interest in the work of stamping out the evils and assist in a work which is intended only to purify and improve their city.

The condition of affairs in the river wards has touched, not only the residents of this vice-infected section, but every law-abiding and self-respecting citizen in the city. Many have suggested a mass-meeting of property holders to protest against conditions and to indorse the course pursued by The Gazette.

The Rev. J. W. Sproull Urges Action.

The Rev. J. W. Sproull, pastor of the Central Reformed Presbyterian church, touched on the exposures in the course of his sermon yesterday morning, and urged his congregation to take the matter to heart and do everything possible to aid in stamping out the vice which is a blight on their city.

After discussing some of the statements printed in The Gazette, in a general way, Mr. Sproull said:

"It is really the people themselves who are responsible or the wretched condition of affairs said to exist in our city, and the people should act. An outburst of popular indignation, such as did a great deal to rid New York of her vice, would certainly be a help here. It is about time for such an outburst of feeling from the people of this community, if they hope to cleanse this city of its sins. It is to be hoped that some tangible action will soon result from the exposures already made; something that will at least cover over the wide-open vice which has flaunted itself in the eyes of respectable citizens."

The Rev. Dr. D. S. Kennedy, pastor of the First Presbyterian church, Allegheny, referred in yesterday morning's sermon to The Gazette's exposure of the unlawful conditions existing in the river wards of Allegheny. His subject was "Achan's Sin," and his sermon was an elaboration of the story of Achan's robbing God and appropriating His blessings to selfish purposes.

His reference to The Gazette's exposures was as follows:

"The reports which are being published about the crime spots in certain wards of our city disclose a terrible condition of affairs. For my part, I shall stand by the powers that be until I am satisfied that they have been remiss in their duty. I shall whit to see these evils unearthed.

"If the facts which are published are sustained every honest man in the city should feel it to the depths of his heart and do all in his power to wipe out the evil. If it be true that these crime spots do exist in our midst, then it follows, as has also been published, that not only the evildoers themselves are made to suffer the consequences of their sin, but that hundreds of others who live in the same localities must suffer with them and that property in that section of the city must, as has been said, depreciate very rapidly in value.

"If all these facts are shown to be true, then it behooves us to move ourselves, not to settle down and say: 'I can't help it.' The righteousness of the race demands it. Besides, as long as such things exist in our midst our city can never prosper, but will be dragged down by the degrading influences that come from these vice centers.

"Our duty is to urge the church and other people not to forget, but to rise in arms and wipe it out."

Allegheny spent a quieter and more orderly Sunday yesterday than it has spent for some time. The river wards, hitherto corrupted with wide-open vice, were comparatively orderly. The crowds of people who usually spent their Sunday afternoons in some gambling joint or speakeasy, stood about the street corners in little groups and talked indignantly about how thirsty they were and how hard it had become to get a drink. These people do not feel kindly toward The Gazette's effort to cleanse the city.

Most of the notorious resorts which have been running wide open for months past, and admitting people without fear or favor, were closed tight yesterday afternoon and evening, the very time of all the week when they ordinarily reaped a harvest, especially from the illegal sale of liquor.

It is true that a few of the joints scorned to suspend business entirely, but these were run so tightly that it was impossible for any person, save a well-known visitor, to obtain admission. Two places on East Lacock street, one a gambling house and the other an elaborately fitted up speakeasy, were running yesterday.

Watchful Guards at Open Joints.

The doors of the gambling house have been closed, during the daylight hours, for a long time, save on Sundays. Yesterday afternoon the vestibule door stood invitingly open, but contrary to the usual custom, the front door was locked and a watchful guard had to be satisfied before admission could be gained. The curtains in the second story front room were tightly drawn, but a crack showed a beam of light from a gas chandelier, testifying that the poker game started on Saturday night was still in progress.

The other place, almost across the street, was running even more quietly. Curtains on the front windows were drawn, and while the outer door was unlocked, it was utterly impossible for a stranger to get past the first room, which is an exceedingly innocent place, cleverly concealing the transactions which take place in the other rooms. This place is a resort for all the short card men and crooks on the North Side, and the speakeasy does a business sufficient to warrant the fitting up of a regular bar.

Many Resorts Tightly Closed.

Other ordinarily popular resorts in the Fourth ward were closed tightly. Out East Robinson street, where there are two or three well-known places, there was no business at all. Attempts to get into these places were futile. Rings at the door bell were not answered, and passersby, who were doubtless residents of the neighborhood, volunteered the information that there was "nothing doing." One of these places, which made no pretense at being a club, does a large business all week, but on Saturday night and Sunday frequently sold 150 cases of beer, to say nothing of whisky and other liquors.

In the First ward conditions were almost the same. One of the most notorious gambling houses and speakeasies in the ward, which ordinarily has a poker game running from Saturday night until Monday morning, was shut up tightly. This same place also sells a great deal of liquor, but there was none sold yesterday, so far as could be learned. The proprietor of this place is supposed to stand close to the powers that be, as he is a familiar figure around city hall. His closing yesterday is supposed to be the result of a quiet tip from headquarters.

Trade Was Brisk at One Club.

Another club, which is but a short distance from the one just mentioned, and which was described in The Gazette last week, was open yesterday afternoon. Every few minutes a crowd of roisterers would come out, their actions and loud talk testifying plainly to the nature of their entertainment inside. Trade here was brisk, and the bartender, who serves behind an improvised structure of beer cases, was kept busy, judging by the crowds constantly passing in and out. A doorkeeper had been established here also, and only the elect could gain admission.

Another feature which has made it difficult for strangers to get a drink on Sunday, is the order issued to cab drivers and the crowd of "steerers" ordinarily loafing about ready to show a man where he can gamble or buy a drink.

These people have been informed that henceforth, at least for a time, on Saturday nights and Sundays, they must suspend operations, as they might be unconsciously "steering" a Gazette representative around. Apparently these fellows are obeying their orders, and have forgotten that they ever knew of any place in the lower wards of Allegheny where thirst could be quenched on Sunday.

TRUANT CHILD WAS MARRIED WOMAN

East Pittsburgh Officer in Quandary, and Appeals.

Justice of the Peace Watson Antis of East Pittsburgh borough is in a quandary and it is due to a pretty girl of 14 years, who is out of school. Squire Antis is assessor of the borough and takes the registration of all pupils of school age from 6 to 16 years. He went to the house of James McCarthy, on Bessemer Terrace, on Friday and learned that one of the children was not in school. "What is her name?" asked the squire. "Mary," the mother replied, "and she is 14 years old." "Well, she ought to be in school," replied Assessor Antis. "Where is she?" "She is married," was the mother's response, "and her husband is Don Chartrand."

Assessor Antis was taken back at the information. He had had no case like it before. He said the girl came under the law compelling children under 16 years of age to be in school, and he must see that she was sent there. Assessor Antis holds the office of truant officer of East Pittsburgh, which accounts for his desire to see the young wife in school. He consulted the county authorities on the matter on Saturday and was told that the case was in the hands of the husband and that he must settle it.

Squire Antis so informed the young husband and was told by Mr. Chartrand that his wife's place was at home, where all good wives should be, instead of in the school room. Squire Antis is not just sure of his ground, and to prevent difficulty with the state board of education he will secure legal advice at once and notify the state board to help him out of the quandary.

SERVICES AT THE BIJOU.

The Rev. S. Edward Young Preached to a Great Audience—Music by Duss' Band.

The Bijou theater was crowded at the Sunday afternoon service conducted by the Rev. S. Edward Young. The seating capacity of the theater was taxed, many persons sitting on the balcony steps. Theo. Duss' band, and Miss Marion Gaston and B. Franklin Butts conducted the balance of the musical program, assisted by the Second Presbyterian church chorus.

Speaking from the text, "Moses wist not that his face shown," Exodus xxxiv: 30, the Rev. Mr. Young said in part:

"Homely visages can become enchanting when entwined and embellished by the creepers and tendrils of heavenly light and love. This was what gave your mother's face a superhuman glow, her silent converse with our God. You need most these hurried days a few more minutes and hours in quiet breathing your life out upon God and breathing God's life back into yours."

The meetings will be continued on Sunday afternoons in the Bijou theater at 3 o'clock as long as funds will permit.

Indicted for Manslaughter.

ELKTON, MD., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The grand jury of Washington county has indicted Frank Rinehart, of Smithbury, charged with manslaughter in causing the death of Miss Finfrock of York, Pa. While rowing last summer on Lake Royal the young lady lost her life by drowning, caused, it is charged, by the rocking of the boat by Rinehart. The young man has been committed to jail to await trial.

FIFTY YEARS OF CHURCH LIFE

ZION CONGREGATION CELEBRATES ITS SEMI-CENTENNIAL.

Seven Members Who Were Present at the Birth of the Evangelical Society in Old City Hall Attended the Celebration Yesterday—Interesting Reminiscences—Mother Society to Six Prosperous Churches.

The congregation of Zion Evangelical church, in Sixth avenue, celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of the organization of the church yesterday. The interior of the church was decorated and every seat in the large audience room was filled. The anniversary meeting was characterized by the presence of all who are living of the few who organized the society in 1843, and their reminiscences of the early days of the church in the two cities were an interesting feature.

A chorus of 50 voices from the trained choirs of all the churches in the city of that denomination was a feature of the afternoon gathering.

T. D. Geist talked of the methods used in 1843 when the congregation first met on the third floor of the Old City hall and praised the Rev. Leri Eberhardt, the first pastor. The congregation, he said, began with 28 members, and has spread, organizing new churches, until there are now over 1,500 members. He recalled to his hearers the fact that the Friedens church in Arlington avenue; the Salem church, Fifty-second street; Emanuel church, Stuben street; the Immanuel church, Madison avenue, Allegheny, and Friedens church, Franklin street, Allegheny, were all branches of the old Zion congregation.

The Rev. Albert Vogel, for many years minister of the church, spoke at length. He compared the ideas of the church at the time of its organization with the present methods. From 1843 to 1886 the church was forbidden to use instrumental music of any kind, and the choir met at private houses to practice.

C. O. Rentz, A. Minewisch, H. Minewisch, H. Haerr, the Rev. Albert Vogel, T. D. Geist and Mrs. Catherine Speaker were the members attending yesterday's celebration who took part in the meeting in Old City hall 50 years ago.

Several old-time German melodies were rendered by the choir.

In the evening the services were left to the younger members, with the Woman's missionary society and the Alliance club of the church.

In the morning the services were conducted by the Rev. F. Miller, the pastor of the church, assisted by C. O. Rentz, O. Stadlaender and C. Geist. The subject of the sermon delivered by the Rev. Miller was "The Loveliness of the House of God." He praised the Christian for the good results from the world at large of his belief. He dwelt on the beauty of childhood, and the effect on the man who is taught the word of God in his youth.

Mr. Rentz spoke of the work in the Sunday school.

FIRE AT ST. PAUL'S.

Two Outbreaks at the Cathedral Cause Some Excitement—Damage Was Very Slight.

Two fire calls within half an hour from St. Paul's cathedral, at Fifth avenue and Grant street, just after the noon hour yesterday caused some excitement among passersby and those connected with the cathedral. In the vestibule of the lyceum in the basement flames shot up suddenly about 1 o'clock, frightening several of the altar boys badly. The blaze seemed to have been caused by a leak in a gas meter in the vestibule and was speedily extinguished by the firemen after the woodwork had been considerably charred.

Almost before the apparatus had been returned to the engine house, however, the blaze was detected under the first floor. The great auditorium was filled with smoke, but after a section of the floor had been torn up a chemical extinguisher sufficed to subdue the flames.

The second fire was dangerously near the famous Carnegie painting. Fearing another outbreak, a watchman was kept at the point all afternoon and evening. The damage is less than $100.

ROLLED FIRST STEEL RAIL AT HOMESTEAD.

The last of the gang of workmen who rolled the first steel rail ever made in the Homestead steel works 22 years ago died at his home in Dickson street, Homestead, yesterday—Henry Evans, aged 58 years. In the early part of 1879, when the Homestead steel works, then a small affair, started to make steel rails in competition with the works of Carnegie Bros. & Co., at Braddock, he was a member of the gang that rolled the first rail.

Mr. Evans was born in Wales. He came to this country when 3 years old and passed his boyhood in Danville, Pa., coming to this section when a young man. When the Pittsburgh Steel Company built the first works at Homestead he became one of the first employes, and continued after Carnegie, Phipps & Co. had purchased the plant. He is survived by his wife and five children, Mrs. Joseph Hines of Allegheny, Mrs. Joseph A. Kilgore, Thomas, Harry and Miss Maggie Evans of Homestead.

MORE REMOVALS MADE SOON

Director Fulton and Recorder Brown Will Punish Disloyalty.

BATTLE FOR COUNCILS BEING PLANNED

Strong Candidates Will Be Put Up in Every Ward — Ex-Mayor Charles Geyer's Threatened Candidacy for Recorder of Allegheny

There could be no better evidence of the feeling of security on the part of Recorder A. M. Brown and the other city administration leaders than the energetic preparations being made to remove the remainder of the Flinn retinue of office holders. Recorder Brown and Director Andrew Fulton met yesterday afternoon and agreed that extensive changes are needed to give the administration complete control of the city government and bring about a state of harmony.

The recorder and the director of public safety also decided that such a course will effectually quiet the unrest and uncertainty aroused by the unfulfilled predictions of the organization leaders that the recorder would be removed. The fact that the recorder and the heads of the various departments are going ahead with their program of ripping out of office all who are known to be disloyal will have the effect of convincing the unstable element that the present administration is to stay.

This conviction is expected to exert a wonderful influence in the councilmanic campaign now being opened. Director Fulton has informed Recorder Brown that he proposes to make numerous changes in the department of public safety. Officers and employes who are loyal will not be disturbed, but those who have displayed indifference or hostility to the present regime will have to look for jobs elsewhere.

Fulton's Ax Will Swing.

Director Fulton will announce his removals as soon as he has his list of appointments complete. He expects to devote a whole day to house cleaning in the public safety palace this week. Before three days have elapsed there will be a dozen or fifteen new faces seen in the building on Sixth avenue.

Recorder Brown announced yesterday that the developments of the past two days had induced him to change his plans regarding the South Side police magistracy. The recorder was first inclined to appoint Joseph H. Vitchestain to succeed Magistrate D. J. McGarey, but strong influence was brought to bear Saturday in behalf of A. H. Sunshine, a prominent business man of the Twenty-sixth ward. The recorder said last night that he would probably appoint Mr. Sunshine this morning. Vitchestain will be provided with another berth.

The feeling is deepening in political circles that Recorder Brown will be permitted to serve out the remainder of his appointed term without further molestation from the Sixth avenue organization. Recorder Brown said yesterday that positive assurance that there will be no change, was brought to the city the other day by Attorney General Elkin. An official confirmation of this statement is expected from Gov. Stone in a few days.

The Coming Battle Over Councils.

The administration leaders are busy preparing for the coming councilmanic battle. The fight will be soon on in earnest. The stalwarts are taking a poll of the voters in every district, and are engaged in selecting strong candidates for both branches of council in every ward of the city.

Common Councilman R. H. Douglas of the Twenty-first ward has been in the field for several weeks as a candidate for select council against the present incumbent, J. M. Clark. The general impression is that there can be but one outcome, and that is the success of Mr. Douglas. In the recent primaries for the control of the ward organization Mr. Douglas won overwhelmingly against Mr. Clark, although the latter had the advantage of the city patronage.

The contest in the Twenty-third ward will be lively, with the indications bright for a stalwart victory. Select Councilman Thomas Thorn is the "old" organization candidate for re-election. The new charter prohibits any person holding a federal, city or state, county or city position, being elected to councils. Mr. Thorn announced several weeks ago that he intended to resign his position as cashier in the Pittsburgh postoffice before the primaries, but the fact that he has since said that he will not resign until after the primaries is taken as evidence that he fears defeat.

"Whether there is a change in the recordership or not, we will make a fight for control of councils," said Recorder Brown yesterday. Thomas S. Bigelow again declared that no change in the recordership is expected, and that the council fight will be opened immediately.

Allegheny Recordership in Doubt.

The Allegheny City hall leaders are apparently much concerned by the attitude of ex-Mayor Charles Geyer and his refusal to declare that he will not be a candidate for city recorder against J. R. Murphy. While ex-Mayor Geyer was still a candidate for state senator, the city hall politicians were claiming that Mr. Geyer possessed immense personal strength in Allegheny and could easily distance any competitor in a race for votes.

Mr. Geyer's friends contend that he was put forward as a senatorial candidate to exclude him from the contest for the recordership. The announced support of Mr. Muehlbronner by Senator M. S. Quay and Mr. Muehlbronner's reinstatement to his former place in the inner circle has disturbed the original calculation of the city hall leaders. Mr. Geyer said yesterday that he had not yet decided whether he would be a candidate for recorder. "There is plenty of time to decide that," he said. With ex-Mayor Wyman pitted against the Murphy machine and ex-Mayor Geyer a third candidate, the chances for either Wyman or Geyer winning would not be remote.

Among the changes expected to occur in the public safety department today or within the next couple of days are the removals of W. Taggart of the Eleventh ward, chief plumbing inspector, and Charles Lightner of the Thirty-first ward, who holds the position of building inspector.

WORK FOR EAST END YOUNG MEN

TWENTY-SEVENTH BIRTHDAY OF EAST LIBERTY Y. M. C. A.

Treasurer's Report Makes an Excellent Showing—E. L. Shuey of Dayton, O., Delivers the Annual Address—Appeal for a New Building for the East Liberty Branch.

The twenty-seventh anniversary meeting of the East Liberty branch of the Young Men's Christian association, held last night in the East Liberty Presbyterian church, was attended by a large number of the friends of that institution. A novelty in the shape of stereopticon views illustrating the different methods of conducting association work was introduced during the meeting and proved very interesting.

The meeting was opened with prayer by the Rev. Dunlop Moore, D. D., after which Peter Dick, who acted as chairman, made a short address. The stereopticon was used to show the work of the branch to the best advantage. The views included pictures of the association building and interior, showing members at their classes; maps of the city were also shown in which the district of the East Liberty branch was outlined and the number of churches and saloons given, showing that the latter far outnumbered the former.

While the views were being shown W. G. Dickson described the association work. The reading of the annual report, which had formerly been a feature of the annual meetings, was dispensed with, owing to the fact that it had been printed and distributed in the church before the meeting commenced.

The report was in part as follows:

The advent of the new century has given a new impulse to the work of our East Liberty branch of the Young Men's Christian association. We closed the year October 30, 1900, with a membership of 529; with the new era we have increased to 607, a gain of almost 15 per cent. No less than 67 men have served on committees outside of our committee of management. Our support financially by our members is the largest ever received in one year, amounting to over $3,100, and the securing of our financial support has been more widely distributed than ever before.

Our rooms, while no larger in size, are greatly improved in appearance since our last report. The reception room and parlor have been refurnished throughout with substantial and attractive furniture at a cost of about $400. We have also added new apparatus to our gymnasium equipment at a cost of $150. Our library is very much in need of large additions of new books. A thousand dollars could be spent to great advantage on our library and would be a great boon to the large number of young men who use it.

During the past year there has been an increase in the attendance at gymnasium classes from 4,822 to 4,706, and an increase in the whole number receiving, in classes and individually, from 7,264 to 9,471, while the number of baths has increased from 8,292 to 10,765.

The annual address was delivered by E. L. Shuey of Dayton, O., a member of the international board of directors of the Y. M. C. A. Mr. Shuey spoke on the "Needs of the Y. M. C. A. in Our Cities."

He said the Y. M. C. A. offered the best solution to the social problems that originated in the cities, because it appeals to all young men as does no other movement. The reason the work of the association should be supported by all Christian men and women, said the speaker, is because of the educational and religious training it gives to young men who otherwise could not be reached. He said the churches had given up trying to educate leaders in the different institutions they controlled, but had neglected the 99 within its reach. The Y. M. C. A. had taken charge of the 99 and has made it possible to give them a collegiate education.

Mr. Shuey made an appeal for a new building for the East Liberty branch, saying the field in which it worked contained a population of over 14,000 young men between the ages of 14 and 30 years.

BRITISH GREED BAFFLED.

So Declared Noted Pro-Boer Last Night During a Remarkable Speech.

Before a select gathering in Troy Hill Turner hall last night Baron H. L. De Glinzberg, the noted pro-Boer Frenchman, made some startling statements on the crisis in the Transvaal. Probably the most positive was his declaration of the final intentions of the Boers should defeat seem inevitable.

"The English race will never glut on the riches of either Pretoria or Johannesburg," he said. "The Boers have fixed the coveted mines in such a manner that when defeat seems certain every treasure in the hills of both cities will be completely devastated by fire. Both rich cities are undermined in every nook and corner, and the British are not aware of it. The hour that sees the brave Boers go down to defeat will be the blackest in the history of the English race. Every fuse throughout the undermined cities will be lighted, causing an explosion that will reduce both cities to ashes."

The baron, however, is of the opinion that the Boers will finally defeat the British forces. He says there are 160,000 British soldiers in the Transvaal, of which every day, 400 are either wasting away by disease or dying from wounds. He said there were 30,000 men in the Boer ranks, 23,000 of whom are Americans, Dutch, German or French.

Baron De Glinzberg will remain in the city for some time and will lecture in Old City hall as soon as arrangements can be made. He is in this country to raise money for the support of the women and children of the Boers. The mayor of Baltimore is treasurer of the fund in America, and all funds are to be disbursed by the Red Cross society of France.

EPILEPTIC FITS
—BY—
WHEELER'S NERVE VITALIZER.

The letter printed below tells of a nervous system disordered at birth and continuing into manhood, being successfully cured by Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer. Surely such testimony is convincing evidence that it will cure Nervous Prostration, St. Vitus' Dance and all of the milder forms of nervous diseases. A postal card will bring to any one more proof of this fact.

I have been troubled with Epilepsy all my life; some times would have three or four convulsions a week while at other times I would not notice them for several weeks. I tried several kinds of medicines advertised to cure such troubles, but did not get relief. I learned of Wheeler's Nerve Vitalizer and gave it a trial and can honestly say I felt a greater improvement in using it than at any other time in my life. I keep it in my house all the time and recommend it to everyone who is suffering from such nervous troubles. Nicholas Shaffer, West Liberty, O.

STOCK IS READY FOR THE JUDGES

Ribbons Will Be Awarded Today at East Liberty Fat Stock Show.

SUNDAY CROWDS AT THE STOCK YARDS

City People Mingled With Western Cattlemen, While All Admired the Handsome, Sleek Animals on Exhibition.

The fat stock show at the East Liberty Central stock yards proved the great magnet for Pittsburgh's crowds yesterday. The crowd was a record-breaking one. Special arrangements had been made by Manager Simon O'Donnell and his assistants for taking care of the multitude and they surged and poured through the yards all day long.

Raisers of range cattle from the western states, dealers in live stock from the east, the solid and prosperous-looking workman, with a small element of society people—these composed the heterogeneous throng that strolled from stall to stall, now admiring ponderous, well-fed steers, now a grunting porker and again a pen of fine-woolled sheep.

The day was most successful, but while in point of crowds possibly more people were there than will attend any other day, today will be really the biggest of the show. In the morning the judges will award prizes in the various classes of the different breeds of stock, and at noon the sale of prize-winning stock will take place. The show will practically conclude with a banquet at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon at the East End hotel, at which it is estimated 500 people will sit down.

New York's Big Delegation.

The excellence of the Pittsburgh show has brought delegates from all over the country, and yesterday over 600 of them were present. These delegates represent organizations of cattlemen from all over the United States. New York city alone has sent 100 delegates and Philadelphia is represented by about as many more. Chicago, St. Louis, Indianapolis, Boston, Baltimore and many other cities are also represented by good-sized delegations.

Every person who has attended the show thus far, and who knows anything of fat stock shows, agrees that this one beats them all. Manager O'Donnell predicted that it would be the finest in the country, and his predictions have been fulfilled, if the unsolicited praise of the spectators counts for anything.

Samuel W. Allerton, of Chicago, known throughout the west for his philanthropy and envied for his successful business career, is in the city, and attends every session of the show. He regards it as the best of its kind he has ever seen. Mr. Allerton is the largest cattle raiser and exporter in the world.

President A. J. Cassatt of the Pennsylvania railroad sent a telegram to Manager O'Donnell congratulating him upon the excellence of the show and regretting that it will be impossible for him to attend.

Many States Represented.

All the exhibits this year have increased in size, and still the excellent standard has been maintained. Indeed, if anything, this standard has been raised. Several states which were never represented before have sent fine bunches of stock this year, among others West Virginia, which has three prime steers, which should be watched when it comes to awarding prizes.

The stock yards yesterday afternoon presented an animated and pleasing picture. The commission offices have all been decorated with streamers and bright bits of bunting, and stretching across the various highways and byways are gay-colored banners. These, with the brilliant costumes of many of the women, and the broad hats of the western cattlemen, made a most interesting and picturesque scene.

SHOT TWO BROTHERS.

Dispute Over a Board Bill Resulted in Two Men Being Wounded.

CLEARFIELD, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—James and Guiseppe Dimasas, brothers, were shot at Rohers camp, on the West Branch Valley railroad, about 10 miles from here, this morning. Dominick Cara boarded with them. Last night a dispute arose about Cara's board bill.

This morning he asked for the use of a shotgun, saying he intended to go hunting. After loading the weapon, it is alleged, he turned upon the two Dimasas and wounded both of them with one discharge of the gun. James, the younger of the two, was shot in the abdomen and may die. Guiseppe will recover. Cara has not been captured.

OMENS AND FORERUNNERS OF CONSUMPTION

An Eminent Scientist's Free Weapons of Defense.

Certain symptoms and conditions announce the approach of fatal disease as surely as the first faint blushes of dawn herald the mighty orb of day.

Symptoms or signs which point to decline of the general powers of the body and appear to defy precaution or ordinary treatment, must be seriously regarded as signs and forerunners of some grave disease—usually Consumption. Some of these indications and forerunners are:—

Progressive Catarrh, Weak Lungs, after Pneumonia, Pleurisy, etc., Bronchial Asthma,
Cough, dry or moist,
Tonsilitis,
Laryngitis,
Bronchitis,
Hoarseness, Throat or Lung Irritation, Faulty Nutrition, Wasting Flesh, Blood Taint,
Blood Impoverishment, Night Sweats, Pallor,
Delusively Rosy Cheeks, Chest Pains,
Burning Sensation in Lungs,
Rapid Pulse,
Glandular Abscesses,
Extreme Lassitude,
Want of Energy,
Unaccountable Fatigue,
Suppressed Functions, Sinking Spells,
Nervous Fever and Chills, Nervous Exhaustion, etc.

When you observe the sign of disease in advance, await not the attack. Avoid the evil by using the wonderful free weapons of defense manufactured in the great laboratories of Dr. Slocum in New York City and sent by him all over the land free to predisposed and actual victims of Consumption's grasp.

FOUR GREAT FREE REMEDIES.

I.—The Emulsion.—This great germicidal and building preparation repairs and rebuilds impaired tissues, protects while it builds, and fortifies the whole system against consumption's germs.

II.—The Expectorant.—This removes lung obstructions and makes breathing easy.

III.—The Tonic.—This is a powerful restorative, not a stimulant.

IV.—The Oxojell cure for Catarrh never fails to cure.

The four remedies combined, including the wonderful Emulsion, form the most potent and successful treatment with which to forestall and prevent, or to combat and cure Consumption. This treatment fortifies any system against any disease of wasting tendency; it restores the powers of the body which enable it to resist the germs of disease.

DR. SLOCUM, THE FAMOUS SCIENTIST OF NEW YORK CITY, INSTRUCTING PHYSICIANS AND STUDENTS IN BACTERIOLOGY.

Some need only the Emulsion, the Expectorant or the Tonic; others require all four preparations, according to particular existing conditions.

WRITE FOR FREE TRIAL

Through the rare liberality of Dr. Slocum, all four of the above remedies are free to those who are threatened by or are afflicted with Consumption or other wasting malady.

To obtain these four free preparations, that have never yet failed to cure, all you have to do is to write to and you will be at once sent the four free preparations, with full directions. You may as well be one of the increasing army annually saved by modern medical science.

TWELVE PAGES.

Wrong Doers Weakening.

The Gazette's crusade against the dens in Allegheny City has had the effect of closing some and of causing others to lock their doors and exercise discrimination in the admission of visitors. This shows that the persistent exposure of the plague spots has made an impression on those who traffic in evil. Their first impulse was defiance, but their courage has gradually oozed away. Public sentiment is against them and guided into the proper channel may make an end of them. The pulpit has taken notice of the vicious resorts now that The Gazette has turned on the light and made them apparent. We expect much from this powerful co-operation. The panic into which speakeasy and gambling house proprietors are being thrown by the publicity that has been given them should inspire with courage those who have suffered from their presence and existence. It proves the real weakness of the wrong doers who have been imagined and who imagined themselves all powerful.

As to Fitness for Office.

We doubt whether it is the friends of the president who lay so much stress on his reported frequent declarations that no appointments will be made unless the men for whom places are asked "can be shown to be fit." No one who knows Mr. Roosevelt imagines him capable of appointing any one known to be unfit. Therefore, it is unnecessary to emphasize from day to day his well-understood intention. To do so makes his position no clearer, and it is a poor compliment to senators, congressmen and others who recommend persons for places within his gift. There is room to suspect that the changes are being rung on the well-known determination of the president for the purpose of promoting bad feeling toward him on the part of persons who have friends that want to serve the government. Undoubtedly unfit persons will be recommended by some, but the unfit ones can be kept in private life without jarring the friendly relations of the president with party leaders. The president may be trusted to attend to little details of this nature without giving rise to uneasiness on the part of those who approach him that they are under suspicion and required to clear themselves. It being known that applicants for positions must be shown to be fit, let it go at that. Fitness was insisted on by President Roosevelt's predecessor, and it is no compliment to either to represent by inference or inuendo that the present incumbent of the presidential office is starting out with brand new requirements for office holding. Nothing is more firmly imbedded in Republican policy than that public servants shall be mentally and morally capable. It is well known to the president, who had no inconsiderable share in establishing the principle. He also knows that party leaders in general are in harmony with it. When he pledged himself to continue the policy of McKinley this was a well understood part of it. There is, therefore, nothing sensational in the president's intention concerning the sort of persons who shall be appointed to office, and it is not his friends or his party's friends that try to infuse sensation into it.

Integrity of the Republics.

Mexico has announced an addition to the Monroe doctrine that in principle will be as acceptable to the United States, as to Mexico, or any other new world republic. It was at the banquet given on Friday night by the Mexicans to the other delegates to the Pan-American congress in the City of Mexico that Senor Chavero, speaking for the Mexican delegation, accepted the Monroe doctrine in behalf of Mexico and the other Latin-American republics, but announced "the Diaz doctrine" as its supplement in these words:

> The international law of America is founded on peace, which, in its turn, depends on respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of each and all republics of America.

Spanish agitation in the Latin-American republics has, since the Spanish-American war, encouraged a belief that the United States cherishes designs on the whole western hemisphere. Our war with Mexico is not entirely forgotten, and it was freshly threshed over by Spaniards in Mexico and South America to point a moral. The declaration may be, therefore considered in a sense a challenge to the United States, though it has a clearer application to the aggressive Chile, whose relations with her neighbors are highly unsatisfactory to them. But whether aimed at the United States, or at Chile, or at both, or at neither, the United States will subscribe to the principle so long as it is understood to require only "respect for the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of each and all republics of America." But this nation would not care to go to the extreme of joining in a guarantee of the sovereignty, independence and territorial integrity of the republics of America against each other. It will adopt the principle only in government of its own course. If all do the same it should be sufficient guarantee.

Epidemics of Tetanus.

Citizens of Philadelphia are very much alarmed over the increasing number of fatal cases of tetanus or lockjaw as a result of vaccination, and much prejudice is being created against the work of the vaccine physicians ordered on account of the prevalence of smallpox throughout a number of eastern cities. There have been nearly a score of deaths from tetanus among children who have been subject to vaccination, and there are people who declare that it would be better to run the risk of having smallpox than to be exposed to the possible evils resulting from vaccination. Smallpox is not only dangerous, but malignantly contagious and is very apt to leave some unhappy souvenir of its visit, even though the disfiguring of the face as in former days may be avoided. Tetanus is not more desirable than smallpox, but with pure virus vaccination need not be dangerous to persons of reasonably sound constitutions. When tetanus follows vaccination there must be something radically wrong with the vaccine. St. Louis had an epidemic of tetanus recently because of the use of impure serum in diphtheria cases. The Philadelphia epidemic does not condemn the use of vaccine and the St. Louis epidemic does not condemn serum. All that is proved is that sufficient care was not exercised in the preparation or application of the remedies.

Help for the Boers.

It is eminently proper that Americans should contribute to the relief of the suffering and helpless women and children of the Boers in South Africa. Such assistance cannot by any system of partisan reasoning be construed into giving aid to the cause for which the Boers are struggling. Accounts of the most reliable character unite in describing the condition of large numbers of the women and children in the reconcentrado camps in South Africa as being of the most desperate kind, and unless outside aid and assistance is forthcoming, the death list among these helpless creatures will be swelled to appalling dimensions.

When appeals come from India or from China or from Russia telling of want and starvation the American people are ever ready to help the sufferers and give of their bounty to those who are in need. The question of neutrality between nations in time of war is in no wise affected by the present appeal from the Boers. What they want is not munitions of war or assistance and sympathy in their fight against the English, but bread to feed their starving women and children.

Harrisburg and Carnegie.

What is worth having is worth asking for. Mr. Carnegie, with all his wealth, cannot provide every city and town in the United States with a free library. Therefore, some places will have to provide their own libraries or go without. But undoubtedly if any city that thinks it needs a free library will ask Mr. Carnegie to give it one he will consider the request. Harrisburg is a city that has a free library, and, being the state capital, it also has the state library—such as it is. But the Harrisburg Telegraph thinks a greater free library is needed. It says:

> In the distribution of his millions in the wise way which the great millionaire has mapped out for himself, Andrew Carnegie, the genial Scotch laird, has apparently overlooked Harrisburg, the capital city of the commonwealth which gave his wonderful genius opportunity.

It then pats Harrisburg's modesty on the back, tells of the good work of the Library association, of the better work that waits on larger enterprise and continues:

> Here is Mr. Carnegie's opportunity. He is dispensing his wealth as one having a high conception of the responsibilities of stewardship, and opportunities do not come to him every day. With the magnificent site for Harrisburg's free library at Front and Walnut streets an imposing structure overlooking the broad Susquehanna would stand as a lasting memorial of the greatest library builder of the century. The Carnegie chain of libraries will not be complete without one here.

Then why not formally call Mr. Carnegie's attention to the need and the possibilities? The sooner the better, for there will be many others to press their local needs on his attention.

Weather Prophesying.

With the sudden advent of cold weather, following an autumn of unusual mildness, the weather prophets of various kinds and possessed of varying degrees of intelligence are coming forward with their prognostications, offering a wide range of weather for the next few months from which one may make his selection if he is not disposed to wait and take it as it comes. It is in the simple folk-lore prophecies that one finds the most interesting study of weather forecasting, as it is also here that the widest divergence is offered in the character of the winter foretold. The corn husk prophets of Lebanon county, this state, declare that we are to have a very mild winter, and are preparing accordingly. In Bucks county, on the other hand, the old German weather prophets declare that because All Saints and All Souls days were clear and fair we will have an unusually severe winter, much of it coming before Christmas. It is the opossum that presides over the weather bureau of the Lancaster county farmers, and according to this animal's foresight the winter is to contain at least two months of very severe weather. The wishbone of the goose is also a favorite in Lancaster, and the two means of prognosticating are said to agree admirably as to the character of the coming winter.

Over against these homely styles of weather forecasting is set the scientific dictum that weather cannot be foretold with any degree of accuracy longer than 24 or 48 hours ahead, except in certain storm movements of well defined orbits. The farmers and those whose lives are lived close to Mother Nature believe firmly, however, that she takes due care of her big family of dependents and gives them definite warning of the weather far in advance. When some of the blunders of science are considered it may be just as well to leave ourselves in the happy confusion created by the wishbone, the 'possum and the corn husk.

Not a Theory, But a Condition.

Sentiment is giving place to business in many minds in the southern states. The south has products to sell, and it needs markets for these products. It is a refreshing indication of progress and of a determination to get what is coming to them to hear the Southern Cotton Spinners' association applauding Senator McLaurin's declarations in favor of a national policy which shall open to the south the markets of the world. These progressive business men perceive that isolation is no longer possible. They ask for an isthmian canal and for commercial treaties that shall establish reciprocal trade relations. No longer is the south solid on free trade. The sugar producers are always alert for protection to their product, and as industries become more diversified sentiment gives way to a consideration of the actual requirements of trade. It is a condition that begins to confront the people of the south, instead of the theory that used to dominate them.

In his official deliverance after an exhaustive examination of the causes of the destructive Market street fire in Philadelphia several weeks ago in which a number of lives were lost, the coroner pertinently declares: "The freight elevator shaft in the modern business building is the most formidable menace to the safety of lives and property that can possibly be conceived of. It is usually little less than a chimney, many feet high, lined with oiled wood ready for the spark or match to become a mighty draught of flames." There is a valuable warning in this opinion.

If anybody is foolish enough to believe the stories to the effect that President Roosevelt is engaged in a campaign to destroy his political friends they need to re-read political history.

When it comes to bucking the Tiger the sons of old Eli seem to have acquired several new tricks not down in the regular course.

Mayor Van Wyck declares that every public official should be watched. This, we suppose, may be taken as expert testimony.

The "Problem of Democracy" just now seems to be how to dispose of William Jennings Bryan without hurting his feelings.

Washington city is beginning to wake up and take notice of things. It will soon have congress "in its midst."

M. Santos-Dumont is being advised by his friends to cash in now while his fame has a certain marketable value.

With a majority of people the most interesting live stock exhibit just now is a pen of big fat turkeys.

As a political issue John Chinaman ought to be able to furnish the fireworks at any rate.

To Chicago by Water.

To the Editor of The Gazette:

Will you kindly answer through tomorrow morning's paper, "How Chicago can be reached from Pittsburgh by water," and greatly oblige.
CONSTANT READER, Pittsburgh.

From Pittsburgh to Cairo via Ohio river; then up the Mississippi river to the Illinois river via the Drainage canal to Chicago.

No Barren Baronetcy for Carnegie.

From Harper's Weekly.

It is reported that Mr. Andrew Carnegie has refused a baronetcy, preferring to walk the balance of his days in the rest and comfort of untitled ease, to which by his labors he has attained. No one may question the wisdom of the ironmaster's decision not to accept the honor, if, indeed, it really has been offered him. He already has a sufficient number of distinctions to enable him to get along without anything so ordinary and intrinsically barren as a knighthood. To be known in his own land as the founder of great schools, as the benefactor of a chain of libraries for the dissemination of good literature throughout the land, as the friend of the friendless and forlorn, is an honor to be surpassed by no title which any king or queen can confer; and when beyond this he finds himself the authorized weaver of the rectorial robes of a Scottish university which once adorned the shoulders of Thomas Carlyle, why indeed should he stoop from the high level upon which he stands to pick up anything so unworthy of his other honors as a baronetcy?

No, indeed. No knighthood can add to the laurels which Mr. Carnegie already wears, and in point of fact the acceptance of such a minor degree would be no less than a wicked watering of the preferred honorary stock which now stands to his credit.

SPEAKING ABOUT THE WEATHER

The steady fall of snow this morning reminds one of Thanksgiving, Christmas and—the gas meter.—Tidioute News.

The ice man can now "Go Way Back and Sit Down," while the fuel man does his turn.—Canton Repository.

This is the season of the year when the mink and the seal are brought to a stern realization of what they are here fur.—Franklin News.

A flock of wild geese were seen passing over Creason last Friday. Later developments prove that they knew just about when to leave for a warmer country.—Cresson Record.

The real thing in the line of winter came Thursday. Old Boreas cut loose and the w-i-n-d-s whistled around the corner mournfully and hard enough to blow the whiskers off a Russian miner's face. Then it snowed, and thus it kept on nearly all day long. And for all this, some people think that it is not too late in the season to start the paving job. Council, however, is determined to do a part of the work, and an effort will be made to pave a part of Main street hill, if nothing else.—Irwin Republican-Standard.

This morning dawned bright and cold, with just sufficient snow on the ground to give a faint suggestion of winter. The brisk and crisp air blew threateningly, warning the coming of more cold, but people in general seem to be fond of this kind of weather, preferring it much more than damp and moist conditions. The windows seemed to bear the marks of the skilled brush of Jack Frost, and mysterious, glittering designs, sparkling and glistening under the influence of the least flash of sunlight, were in evidence all over town.—Connellsville News.

Oh, the snow, the beautiful snow,
Which falls from the clouds to the earth below;
Snow that is sloppy, snow that is sleet,
Snow that for snowballing nothing can beat.
Snow that is white, snow that is cold,
Snow in which youngsters love to be rolled.
Snow that comes high when the blizzards prevail.
Snow that makes sleighing in upland and vale.
Snow to make tracks in; snow all around—
Like charity's mantle it covers the ground.
Snow that brings moisture to every one's feet,
Snow to be shoveled from sidewalk and street;
Snow to boom work for the log-hauling men—

COUNTRY FOLKS WATCH BROADWAY'S SUNDAY PARADE.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.

There was a big church parade in Broadway and Fifth avenue this morning. It was not composed entirely of the usual New York material, including members of the well-known wealthy families of this city; but what it lacked in distinction it made up in gorgeousness. The promenaders were unmistakably from the country, and they all had their "good clothes" on. Even without this guide to their identity, the fact that an excursion party of some 4,000 persons from "up state" arrived in the city yesterday with the privilege, according to the information on their railroad tickets, of remaining here for 10 days, would have made it clear who the interested throngs were. The visitors had heard of the Easter parade" and of the regular weekly Sunday progress of churchgoers on the fashionable thoroughfare, and they "wanted to see for themselves how it felt." So Reuben and Melissa and "Old Man Herman" and his wife were all much in evidence in the sunlight this morning from Madison square to Central park. They started early from their hotels and boarding houses, so that they would have plenty of time for a leisurely stroll before dropping into some one or the other of the famous churches in or near the avenue. In church they heard fine singing by the choir, but were not particularly impressed by the sermon. That is one thing in which every resident of a small town or village refuses to concede superiority away from home. Loyalty to their own preacher is a characteristic of country people everywhere. So the ministers known to all the world who exhorted their smart congregations today in this city did not impress the strangers to any great extent. After church, there was the walk back, when the joy of seeing all the swells at once, and being part of the procession, was greater than ever. A ten-day stay in the metropolis is a pleasant experience for these up-state folk, perhaps all the more so because they feel a proprietary interest in the city which is only partly shared by Americans elsewhere.

Pittsburgh Actor Successful.

Mortimer Omohundro, a son of the late Maj. Sidney Omohundro, is in New York. Mr. Omohundro became an actor some years ago, and has met with considerable success in his chosen profession. He is at present a member of a company playing the musical comedy, "The Woman of the Case," which started from Pittsburgh at the beginning of the season, and has been well received wherever it has been presented. Maj. Omahundro was one of the best known G. A. R. men in Pittsburgh a decade ago.

Wall Street Watched the Game.

When the gong sounded for the close of business on the stock exchange at noon yesterday there was a mighty rush for the exits. Little time was lost in getting to the street and then there was such a big demand for automobiles and cabs that the cabbies felt that things were coming their way indeed. The same direction was given to every driver: "Grand Central station, quick." At least half the membership of the exchange was on its way to New Haven to see the football game, and there was no time to waste between the close of business in Wall street and the calling of the men to line up on the gridiron in the shadow of old Yale. There has never been more interest in a university football game than in that between Yale and Princeton yesterday, and Wall street was there in force. Business men all through the lower part of town went to New Haven, for that matter. But Wall street, more demonstrative than any other locality, seemed to be in the lead.

Ready for the Horse Show.

There was a kind of dress rehearsal of the horse show in Madison Square garden tonight. The outer doors were tightly fastened, and any stranger going to the stage entrance in Fourth avenue would have been informed tersely that there was "nothin' doin'." Nevertheless, some of the horses were put through a trying-out process notwithstanding that is was Sunday night. The garden is all ready for the brilliant opening tomorrow, and it was thought well to test the elasticity of the arena, and the temper of some of the entries before allowing the great public to see. So the garden was lighted up and grooms and horses turned loose. The young men in tight buff trousers, with wind-tanned cheeks and hands half closed as if they were itching to seize whip and reins, who are always to be seen at the back entrance at horse show times, were there tonight, and their attitude was that of men who own the town. They do, for this week. If you are not connected in some way with the horse show you are small potatoes in the metropolis until next Sunday. What was done in the garden is not for the "philistine" to say. There was a great deal of galloping, kicking up of tanbark, hoarse shouting and general excitement. At the end the experts declared that everything was satisfactory, and now nothing remains but to ring up the curtain tomorrow morning.

A Newspaper Celebrates.

The Evening Post made a great splurge over its hundredth birthday yesterday. Besides issuing a large extra edition, with a fac-simile of the first issue of the paper in 1801 (and a queer-looking sheet it is), there was a luncheon, given to the representatives of the newspaper by leading citizens of New York, including Andrew Carnegie, in the Equitable Life banquet hall, in the afternoon, and an informal dinner to the entire staff of the paper at night at the Hardware club. One of the best speeches at the luncheon was by Mr. Carnegie. It was the first public address he had made since leaving Pittsburgh.

Traces of Awful Fire Vanishing.

One by one the North German Lloyd steamers which passed through the disastrous fire in the North river nearly two years ago have been put into commission again. A week or so ago the Saale was brought down to New York and started on a voyage, looking as well as ever. Now the Main, after being repaired $800,000 worth, is on her way to Bremen from this port. She had to be practically rebuilt, as can be imagined, when it is known that more than half a million dollars was expended on her. In answer to this, I may say, as an eye-witnes of the fire, that it is remarkable that the vessels could have been saved at all. They looked like complete wrecks on and after that awful day. Both the Main and the Saale were floating torture-chambers for hundreds of poor human creatures, who were roasted to death in full view of an outside world which was powerless to help them.

A Little Known Industry.

It may not be generally known that 200 skilled workmen are employed at diamond-cutting in New York city, and that this city leads the world in the cutting and polishing of diamonds. Such is the truth, however. Amsterdam used to have almost a monopoly of this industry, with a little competition in London; and some small continental towns. But things have changed. There are about a score of diamond-cutting establishments in this city, in which some 200,000 carats of rough diamonds are polished each year. The best diamond cutters in this city can earn from $40 to $90 a week. The price of diamonds has not fluctuated much in the last year, Maiden Lane experts say, although last winter there was a slight rise, and some people believed, or pretended to believe, that stones would go so high as to be out of reach of many persons who wear them now.

New Play at Wallack's.

The principal theatrical sensation tomorrow night will be the production of Augustus Thomas' new drama, "Colorado," at Wallack's. If I mistake not, it was at this theater that Mr. Thomas' first success, "Alabama," was put on, several years ago, by A. M. Palmer, who called the house "Palmer's theater." At all events, that is where Gus' latest play will go on tomorrow night, barring accidents. In the cast there are several well known actors. The list includes Wilton Lackaye, Maud Hoffman, Violet Rand, John W. Albaugh, Jr., Horace Lewis, Francis Carlisle and Rose Cook. The show bills posted about the city give the impression that Colorado's noted canyons will be shown in spectacular plenitude on the stage, and the supposition is that "Colorado" will aim to be a second "Arizona." The latter play, by the way, left the Academy of Music last night to make way for "Way Down East" tomorrow.

Mrs. Harrison Won.

The information has been allowed to leak out that Mrs. Burton Harrison has gained the decision of the courts that she, and not David Belasco, is the author of "The Unwelcome Mrs. Hatch." This important question out of the way the drama is to be put on at the Manhattan on Monday week, with Mrs. Fiske as the unwelcome lady. There may have been some industry by the wily press agent in making such a long report of the proceedings in court. Whether there was or not, it has proved to be a good advertisement.

Hymns in Several Tongues.

There was an interesting meeting in the old Mariners' church on the East Side this afternoon. The occasion was the 83d anniversary of the Society for Promoting the Gospel Among Seamen in the Port of New York, and the services were unique as well as impressive. There were hymns in English, Swedish, Spanish and German, with stringed and reed instruments accompanying the voices. Sailors are usually willing to attend divine service, and particularly when it is conducted especially for their benefit. This famous old church is packed with seafaring men every Sunday, and the assemblage is always markedly decorous one. The anniversary this afternoon resolved itself into an experience meeting toward the end, and there was testimony by a number of converted sailors, each of whom spoke in his native tongue, which was not English save in one or two instances.

Yale Boys Happy.

There was plenty last night to interest the sports that gather about the uptown hotels. In the first place they were all telling each other why Ruhlin had no chance with Jeffries, and, secondly, they had many disdainful remarks to make about the way Yale "wiped up the gridiron" with Princeton. "Twelve ter nuttin' eh? dat was er cinch, an' I hadn't a dollar on. Jist me luck," howled one man, with a large unshaven jaw, at the Forty-second street corner. He had not paid much attention to the game at New Haven, because watching the fight at San Francisco had used up all the intellect he had, but he was disposed to think that he had lost some "easy money" by not betting on the university game, and it hurt his feelings. The Princeton and Yale boys flooded the upper part of town in the evening, and although there was little waving of the Tiger colors, the blue was to be seen everywhere. As for noise and general jollification, it cannot be said that Princeton's defeat subdued its representatives very much, although it seemed as if there were more spontaneity in the demonstrations of the young gentlemen from New Haven.

Municipal House Cleaning Soon.

It is understood that there will be a cleaning out of superfluous employes in most of the city departments after January 1. This probability is brought home with painful force to the Tammany understanding by the intimation of George L. Rives, the newly-appointed corporation counsel, that he will retain all of the efficient and experienced men in his department. This is understood to mean that, per contra, all the Tammany pets who have been holding fat sinecures will be cast off with jarring suddenness. There are some 50 of these gentry, and all of them expect to walk the plank on New Year's day, so soon as Mr. Rives is installed. They have had a comfortable thing of it for four years, at salaries ranging from $10,000 a year down to $1,000 annually; but they will all go out in the general smash.

Toying With Senator Platt.

Gov. Odell spent today in Albany, as usual, although he was in this city yesterday. He took breakfast with Senator T. C. Platt at the Fifth Avenue hotel, before leaving New York yesterday morning, and a question put to him by a newspaper man gave him an opportunity to bestow a little rap upon the senator. He said: "I always breakfast with Senator Platt when I'm in town, provided the senator gets up early enough." It was a good thing for the governor that Senator Platt was not within hearing, or he might have been challenged to a match of early getting up to continue all winter. The sage of Tioga county prides himself on getting down to breakfast at 8 o'clock all the year around, unless prevented by illness. Gov. Odell is getting gay with T. C.

Costly Home for Tammany Man.

John F. Carroll, who may be the next leader of Tammany Hall, is said to be worth $5,000,000. He will spend part of it in erecting a palatial home in Fifth avenue at Fifty-seventh street, if rumor is to be believed. The story has been afloat for about a week, but it bobbed up more persistently than ever yesterday and today, and is taken seriously now. Carroll was as poor when a young man as Croker himself.

Comment by the Exhibits.

"I wonder why all these people are crowding around," remarked the fattest steer at the live stock show to the next fattest one.

"Don't know, I'm sure," replied the latter; "but I must say that I've never seen a finer crowd of people. It's a great privilege to be able to inspect such interesting specimens of the human species."

A Marked Difference.

"There's a great difference between men and cattle," remarked one visitor to the fat cattle show.

"I should hope that there is," replied another, "but what difference have you in mind?"

"Cattle weigh least when they are dressed, and men weigh the most."

A Leisurely Commission.

During the present term of the United States circuit court 37 cases were brought by various independent oil companies and dealers against a number of railroad companies in this state asking that they be reimbursed for alleged overcharges for the transportation of oil.

When the list of cases was called the attorneys representing the respective parties to the suits asked that they be passed, giving as a reason that there were certain questions which had not been disposed of.

Judge M. W. Acheson of the United States circuit court, while always dignified and judicial, enjoys a quiet joke, and he saw an occasion to have one.

"Why, gentlemen," he said, "the interstate commerce commission, from which these cases come, has said that all such cases should be summarily disposed of, and in view of that decision I think the cases here should be tried as speedily as possible. Incidentally I might remark that these cases have been before the interstate commission since 1888, and came into this court only in May of this year. I guess the cases may go over."

There was more than a smile at the humor of the court.

A Considerate Tramp.

"Will I supply you with a few cold provisions?" said Mrs. Obadiah Wintergreen, scornfully repeating the words of Mr. Weary Wanderer almost verbatim. "Well, I don't think I will. The very idea! Why should I work to support such as you in idleness, I'd like to know? I know you tramps! You're all afraid to exert yourselves, and you expect honest and industrious folks to feed you; but you'll get nothing here. Why don't you go to work?"

"Well, ma'am," replied Mr. Weary Wanderer, "since you ask me why I don't go to work, I'll tell you. It's solely out of regard for posterity."

"How can that be?"

"Well, ma'am, my abilities are so unusually great that if I were to set myself to the task of working and making money I should soon accumulate a large fortune."

"Then why don't you?"

"Madam, I'm a man of peace. I could not endure the thought that my heirs might quarrel over my fortune after I had gone. You see my position, I hope, but —— never mind calling the dog, madam! I have an appointment further down the road at this hour. Good day."

QUEEN LIL ARRIVES.

On Her Way to Washington to See the President in Regard to the Hawaiian Crown Lands, Which She Claims as Her Own.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

SAN FRANCISCO, CAL., Nov. 17.—Former Queen Lilliokalani of Hawaii has arrived in this city en route to Washington. Her mission to this country is announced in the following statement:

"The queen is combining business with pleasure on her trip to the United States. She has not been in the best of health for some time, but at present she is feeling quite well. The report circulated on the occasion of her last visit here that she was suffering from cancer proved to be false. She has come here now to consult with the federal authorities relative to the crown lands in Hawaii. These were sequestrated by the revolutionary government at the time the monarchy was overthrown, and no attempt has since been made to reimburse her for the loss of the crown revenues, amounting to some $100,000 a year.

"The territorial legislature passed a bill appropriating $250,000 for the crown lands, but President Dole vetoed the bill on the ground that there was not enough money in the treasury to pay the claim. Subsequently the legislature offered to grant her a pension of $25,000 a year, but she refused to accept the money for the reason that it would place her on the list of dependents upon charity, a step that was exceedingly repugnant to her. Before the annexation of the islands she was advised by competent attorneys to submit her claim to England for arbitration.

"The crown lands are over a million acres in extent and are worth about $15,000,000. Now that the islands are a territory of the United States she has decided to appeal to President Roosevelt and congress to do her justice. The lands in question are made up of the most valuable sugar plantations in the islands, and the title to the whole of it is vested in her absolutely."

WILL TEMPT THE WRATH OF NEPTUNE.

Five New York Men Start Soon in a Small Boat to Circle the Globe.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Leaving New York on November 30 in a 48-foot sloop yacht, the Volante, Harry Langdon of 844 Lexington avenue, and five companions will make an attempt to sail 25,000 miles, circling the earth and return in less than nine months. Mr. Langdon said this evening that three yachting enthusiasts, whose names he would not mention, had offered a reward of $10,000 if the trip was made within the specified time. It is Mr. Langdon's hope and expectation that the Volante will be back in port in not much more than eight months.

There will be in the party besides Mr. Langdon, W. S. McMichaels of 123 West Nineteenth street; Howard C. Dana of Rochester, N. Y.; Charles Middleby of Philipsburg, N. J.; Lawrence A. Quinn of Brooklyn and J. W. Brandan of Asbury Park, N. J. Mr. Langdon will be chief in command, Mr. McMichael first officer and the other four will serve as able seamen and alternately man the galley.

Starting from the Atlantic Yacht club, at Seagate, about 3 o'clock on the afternoon of November 30, they will sail to the gulf stream and then they will sail until 3 degrees below Cape Hatteras. There they expect to strike the southeast trade winds, and turning due east will strike for the Azores. The next stop will be Gibraltar, where the young men hope to eat Christmas dinner. After leaving Gibraltar stops will be made at several points in the Mediterranean, in Algiers, Tunis, Monte Cristo, Palermo, Malta, Athens, Candia and Cyprus. The voyage through the Suez canal will then be made, and after making a stop at Mocha, in Arabia, they will sail for Bombay. Among the points they will touch at after this are Colombo, Ceylon, Singapore, Anjer, in Java; Banca island; Singoga and Bencooleu, on Sumatra; Perth and Melbourne, Australia; Auckland, New Zealand; the New Hebrides, the Fiji islands, Samoa, Hawaiian islands and the Galapagos islands.

At Panama the boat will be shipped across the isthmus by rail and after touching at the island of St. Thomas, in the West Indies, will return to New York.

MINERS AS SHAREHOLDERS.

Remarkable Report of the Pittsburgh Coal Company Employes' Association.

The fourth quarterly report of the Pittsburgh Coal Company Employes' association, just issued, covering the working of the association since its organization last December, shows remarkable development in the plan whereby the men of the mines become partners in the business by taking shares of preferred stock on easy payments. Seven hundred and eighty-six men in mines, shops and offices of the company are participating and have become shareholders in the association, which now holds 6,200 shares of the company's preferred stock. Earnings realized by the members of the association on these shares amount for the 11 months of its existence to $13,443.41.

A subsequent plan of the association, when it has become better established as a stockholding organization, to establish an accident and death benefit plan on the lines of that of the Pennsylvania railroad system. The miners themselves are becoming the heaviest shareholders under the plan of the association. In the mines the number of shareholders is now 538 and their shares amount to 2,616. Fifteen men on the railroads and in the shops of the company hold 88 shares; 144 in the general offices, 2,305 shares; 73 in the company's agencies at Cleveland, Chicago, St. Paul, West Superior, Superior, Buffalo and Sault Ste. Marie, hold 566 shares, and 26 miscellaneous holders have 587 shares.

The report of President J. B. L. Hornberger and Secretary-Treasurer J. E. McDonald shows that the average cost of the shares purchased has been $92.87½. Eleven series of shares were purchased and the amount paid in on each of these shares ranges from $1 to $11, while the earnings on each of the shares taken at different periods in the 11 months range from 6.8 cents to $2.80.

TRIED TO KILL HIS SON.

Insane Father Almost Causes a Tragedy in a McKeesport Home.

Son Badly Cut.

Frederick Heutcher, an aged German of McKeesport, was arrested by the police there yesterday after having attempted to kill his son, Leo, aged 21. The affray was the result of a family quarrel. The boy escaped with two knife wounds in his left leg.

The father had been quarreling with members of the family all morning. The boy was in his room in bed when the father entered. He opened a knife and on the boy slashed him twice before the young man succeeded in making his escape. Heutcher fled from the house and, mounting an old horse he owns, rode out into the country in an effort to escape.

Heutcher is thought to be insane. Several years ago he was arrested by Grant Dodds, a special officer of East McKeesport. While Dodds was leading him to the borough lockup the old man drew a knife and almost severed the officer's arm from his body. He escaped and was captured some time later in Youngstown, O. He served a sentence of two years for that crime. An effort will now be made to have him committed to some institution for safe keeping.

PASSENGERS FRIGHTENED.

Insane Man Becomes Violent on a Train En Route From Cleveland to Indianapolis.

INDIANAPOLIS, IND., Nov. 17.—Passengers on the Big Four southwestern limited, which reached this city from Cleveland at 11:20 a. m., were terrorized today by an insane man who got on the train some miles out of Cleveland and became violent. The conductor and the train crew attempted in vain to quiet him.

Passengers left the car and a porter and a brakeman were put in charge of the man, and did what they could to restr

OLD DID NOT DETER CROWDS

Y VISITED HIGHLAND AND SCHENLEY PARKS.

Gallery Was Drawing Card, and e Organ Recital and Chrysanthemum Show Proved Popular—Zoo Inmates Had Their Usual Sunday Throng of Watchers and Admirers.

Art exhibit, organ recital and chrysanthemum show were the magnets that drew a big crowd to Schenley yesterday; not so large as the previous Sunday, because the weather was not nearly so ideal, but sufficiently large to keep any one from feeling lonely. A steady march of people was kept up, throughout the afternoon through the galleries of art. It was an enthusiastic, art-loving assemblage in the main and the pictures received more than ordinary casual notice of a more popular crowd.

Many persons, taking advantage of the slimmer crowds, studied carefully the beautiful works of the brush. The remarks that could be overheard from time to time showed that the spectators appreciated the really fine features of the exhibit.

The organ recital, with Minton Pyne of Philadelphia presiding at the organ, drew the usual overflowing audience. It was not so enthusiastic over Mr. Pyne as the audience which greeted Mr. Hall a week ago. Mr. Hall sat near the organ and watched Mr. Pyne's handling of the instrument with a considerable show of interest.

For the most part Mr. Pyne's selections were not enthusiastically applauded. His playing deserved a better reception, but he had been unfortunate in the selection of his program for a popular audience. Complicated movements in minor keys, which could be appreciated to the full extent only by the best-trained ears, had the preponderance.

Mr. Pyne began with Mozart's "Fantasia in F Minor," playing its four movements: allegro, maestoso, andante and tempo primo. It's earnest power was well interpreted by the organist.

M. Salomé's "Cantilene in A Minor," pleasing example of the French school, was followed by the "Grand Choeur," a movement in A major by the same composer. This won the audience and an encore was demanded.

The organist then played with masterful touch Bach's "Prelude and Fugue," based on the familiar hymn tune, "St. Ann's." The first part of the program concluded with Mr. Pyne's transcription of Gounod's "Sanctus in F."

For the second part of the recital Mr. Pyne played Beethoven's "Adagio Cantabile in A Flat," Wesley's "Meditation in F," Bach's "Gaotte in D," an improvisation, and Handel's "Concerto in F."

The chrysanthemum show was not neglected. There is still a very large and pretty display of the autumn favorites, and Superintendent Faulkner promises that the show will last for two more weeks. Next Sunday the chrysanthemum exhibit will be almost as fine as it has ever been, and the week following a goodly number of the blooms will be removed and replaced by other kinds of flowers. Pink Lorraine begonias, calla lilies, Chinese primroses, stevis and lady-slipped orchids will take the place of the "mums."

At Highland park the usual Sunday crowds were present, the cold weather not deterring lovers of the zoo from visiting their favorites.

MANY TONS OF WIRE AND NAILS EXPORTED

American Steel and Wire Company Beats Its September Record by Nearly Forty Per Cent.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The foreign shipments of the American Steel & Wire Company's wire and wire nails made through eastern ports during October aggregated nearly 7,500 tons—the record monthly shipment for this year and nearly 40 per cent in excess of the consignments made in September.

Australia was the largest buyer of wire last month, 12 lots amounting to no less than 2,616 tons and including a single shipment of 1,022 tons, having been forwarded to various antipodean ports. The wire exports to South American countries were also especially heavy last month, the total shipments being 1,260 tons, distributed as follows: Buenos Ayres, 720 tons, in seven lots; Rosario, 214 tons, in three shipments; Brazil, 208 tons, in three lots; Chile, 125 tons, in one consignment, while the balance was forwarded to Montevideo. The South African shipments aggregated 914 tons in three lots. Mexico took four shipments, representing in all 250 tons.

The exports to Europe amounted to 952 tons, of which the United Kingdom took 393 tons, made up thus: Manchester, 655 tons, in four lots; London, 88 tons, in three shipments; Liverpool, 56 tons, in three shipments; Bristol, 50 tons, in one lot, while the balance was distributed almost equally between Hull and Glasgow. The continental European export buyers were France and Sweden. Minor wire shipments were also made during October to Cuba, Bombay, China and Japan.

The export shipment of nails during last month amounted to 1,229 tons. Australia was the largest purchaser, 342 tons in seven shipments going to various ports in that part of the world. The exports to far eastern ports amounted to 211 tons. Consignments to China and Japan aggregated 205 tons, while the balance went to Bombay. The total shipments to Europe were 260 tons. Following are details of the consignments: To the United Kingdom, 116 tons, in two lots; Liverpool, 58 tons, in one lot; Glasgow, 57 tons, in two consignments, while the balance was about equally divided between New Castle-on-Tyne and Leith. The shipments to continental Europe comprised 73 tons, the ports to which consignments were made being Havre, Copenhagen, Trieste and Marseilles. South America took 124 tons of wire nails in October, Brazil being forwarded 115 tons, the balance going to Chile. Minor shipments also went to Mexico, Manila and South Africa.

PITTSBURGHERS NOT IN IT.

Westinghouse Interests Deny Part in Option of the Tramways of Paris.

The report that the tramways of Paris are under option, expiring January 1, to an American syndicate headed by George Westinghouse, is denied by the Pittsburghers said to be in interest. The Paris report gets its only color from the fact that the Westinghouse interests have an extensive electrical plant in France and American control of the tramways of Paris might be to their advantage.

H. H. Westinghouse said yesterday that he knows nothing of such a deal and believes that there is absolutely nothing in it so far as the Westinghouse interests are concerned. He added that he would be quite certain to know if George Westinghouse was interested in any option on this property.

Murry A. Verner, who, with H. Sellers McKee, of Pittsburgh, is interested in taking over the St. Petersburg tramways and rebuilding them at an investment of about $70,000,000, said yesterday that he knows nothing of the reported deal in Paris and that the Westinghouse interests are not associated with him in the Petersburg plans. The Westinghouse company has a plant at St. Petersburg, but is an airbrake works, not a general electric works.

Mr. Verner said that it will probably be three or four months before the St. Petersburg authorities finally pass on the necessary grants for the traction enterprise there.

TO FIGHT THE SALOON.

Call for a Convention to Be Held in the National Capital Next Month.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Preparations are being perfected for holding the Sixth National Anti-Saloon convention in Washington, D. C., December 3, 4 and 5 next. The sessions will begin Tuesday, December 3, and will conclude the following Thursday. The call for the convention is signed by the Rev. Luther B. Wilson, M. D., D. D., who has been acting president of the league since the death, on May 30 last, of the Hon. Hiram Price, who had been president of the league since its organization, and by the Rev. Howard H. Russell, D. D., LL. D., national superintendent.

The committee of promotion will give an informal reception to the members of the convention the evening of Monday, December 2. A reception has also been tendered by Mrs. Henderson, wife of the Hon. J. E. Henderson, ex-senator from Missouri, and a reception by President Roosevelt is in contemplation.

The first National Anti-Saloon convention met at Washington, D. C., December 17, 1895, pursuant to a call issued by the Anti-Saloon league of the District of Columbia and signed on its invitation, by representatives of 32 bodies. The convention assembled in Calvary Baptist Sunday School House, with Dr. Wilson as temporary chairman. The American Anti-Saloon league was organized in the same place by the delegates present the next day, with 47 affiliated bodies represented in its original board of direction, including 17 national bodies and the Anti-Saloon leagues of the District of Columbia and Ohio, organized respectively, in June, 1893, and September, 1893. Hon. Hiram Price of Iowa, then a resident of Washington, D. C., was chosen president, and Dr. Wilson first vice president; and Dr. Russell, then superintendent of the Ohio A. S. L., was elected national superintendent.

The second convention was held at Washington, D. C., in December, 1896; the third at Columbus, O., in January, 1898; the fourth at Cleveland, O., in December, 1898; and the fifth at Chicago, in May, 1900.

The movement has now extended to 38 states and territories, and has over 200 bodies, many of them national and international, are included in the national federation. All bodies hostile to the saloons are requested to select delegates, with alternates, to this convention, together with a representative from each for the national board of direction. Representation in the convention consists of ten delegates from every other co-operating organization holding annual conventions.

The object of the league is "the suppression of the saloon." To this end is invited the alliance of all who are in harmony with this object and the league pledges itself to avoid affiliation with any political party as such, and to maintain an attitude of neutrality upon questions of public policy not directly and immediately concerned with the traffic in strong drink.

The committee on transportation has applied for, and expects to secure, a railroad excursion rate throughout the country on fare and a third on the certificate plan. The committee asks the co-operation of affiliated bodies by way of early returns of lists of delegates and alternates. It is thought that there should be an attendance of at least 1,000 delegates and visitors.

The American Anti-Saloon league is a national federation of churches and temperance societies, and it asks the co-operation and support of all enemies of the saloon.

STILL SEARCHING FOR DEAD BODIES.

Fire Is Extinguished in Mine at Pocahontas, W. Va., and Debris Is Being Removed.

POCAHONTAS, VA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The fire in the Baby mine has been extinguished, and all lines of hose have been withdrawn. Several thousand people came in on excursion trains today from the surrounding country to view the scene of the disaster. No bodies have been recovered since yesterday and it is not at all likely that any more will be. However, tons of fallen slate are yet within the mine at various points and friends of missing miners are removing a part of this, but the work is progressing slowly. The three bodies recovered yesterday were buried today without being identified. A subscription was taken among the miners to prevent the bodies from resting in a potter's field.

Friends of some of the missing miners still assert that at least eight bodies are yet within the mine and claim that the work of removing slate and debris will continue until they are recovered. The immense fans were put to work today to purify the air in the mine.

The state mine inspector has been on the scene since yesterday, but as yet has refrained from giving a statement of any kind. He will thoroughly investigate the cause of the disaster.

JACOB FRICK DEAD.

An Uncle of H. C. Frick Passes Away at His Home in Wooster, O.

WOOSTER, O., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Jacob Cook, one of the most widely-known residents of this city, and also one of the most wealthy citizens, died just before noon today, after being confined to his bed but a few days. Mr. Frick was born on a farm four miles southwest of West Newton, Pa., on September 17, 1834, being a son of Daniel Frick. He spent the early years of his life working on the farm and blacksmithing. He came to Ohio in 1855, settling on a farm near Findlay, where he was married in 1856 to Mrs. Elizabeth Frick, the widow of a cousin. He came to Wayne county in 1859 and since that time was prominently identified with the commercial interests of the county. He engaged in the business of buying grain and accumulated a large fortune. Since 1880 he had devoted his attention to banking and was president of the Wayne County National bank. He was the owner of much real estate in this city, including several of the best blocks in town.

Mr. Frick was an uncle of Henry Clay Frick of Pittsburgh. Mr. Frick was a member of the Lutheran church, a most liberal giver to the church, and also took a leading part in the congregational affairs. He was a trustee of Wittenberg college, and also of Wooster university. His first wife died in 1885 and in 1887 he was wedded to Miss Sara E. Rutter, a teacher in the public schools. He is survived by six daughters and two sons.

PRISCILLA'S PENCIL

Drew the outlines of a charming trousseau gown yesterday. It is an Empire housegown, in old rose velveteen, with an opening down the front to show some brocade in pink and yellow, which came out of a grandmother's trunk in the attic. The waist is outlined by a festoon of deep yellow lace and a square buckle in dull gold is caught at the top of the flaring plaît at the back. It is pretty, original and inexpensive, being made of velveteen which cost but sixty cents a yard, making the combined cost scarcely twelve dollars, yet it is handsome enough to do duty for teas or afternoon at homes, and simple enough in construction to be suitable for those "quiet evenings at home," which its dainty owner is anticipating with the man of her choice.

Walking Boots—
Are invariably thick as to sole, dull as to finish and broad as to toe. The dull calfskin is the favorite for all the unmarried women, and the squarer and more assertive the shape, the better it pleaseth my lady. Pointed toes have vanished into the mists of antiquity; patent leather tips and vamps are utterly passe, and the erstwhile popular shoe of kid, with paper soles and ornamental finish, is hopelessly out of date.

At the Concert—
The other evening a charming waist of cream lace over white satin attracted attention. It was made in the simple shirtwaist style and fastened down the back with tiny bullet-like pearl buttons. Around the collar was a twist of coral velvet, and a loose rosette of the same in narrow velvet ribbon brightened the white expanse of front. The sleeves were plain, but opened a tiny bit at each elbow to show a hint of the coral. One of the pretty members of the younger set wore it, and with a background formed by the pale blue satin lining of her evening cloak, she made a charming picture.

All the World—
Loves a lover, and a pair of happy ones in a downtown jeweler's shop the other day got a goodly share of admiring scrutiny. They were selecting the wedding ring, and as she tried on one after another of the significant circlets, her cheeks flushed prettily and her happiness was so evident that two or three nearby customers suspended shopping to watch her. After the wedding ring had been selected the lover asked for some diamonds, and in answer to the girl's inquiry, told her he would buy her another ring as a reminder of the occasion. "Oh, Jack—we had better save the money," she said, but Jack answered promptly: "This is some money I earned extra just for this purpose, and I am not going to use it for anything else. It is the next happiest hour of my life, and I want to see its signature every time I look at you." So the little diamond was bought, and with mingled smiles and blushes the two passed out, while the people left behind sighed and thought what a commonplace thing life is for all save lovers.

The Winter Baby—
Must have everything in purest white, with no adornment save a spray of forget-me-nots here and there. Pink and blue ribbons and ruffling are entirely out for his winter cold-weather majesty, and only the baby blossom, worked in white or in palest blue, is considered proper for his frilly. A white outfit prepared by a fond grandmother for her first grandson shows everything of the finest linen, with scattered flowers, in white for the dresses and in blue for the toilet and carriage.

Little Empty Stockings—
Will be plentiful this winter in the poor districts of the city. Priscilla's Pencil could record a hundred even now which will have not even a bit of candy to fill them out. Could not a few pennies be saved, a few discarded toys be mended and a few plans laid now by those who know not want, by which these pitiful slights on childhood's dearest joy may be obviated?

LEECHBURG, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Vandergrift is to have a new Y. M. C. A. building. On a recent visit of some of the officials of the American Sheet Steel Company, at Vandergrift, C. M. Schwab tendered a gift of $50,000 to the town for a Y. M. C. A. building. The association is much in need of this building, as there are about 800 members without suitable accommodations.

MONEY KINGS IN NEW YORK

MILLIONAIRES FROM OTHER CITIES GOING THERE

Many Palatial Homes Are Now Being Built or Rented by Men of Great Wealth—Philadelphia, Chicago, Pittsburgh and San Francisco Are Contributing Their Share.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Millionaires are flocking to New York from Philadelphia, Chicago, San Francisco and other cities. All along Fifth avenue new buildings are being constructed by "outside" moneyed men. Those new millionaire arrivals who are not building residences are renting houses from old New Yorkers.

One of the latest additions to the ranks of New York's wealthy class is the Drexels of Philadelphia. John R. Drexel has rented the Frederick W. Vanderbilt mansion, corner of Fifth avenue and Fortieth street. Mrs. Drexel is making elaborate preparations to entertain during the coming season. The Vanderbilt house was the old home of W. K. Vanderbilt and has been the scene of many of New York's most splendid social functions.

Mrs. Drexel pays a rental of $14,000 per year for the house. The lease is dated from November 1. The house is superbly furnished, and is practically as Frederick Vanderbilt left it when he went from New York to live in comparative retirement at Hyde Park, on the Hudson. Mrs. Drexel's entertainments for the coming season will consist principally of dinner parties. There will, however, be several receptions.

Other important millionaire invaders are Andrew Carnegie, Senator Clark of Montana, Charles Tyson Yerkes of Chicago, Clarence H. Mackey, the Dalys, the Huntingtons, the Morses, the Chisholms, the Proctors, the Moores and the Reids.

Senator Clarke is a great lover of art. In the Clarke gallery of paintings are more masterpieces than in the gallery of any other man in America, with the exception of W. K. Vanderbilt. Mr. Clarke has agents constantly in most of the European capitals looking out for bargains in pictures.

The Clarke mansion now being built will cost nearly $2,000,000. It will be one of the finest residences in America. It is to have a private theater, every detail of which will be perfect. Mr. Clarke's hall of sculpture will vie with that of the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

The Yerkeses have been in New York about five years. Mr. Yerkes made his money by amalgamating Chicago street railways. He is a man of great energy. His wealth has been placed anywhere between $5,000,000 and $10,000,000. A great deal of his time recently has been spent in London, where he is interested in underground electric railways. It is said that Mrs. Yerkes will give some splendid entertainments in the Fifth avenue residence as soon as Mr. Yerkes returns from abroad.

Another palatial residence going up on the further end of Fifth avenue is that of Andrew Carnegie. This house will not have so elaborate an exterior as the Clarke house, but that its interior decorations will be fully as costly as those of the senator's house. The Carnegie art and sculpture galleries will represent the investment of about $1,000,000. Though Mr. Carnegie has so long been identified with New York, he comes well under the list of outsiders, for he has only been within very recent years that he has made New York his permanent home. Previous to that time Pittsburgh—where he amassed his vast fortune—was his abiding place.

LONDON MARKET DULL.

Financiers Await President Roosevelt's First Message With Great Interest.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—In spite of various happenings, following which a rise in stock exchange quotations was confidently predicted, the condition of affairs at the end of the week has not materially improved. Neither the Northern Pacific nor the Franco-Turkish settlements, the cheerful speeches of Lord Salisbury and Mr. Brodrick, nor the lack of serious news from South Africa served to impart the promised upward movement on the exchange.

Up to the present time the cable advices have failed to satisfy operators as to exactly what the Northern Pacific settlement means, and the published details had a rather depressing effect. American securities closed the week decidedly off all around.

Critics point out that the continued gold shipments from the United States indicate that New York's resources are decidedly strained, considering the magnitude of the various financial projects afoot in Wall street, consequently the members of the London stock exchange are inclined to hold off rather than stake anything upon a tentative American boom.

President Roosevelt enters somewhat into London's calculations. The rumors of stringent anti-trust measures, which would break up many of the existing combinations, present in the president's message being awaited here with keenest anxiety. In the meanwhile money is by no means plentiful. Discount rates were steady. The actual transactions on the stock exchange were insignificant. Home rails were dead and mining shares almost all declined fractionally. Industrials generally suffered in sympathy with the tobacco war, which is daily assuming a more bitter aspect.

The Homestead-Philadelphia Game Is Arousing Local Interest

HARD PRACTICE FOR HOMESTEAD

W. & J.-INDIANS' LOCAL CONTEST

Teams Considered Evenly Matched and Game Should Be a Good One. Lalus Team Back from Detroit and Play at Franklin Saturday.

Interest in local football circles is turned toward the Homestead-Philadelphia game, which will be played in the Quaker City next Saturday afternoon. The exhibition put up by the local team at Exposition park against the Lafayette team last Saturday stamps it as one of the best teams in the country, but nevertheless the members look on their coming contest in Philadelphia as one of the hardest of the season.

The Stars will all be out for practice this afternoon, when some new plays will probably be tried. Much trick playing was used against the collegians and nearly every play was successful, and much ground was gained. A new play tried Saturday, which never failed to gain, is one that is attributed to Perry Hale, the famous Yale star. The Stars massed on one end, and, of course, the members of the opposing team strengthened their opposite end. The ball was passed to the half back and he skirted the other end for a nice gain.

The half back kick was responsible for several nice gains Saturday. The Stars have many good kickers, and it is expected that they will play a kicking game next Saturday. The Stars, in charge of Capt. Davy Fultz, will leave for Philadelphia over the Pennsylvania railroad next Thursday night, and arrive there Friday morning. In all 22 men will be taken along, and the line-up will be practically the same as last Saturday.

Another contest that is attracting great local interest is the Washington and Jefferson-Carlisle Indian contest at Exposition park next Saturday. The Indians have a fair team this year and came very near defeating U. of P. on Saturday. While Wash-Jeff was beaten by the Naval cadets, they put up a snappy game, and there seems to be little excuse for their weakening in the latter part of the second half.

Washington and Jefferson this year resembles U. of P. They have some good football men, but there is a marked deficiency in the coaching department. The Indians will arrive in Pittsburgh on Friday night, while their opponents will not come in before Saturday morning. The usual number of Washington county rooters will accompany the team, and if the elements are favorable a large crowd will witness the contest.

The James F. Lalus football team arrived home yesterday afternoon from Detroit, where they defeated the Detroit Athletic club Saturday by a score of 17 to 5. The team was met by a large delegation of their friends. Coach Lalus and players are indignant at their treatment at Detroit. The officials, they claim, were partial and the decisions were rather unfair at times.

The Lalus team was organized in 1895 and is one of the strong local elevens. The team goes to Franklin next Saturday to play the Franklin eleven and a good contest is looked for.

CORNELL HOPEFUL.

Ithacans Believe They Will Defeat Pennsylvania on Thanksgiving Day.

ITHACA, N. Y., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Cornell football team arrived from New York at 6:30 this morning and was given a warm reception at the station by several hundred students, who hauled the coaches and team to their quarters upon a gaily decorated float, shouting joyously for the victorious warriors. Notwithstanding the fact that Cornell apparently had an easy victory over the Columbia team, several of the men are badly shaken up. Capt. Warner, the rock of the eleven, for the first time since the opening of the season is complaining of severe muscle bruises along his left side.

Right Half-back Coffin is badly jammed about the shoulders, and will have to be treated tenderly for a time. Schoelkopf's hard line plunging has left him an invalid. He is suffering from a lame back, that may prove serious. Purcell is almost a wreck, and was unable to attend the training table today.

The showing of the Cornell team in New York yesterday has given the coaches great confidence in Capt. Warner's men, and they are certain that the Ithacan warriors will trounce Pennsylvania when the old rivals meet on Franklin field next Thanksgiving day.

COL. JACK CHINN TO LEAD.

Annual Chase of National Fox Hunters' Association Starts Today.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—The annual chase of the National Fox Hunters' association starts from Estill Springs, Ky., tomorrow. Col. Roger Williams of Lexington, Ky., master fox hunter, speaks enthusiastically of the sport anticipated. After the last annual meet many young foxes were "planted" through that section.

Last year the National association paid $25 for one fox. These meets are noted as social events and attract many visitors from different parts of the country.

The members of the fox hunting club of Westmoreland, N. Y., will be present. Col. Jack Chinn will lead the chargers. The "fox hunt" ball will occur next Friday night.

ETNA WAS OUTCLASSED.

Not Once Did Her Football Team Hold Avalon for Downs.

Avalon A. C. played Etna A. C. at Avalon today and won, 34 to 0. Etna A. C. was outclassed, failing to hold Avalon for downs once during the game. The line bucking of Avalon players was a feature. Line-up:

| Avalon—34. | | Etna—0. |
|---|---|---|
| Hunter | L. E. | Fitzsimmons |
| Seibert | L. T. | Swan |
| Dawson, Mender | L. G. | Hoyle |
| Wachter | C. | Gill |
| Zimmerman | R. G. | Dunn |
| White, Sweeney | R. T. | Fletcher |
| H. Delp, Muckie | R. E. | Stuard |
| Delp | Q. B. | Gift |
| Steele | L. H. | Clinton |
| Maeder, C. Delp | R. H. | Johnson |
| Calvin | F. B. | Eisengart |

Championship Rowing Race.

NEW CASTLE, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Joseph Green of East Liverpool, O., and Joseph Farmer of Elizabeth, N. J., will meet here next Saturday in a one-mile race on the Shenango river for the rowing championship of the county and a side bet of $250. The rowers will race from the Grant street bridge to the pumping station.

Among the Amateurs.

The B. A. C.'s of Beltzhoover defeated the Suburban A. C. on the former's grounds yesterday afternoon by a score of 17 to 5. The Suburbans, though outweighted, played a good game.

Mifflin Jrs. would like to arrange a game for Saturday with any 55 to 60-pound team, to be played on Mifflin grounds. Address John McMillon, 3018 Mowday avenue.

The Montour A. C. will play the Allen A. C. on Thanksgiving morning, and the Stockdales in the afternoon. The Montours would like to hear from all 50 or 55-pound teams. Address Joe Cauzza, 10 Montour way.

The management of the Franklins would like to hear from the following teams for Saturday or Thanksgiving day: Pittsburgh High school, Greensburg High school, Monongahela Tigers, Bridgeville, Sterling Reserves and Carnegie High school. Address Hinselblue, care Brady, 89 Congress street.

The management of the Piquot second team would like to hear from the Homestead third team. Address J. Jamieson, 62 Linden avenue, Allegheny.

W. & J.'S TEAM IS BADLY CRIPPLED

FIVE PLAYERS INJURED IN THE ANNAPOLIS GAME

Members of the Team Claim They Could Have Tied the Score If Nicholls, the Middies Captain, Had Not Entered the Game in Second Half. Practice Will Be Resumed Today for Carlisle Indian Contest.

WASHINGTON, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The W. & J. football team arrived here this morning from Annapolis, bruised and battered from their hard game yesterday with the Annapolis cadets. The players admit that the game was by far the hardest of the season, but all seem to be in good spirits and fairly satisfied with the showing made against the Middies. The men on the injured list are Forkum, Sefton, Sutter, Murphy and Montgomery.

The players have no excuse to offer for their defeat, but attribute it to better playing on the part of the cadets. Two of the varsity men were in no condition to go into a hard game, but there were no acceptable men to take their places.

The local players say that if Nicholls had stayed out of the game they would have had a better show, but the cadet's fullback was a whole team in himself, and from the moment he entered the game the Annapolis team seemed to be endowed with a new life.

Practice will be resumed tomorrow afternoon, with all the men who are able to appear on the field. The injured men will probably be given a rest of a day or two and an effort made to get them in good condition by next Saturday, when W. & J. meets the Indians at Pittsburgh.

W. U. P. AND WESTMINSTER TO CLASH ON WEDNESDAY.

Great Preparations for Annual Football Match at Recreation Park. Students Will Parade.

The annual game between W. U. P. and Westminster will take place at Recreation park, Allegheny, Wednesday afternoon. This game has been for years the star attraction on the W. U. P. schedule and this year is no exception. It is the only game of the year W. U. P. students and faculty attend in a body. W. U. P. has a record to be proud of and will try to prevent Westminster from crossing their goal line.

Word comes from New Wilmington that the Westminster boys are taking no chances and are in shape to play their best game of the year. The grounds at Recreation park are in good shape. Manager Wallace expects the proceeds of this game to even up the financial end of the season. Preceding the game Wednesday a parade will take place and students of all departments of the university will be in line.

JUDGING BEGINS TODAY.

Seventeenth Annual Horse Show Promises to Be the Best in History.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—The annual luncheon of the National Horse Show association today practically marked the beginning of the seventeenth annual horse show. Today's function was an exceptionally successful one and enthusiasm evidenced presaged a banner week for the show. The luncheon was given in the dining hall in the southwest corner of Madison Square garden. At its conclusion the guests adjourned to the garden, where a parade of many of the horses entered in the show was given.

The parade was led by Mrs. Wenthorpe Hope Johnstone's Emerald, a tiny mite of a Shetland pony less than 30 inches high. Then some of the hackneys were exhibited and a few trotters. The stables were inspected and the visitors left assured that the horse show of 1901 would not fall of success. The horse show proper begins tomorrow morning with the judging of 25 horses suitable to become hunters.

FIRST GAME TONIGHT.

Indiana and Allegheny Basketball Teams Will Play Initial Contest of Season.

INDIANA, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Indiana A. A. will open the season Monday evening with the Allegheny league team managed by Frank Roberts. A larger number of candidates have sought to make the team and this has resulted in hard practice.

The team will be the best that the Indiana Athletic association has ever produced. Preparations are being made to make the opening game a success. The team will appear in new uniforms and a band concert will be given between the halves. A large audience is expected. The new cage is 35x65 and rapid play will undoubtedly result.

Should other towns fall in line, it is proposed to have regular meets during the winter. The leaders of the movement have information that should a club be organized here, like organizations will be formed at McKeesport, Braddock, Latrobe and other towns.

EAST LIVERPOOL, O., Nov. 16.—(Special.)—The Lisbon football team played a tie game here today with the Y. M. C. A. eleven, neither side scoring. The contest was a fierce one throughout. The muddy condition of the grounds handicapped all the players, but the game was well played and interesting.

A CENTER RUSH FROM ALASKA

Nikefer Schouchuk, Carlisle's Star Football Player, Is an Esquimau.

IS STRONG AND VERY ACTIVE

His Anxiety to Get Into Every Scrimmage Has Cost the Indian Team Many a Penalty—Plays Like a Veteran.

Mohawks, Comanches, Senecas, Sioux and Blackfeet have played upon the football teams of the Carlisle Indian school in years past, but this season for the first time in history the squad numbers among its players a full-blooded Eskimo, who plays with all the fire and dash of the southern tribesmen. He is registered at the Carlisle institution as Nikefer Shouchuk, and although he never saw a football before he left his native Alaska last summer, he is fast developing into a star player.

His position is center rush, and he played in the game with Lebanon Valley college and in several minor matches early in the season. He won his greatest distinction as a pigskin chaser, however, in the important contest with the university of Michigan at Detroit several weeks ago. At the center of the line his work was equal to that of a veteran, and the team from Ann Arbor had a great deal of difficulty in making any material gains through him.

Coach Warner tells an amusing incident of this game in which the Eskimo figured. After the struggle all of the Indians were very much disappointed and disgusted at the case with which they had been defeated by the westerners. In an attempt to reassure them Warner commented upon the good points of their play and offered friendly criticisms. Coming to Nikefer, who was plunged in despondency probably deeper than any of his fellow-players, the coach tried to convince him that his work had been entirely satisfactory, but the unhappy Eskimo refused to be comforted, and replied in a heartbroken tone:

"No, I no play good ball—I tackle high—I get off-side—I no play good ball today."

Among his own people Nikefer would probably take rating as a giant because of his five feet, six and one-half inches and his 178 pounds of bone and muscle, but in the eyes of the average American football captain he would hardly command much consideration as suitable material for the position of center rush. His deficiency in size, however, seems to be discounted by his almost abnormal muscular development, his unusual strength and his remarkable activity. Off-side play, resulting from his anxiety to get into every scrimmage, constitutes his chief defect. He also lacks knowledge of the fine points of the game, but Coach Warner believes that experience will soon overcome this difficulty.

The nineteen years of the young Eskimo's life have been most eventful, and the element of pathos is not lacking in the history of his endeavors to better his condition. He was born in the central portion of West Alaska and, when quite young, was deprived by death of both his parents, leaving him one of a large family. At the age of 14 he was taken to a Russian mission school on one of the Kadiak islands. His education was frequently interrupted by the necessity of his returning to the continent to help support his brothers and sisters. This he did by hunting and fishing for the American fur and fish packing companies.

In company with the salmon fishermen he spent much time on the water in their small sea-going crafts. In this occupation he acquired a love for the sea which created in him a desire to enter the United States navy. In furtherance of this ambition he consented to accompany an American missionary to this country that he might enter the Carlisle Indian school and acquire the rudiments of an English education.

He arrived at Carlisle in the early part of last July and entered the Indian school with the scant knowledge of the English he had picked up among the Alaskan fishermen. His most characteristic trait, unflinching perseverance, immediately asserted itself, however, and it was not long until he had mastered enough of the language to enable him to make himself understood without difficulty.

BRANNON IS REINSTATED.

Turf Outlaw Pardoned for "Ringing" a Horse on Which He Won $30,000.

CINCINNATI, Nov. 17.—William Brannon, who for nearly a decade has suffered ostracism from the American turf, has been reinstated at Latonia.

The offense which made Brannon a turf outlaw was the alleged "ringing" of the noted old horse Tanner under the name of Polk Badget, at Latonia, on which he won something like $30,000.

Brannon trained the horse on the pike outside Latonia and nobody knew anything about him until the coup had been made. Polk Badget opened at 40 to 1 and was backed down to 8 to 5. Jockey Keith had the mount and tried to make a close finish, but the horse got his head and finished away out in front.

Brannon never claimed the purse. The horse was taken to a stable in this city and that night he was hidden behind some freight in a baggage car, painted to prevent recognition by the officials, and shipped direct to Jersey City. The trail grew so hot that he had scarce reached the stable there when he was taken out and shipped to Hopkinsville, Tenn.

The horse is dead, also the jockey who rode him. Judge Perkins said he thought Brannon had suffered punishment enough, and gave him reinstatement in the nature of a pardon.

PRIZE DOGS REACH NEW YORK.

String of Richard Croker's Thoroughbreds Arrive on an Atlantic Liner.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The Leyland liner Bohemian came in here after a hard fight with the seas with 28 prize dogs, valued at nearly $10,000, on a lower deck. They are the property of E. M. Oldham of this city, who traveled with them. A bull terrier, consigned to W. K. Vanderbilt & Co., in New Haven, Conn., and three other fine dogs belonging to B. Stanton, a passenger, were also on board.

Held back by the head-on gales so that she will not reach dock until tomorrow morning, the Atlantic Transportation liner Minnehaha has on board a string of thoroughbreds owned by Enoch Wishard, who has been Richard Croker's trainer in England, and by William C. Whitney, Foxhall Keene and J. B. Haggin.

Foreigners Will Enter Regatta.

LONDON, Nov. 17.—The members of the Thames Rowing club at a meeting held yesterday rejected by a large majority the plea of William H. Grenfell, M. P., the well-known oarsman, in favor of the exclusion of foreigners from the Henley royal regatta.

Although a final decision will not be taken until next Saturday, the action of the club is regarded as virtually settling the matter.

Vanderbilt Enters Auto Race.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—William K. Vanderbilt, Jr., and Foxhall Keene today cabled their entrance as competitors in the Paris-Vienna race, starting from the French capital June 15 next. The race will cover a distance of 900 miles, and competitors from all over the world will participate. Mr. Keene has just ordered an American machine with which to compete in the race.

New Basket Ball Manager Elected.

GROVE CITY, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—J. G. Marshall has been elected manager of the basketball team of Grove City college for this season, and has commenced work on the schedule. The outlook for a good team here this season is very bright.

YALE WILL PLAY A FASTER GAME

BLUE DEFENDERS WILL BE KEYED UP FOR HARVARD

Crimson Supporters Are Not Discouraged Over Dartmouth's Score of Last Saturday, and Have Strong Hopes of Beating Sons of Eli in Their Annual Contest—Will Depend on a Star Back Field.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Nov. 17.—In order to gain stamina and weight for the Harvard game of next Saturday, the Yale football eleven will be given but little work this week. Captain Gould said tonight that only two of the team would be expected to work except in signals and formations. The two are Hogan and Hamlin.

The first substitutes as a team will be worked hard against a scrub team. Captain Gould said: "We did not have to play ourselves out against Princeton. Nor did we use all of our plays. The eleven will be keyed up to play a much faster game against Harvard. That will be our great aim and must be. All of the men who played yesterday are in good condition."

Gould's shoulder is sore from the jolts he sustained, but is not so bad as a week ago. Olcott and Goss are in better condition than was expected, but will be used lightly to make them stronger. A greater degree of confidence is evident tonight at Yale among students, players and coachers than on Friday night.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Dartmouth's scoring against Harvard yesterday has by no means discouraged Crimson supporters in their hopes to beat Yale this Saturday, for with a team composed almost entirely of subs, Harvard made a good showing against the strong and formidable eleven of the visitors.

What pleased the coaches more than anything in the contest was the entire absence of fumbling on the part of Harvard's men. In every game this season the Crimson eleven has let the ball slip through their fingers at every possible opportunity. Both the touchdowns which were made before the game Saturday were the result of fumbling, and in the games with Brown, the Indians and Pennsylvania, Harvard made no less than eight costly errors along the line.

Yesterday Harvard did not fumble the ball once. Her backs handled it with perfect accuracy, and as a result the running back of punts was the best that has been on Soldiers Field this year. With a back field of stars Harvard can hope to do wonders against Yale, if her men can only hang onto the ball, and the game Saturday has given the coaches encouragement to hope that they will do so when they line up against the Blue.

NEW HOMESTEAD MILL WILL BE A BIG ONE

Will Make Not Only Beams and Angles, But Structural Steel as Well.

The new plant of the Carnegie Steel Company, announced some time since as being planned for a site adjoining the Howard axle works in West Homestead, will be on a much greater scale than at first proposed, according to plans now practically adopted by the company. Originally it was said the new plant would be for the manufacture, by a special process, of steel beams. According to the new plans the manufacture of angles and general structural steel material will also be included in the new plant.

It will be the greatest angle mill in the world. The reason for the hastening of the plans is said to be that the company at present finds itself unniterly unable to turn out all the angles demanded and now under contract. In fact, the demand is so great that the Carnegie company now has three mills outside of those of the United States Steel Corporation manufacturing angles under its contracts.

The site is immediately adjoining the axle plant on the west. The mill will manufacture angles from 3x3 inches up to 8x8 inches, the largest made, and will be a complete mill in itself, manufacturing from the raw steel in the form of billets to finished forms ready to be used on ships, bridges or steel construction work of all kinds.

Plans for the works have been about completed in the draughting rooms of the Homestead steel works. The new mill will not be quite so large as the Howard axle works, which is 1,000 feet long and 200 wide, exclusive of detached buildings, but will be approximately 600 feet long by 300 wide.

In its interior arrangement the direct system of making steel will be used as it was introduced at the Howard axle works. Steel billets will be introduced at one end and placed in the furnaces. By electrical devices they will be drawn out at the other end heated, passing successively to the other end of the mill through the process of rolling, bending, cutting and finishing.

When this new plant is completed the angle department at the upper and lower Union mills in Lawrenceville will be moved to West Homestead. The new mill will employ about 400 workmen. It will be placed under the management of A. C. Dinkey, general manager of the Homestead steel works. The demand for angles is unprecedented. So rushed is the Carnegie Steel Company that it has sublet some contracts to the Bethlehem Steel Company.

WAITING FOR THE CURTAIN.

Pennsylvania Anxious for the Close of the Worst Football Season in Her History.

PHILADELPHIA, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Pennsylvania's football players have a hard week and a half's work ahead of them before the sunset of Thanksgiving day will ring down the curtain upon the most disastrous season encountered by the Red and Blue since she so nobly fought her way into the ranks of the big colleges. The game with the Indians on Saturday was a more bitter pill for the Quakers than the loss of the Harvard game.

In the contest with the Crimson the Pennsylvania players were outweighed and physically outclassed from the start. There was the excuse of an average of nearly 15 pounds to the man in favor of the Harvard eleven. In Saturday's game, however, the Red and Blue was almost defeated—so nearly that a voluntary safety was the only salvation of the day—by a team that averaged 150 pounds.

In the meantime Cornell was rolling up a score of 24 points against Columbia, the conquerors of Pennsylvania. True Weeker, the star of the New York college was out of the game, but the absence of the one man would not so much affect the result of a game as to make a difference of 50 points, which is the numerical superiority of Cornell over Pennsylvania, as represented by a comparison of the showing of both colleges against Columbia.

West Point, the only competitor left on the Pennsylvania schedule before the final game with Cornell, did not play on Saturday, but her showing so far this season makes her a strong favorite in the game next Wednesday. West Point has tied both Princeton and Yale and played a six to nothing game with Harvard. These three performances of the cadets show that there was no luck in the matter, and demonstrates that their team is a strong and consistent aggregation. Their showing by comparison has been superior to that of Cornell.

SANDOW SAYS TEDDY IS STRONG

Professional Athlete's Impressions of President Roosevelt.

HIS ACTIONS INDICATE POWER

Has Splendid Command of Himself and Mentally and Physically Is Ready for Action at Any Moment. Exercises Three Hours Each Day.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)

NEW YORK, Nov. 17. — President Roosevelt and Eugene Sandow, the strong man, have met. On November 2, by appointment, these two athletes conversed and the impressions the professional received of the rough rider president are told by him thus:

"He is wonderful. Wonderful. I never saw such energy, such power. I was prepared to meet an active man, but he entered the room, bounded across the floor, gripped my hand, looked into my eyes and greeted me, doing all these things at once. I was amazed.

"Then I have a strong hand. Unconsciously sometimes when shaking hands I grip one's fingers too firmly perhaps, but it would require some effort on my part to use the force the president puts forth when he shakes hands.

"There was the quick, nervous grasp about his handshake that told me it was backed up by great physical strength and tremendous nervous energy.

"His manner, his appearance—all his actions, indicate power. At a glance I or anyone could tell that he was an athlete. He looks like one, acts like one, and I know he feels like one.

"He has himself in splendid command. He is sure of every one of his muscles. He knows just what each can do. He has tested them, and he gets some form of exercise out of every one of his actions.

"If he walks across the room, he does so energetically. If he shakes hands he makes that the business of the moment. If he looks at you he looks at you with a purpose.

Has Mark of an Athlete.

"In short, he is always exercising his mind and body. He does nothing loosely. Mentally and physically he is ready for action at any moment. He is always himself. That is the mark of the athlete.

"His build, from the top of his energetic head down to his firm feet, is powerful. That is the only word that expresses it.

"He is as compact a man as I have ever seen. He carries himself like an athlete. He stands erect, with shoulders thrown back and feet firm. He is always 'attention.' He is always 'keyed up.' In an emergency he would be the first to act. His makeup would impel him to act. If activity were demanded he could not stand by and let others do the work.

"That is a result of his physical condition—of the energy he gets from constant exercise. So bubbling over with energy was he when I met him that I would not have been surprised had he leaped over a table or a chair, just as an example of his agility and riotous good health.

"If President Roosevelt at a moment's notice had, as commander-in-chief of the army, to take the field, he would be ready for the most campaigning and I doubt that if in the entire army a soldier could be found who equally with the president could withstand the strain.

Bearing Is Vigorous.

"His bearing is vigorous. His step is springy. But when he comes to a stand he is there to stay. I know it would take some effort to dislodge him. A man of ordinary strength could not do so.

"He is in prime condition. His eyes are bright and beaming. His color indicates boundless health. He is as hard as a rock.

"With his tremendous energy and his powerful build he could, with comparatively light effort and in a very short time, do some marvelous feats of strength.

"The moment I looked at him I said to myself: 'If the Jungfrau or Matterhorn were near the White House the president would run up them for a pleasure jaunt.'

"I can imagine what his enthusiasm in leading a charge against an enemy and his voice would inspire his men. On horseback I should deem him invincible. And after looking at the man I believe that there is not a horse on earth that President Roosevelt could not conquer. The horse would feel, the moment President Roosevelt grasped the bridle, that his master was in the saddle.

"The president's nerves need no treatment. Probably they never will need treatment. He knows the benefit of exercise. It is second nature to him and he will never give it up. So long as he exercises his nerves will never trouble him.

"To know his strength all you have to do is to look at his neck and shoulders. Even at repose his muscles stand out. Everything about him, in fact, indicates that he is as sound as a young oak.

"I must deal only with superlatives in speaking of President Roosevelt's physical make-up. His tremendous vital energy and powerful build simply make him a man of iron.

"My mission is physical culture and that alone. The athletic life that President Roosevelt leads will do more to advance physical culture and to raise the physical standard of men and women in America than all other influences combined.

"With such an advocate as he—an advocate who himself exercises three hours each day, the cause must triumph."

TIGERS ARE GLOOMY.

Downhearted and Crestfallen Over Their Defeat by Yale—Pell's Star Playing.

PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—The darkened sky which cast its black shadows over Princeton's campus today added much to the impressive silence and feeling that prevailed here among the undergraduates, a silence and a feeling which are always customary on the Sunday succeeding the loss of a championship game.

Dr. Henry Vandike, who conducted the services in Marquand chapel this morning, struck a chord in the hearts of the undergraduates when he pointed that they might be men alike in adversity and in success. Despite the late arrival last night of the students from New Haven, a goodly attendance at chapel was noticeable this morning.

Tired and weary most of the enthusiastic youths who journeyed to New Haven on Saturday morning, confident in the team's ability to bring back a victory, returned to their beloved old university last night on special trains, a downhearted and crestfallen lot of students. The big minority that remained over in the metropolis for an evening of sight-seeing, came back in little bevys tonight.

At the club houses, the conversation today, that part of it which related to the game, savored strongly of warm commendation for the players, but not one of them came in for more praise than Capt. Pell, against whom the fates decreed that both of the teams he had so faithfully led through two football seasons should go down in defeat before the onslaughts of the sons of Eli. The concensus of opinion among the students is that Capt. Pell has conducted himself in the spirit that should be consistent of a Tiger captain and that in yesterday's great struggle he put up a magnificent game. The same sentiment is held by all seven of the coaches who had a part in Old Nassau's work on the gridiron this fall.

Although the game went to Yale, there is a feeling prevalent here that Princeton made a hard, plucky fight against her rivals from the time the referee's whistle set the ball in motion until its last sound was heard which turned over a splendid victory to the Yale eleven.

MISSIONS WAS THEIR THEME

PLATFORM MEETING AT CHRIST CHURCH LAST EVENING

Members of General Missionary Committee of Methodist Episcopal Church Were Speakers at a Great Gathering in Christ Church Last Night—Occupied Many City Pulpits During the Day.

Although the members of the general missionary committee of the Methodist Episcopal church yesterday interrupted their tedious labor on the financial problems of the missionary works of the great denomination, they secured little rest. Almost every one was assigned to preach in one of the local pulpits, and some of them preached twice. Only one official meeting of the committee was held. That was a platform meeting in the Christ Methodist Episcopal church in the evening.

The Rev. J. F. Goucher, D. D., presided. The Rev. Dr. W. F. Upham, D. D., of Chicago, and Chancellor J. R. Day of Syracuse university made the addresses. The meeting was devoted to a discussion of missionary work. Dr. Goucher said the convention now meeting in Pittsburgh is for the purpose of apportioning $2,000,000 for missionary work, not a dime of which is in the treasury nor a dollar promised.

Dr. Upham introduced the subject with the statement during all the meeting he has been asking himself over and over again the question: "Can the evangelization of the world ever be accomplished—the time ever come when the principles of Christianity will permeate literature and law?" The great wonder of the nineteenth century, he said, was not the achievements of science and invention, but the rapid propagation of the Christian faith throughout the world. It could not be accomplished by mere sentiment. Romance connected with Christian missions had long since passed away. "God manages the affairs of this world in and for his church and sits behind the motives of men and turns and overturns," said the speaker.

Chancellor Day said it is a strange and puzzling dispensation that the people on this side of the water took Christian faith over to the place of its birth. The world is a little arena which one can go around in a summer's vacation and across which ships and trains now shoot, like shuttles in a loom. The missions are literally domestic, he said. He assailed the narrow-minded people who cry out against helping the heathen because there is so much to do at home. Every person in the church is a descendant from a heathen, he said. Money is needed, and the men who have it and who are simply God's stewards—for they have taken it out of God's hills and seas—must give it up to carry God's word into every corner of the earth.

THREE MEN BURIED UNDER MOLTEN SLAG

Shower of Red-Hot Cinders Nearly Cremated Workers at Homestead.

One man is dead and two are seriously burned as the result of the burial of a party of workmen under a mass of molten slag at the Howard axle works in Homestead yesterday afternoon. The dead:

ANDREW RUSKA, aged 47 years, resided at 614 Stone alley, Homestead, with wife and four children. Right leg crushed, badly injured internally and burned all over body. Died at 5:30 p. m.

The injured:

ANDREW HORNZA, aged 27 years, resides at 407 Third avenue, Homestead. Compound fracture of right leg, face and scalp cut and bruised, removed to Mercy hospital; condition critical.

GEORGE SHEARTSKI, aged 30 years, resides at 407 Third avenue, Homestead. Contused foot and bad scalp wounds, also severe burns all over the body. Removed to his home.

The accident occurred about 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon on the cinder dump, back of the axle company's plant. For some time the mills have been dumping slag at this point to fill in the ground for a new plant which is to locate there at an early date. The slag contains a great quantity of good scrap iron, which becomes separated from the slag when struck with a sledge, and is gathered up by the men. This scrap is later returned to the furnace and cleared.

The three victims of yesterday's accident were engaged in collecting this scrap, when a party of workmen at the top of the dump about twenty feet above, dumped the contents of a car over the edge, not knowing that the men were directly beneath them.

A car contains about eight tons of the slag, a great part of which is red hot and in many cases in a molten state. The load emitted a shower of sparks and smoke and completely buried the unfortunates below. Their cries attracted the attention of workmen nearby, who rushed over the pile of smoking slag to the rescue of their companions. They hurriedly shoveled the hot mass of cinders from the three men and soon had them free, but it was too late to have Ruska's life.

When removed from the cinders the men presented a terrible appearance. Their clothes were nearly burned from their bodies; their faces were blackened and burned by the hot cinders and their eyes bloodshot from the intense heat. Ruska was the most seriously burned, the flesh of his cheeks being burned to a crisp, and he died before he could be sent to the hospital in Pittsburgh. The condition of Hornza is very serious, but the hospital attendants have slight hopes for his recovery.

SANTIAGO IGLESIAS WILL BE RELEASED

President Gompers Cables Authorization to Furnish $5,000 Bail.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 17.—The release of Santiago Iglesias, the agent of the American Federation of Labor who, on arriving about a week ago at San Juan, Porto Rico, to organize the workingmen of the island into trades unions, was arrested on a charge of conspiracy, probably will be effected tomorrow. A cablegram was sent this afternoon giving the following authority to furnish bail: "Washington, Nov. 17.—To Sidney McKee, San Juan, Porto Rico. Request you furnish bail $5,000 for the lease of Iglesias, pending his trial. The federation and myself will be responsible.

"SAMUEL GOMPERS."

Another cablegram sent direct to Iglesias, in jail, announced this action and requested him to cable directly a report as to the real causes of his arrest. Mr. Iglesias has not yet cabled a word direct to the federation since his arrest. The dispatches sent from here today, following information received through the Associated Press and other sources, Iglesias is still in jail; that through the intervention of influential friends the bail had been reduced from $2,000 to $1,000, and that McKee stood ready to furnish the bail if the organization requested and would be responsible.

Mr. Gompers also received private word that, as the incident had become a public question, it was deemed inadvisable for any one on his own account in Porto Rico to furnish the bail. The executive council of the federation, which Mr. Gompers did not have time to consult in advance, doubtless will approve his action. Otherwise he himself will have to stand for the amount.

Mr. Gompers said today: "Neither the federation nor myself will stand for anything unlawfully done by anyone, but Mr. Iglesias was arrested upon a charge which can be easily proven to be without any foundation in fact. He was engaged in protecting the workingmen of Porto Rico from being paid in greatly depreciated money, it being tantamount to a 25 per cent reduction in their wages. A man was killed and another hurt in a scuffle at the time of the strike, but that Mr. Iglesias was not even remotely connected with this I am perfectly satisfied, and he will no doubt be able to demonstrate this at the trial. For this reason bail will be furnished."

THE QUESTION BOX.

Haymarket Riot.

Will you give a short review of the Haymarket Riot in Chicago?—L.

On Saturday, May 1, 1886, 46,000 men had struck in Chicago for an 8-hour working day, and by May 3 there was much parading of strikers. This culminated in an attack on the workmen of the McCormick reaper works, in which shots were exchanged between strikers and police, about a dozen of the former being wounded. Handbills denouncing this shooting of workmen and calling for a meeting for Tuesday night in the Old Haymarket, a plaza of 1,500 feet by 180 feet, were distributed that night and next day. There gathered some 1,500 men, to be harangued by Spies, Parsons and Fielden. The latter was especially violent, and when the tenor of his remarks was reported to the police station, about 100 yards away, 170 policemen were marched toward the crowd with orders to disperse it. Just as this order was being given a bomb struck the ground among the police, exploded and the crowd opened fire. Sixty policemen were killed or wounded. Seven of rioters were in the following August convicted of murder and sentenced to death, and one was sentenced to 15 years' imprisonment.

Origin of Our Flag.

There can I get information on the origin our flag?—N. A.

The first legally established nation's flag adopted by congress June 14, 1777, and ordered to banners of various devices that had been used by the Colonists. It consisted of thirteen alternate red and white stripes and a field of thirteen white stars in a blue field. This held until May 1, 1795, when there went into effect a law providing for a flag of fifteen stripes and as many stars. Then on July 4, 1818, the former arrangement of stripes was restored, with a union of twenty white stars in a blue field, a star to be added on the admission of every new state on the Fourth of July following such admission.

Estimating Crops.

In estimating crop yields the government uses 100 as a basis for its calculations. What does the 100 represent—an average or a perfect crop? And again, what is the yield per acre in pounds of cotton and bushels of corn, wheat and oats does the figure represent?—H.

Neither, but a normal crop, which is better than an average one, and less than one that is perfect, or all that a region may be capable of producing. So in such conditions as an extraordinarily fine season, a crop may fairly be reported at over 100. And owing to the different possibilities of different localities a crop report of 100 means many more bushels in one region than in another.

Perpetual Motion.

Is a prize offered by any government or individual for the invention of perpetual motion? 2. Has the rotary steam engine never been brought to commercial use?—E. F. B.

No; perpetual motion is a proven impossibility. 2. It has been employed in many hundreds of forms, these in many cases commendable for compactness, the ease with which the engine could be reversed and for the direct application of power; but, on the other hand, and usually outweighing these advantages, were difficulty in employing the steam expansively and leakage.

Canadian Homestead Laws.

How much land can a man homestead in Canada? 2. What does it cost? 3. How long will he have to remain on the land? 4. Does one have to take out papers there?—O. A. McE.

1. Of dominion lands, 160 acres; some of the provinces grant 200 acres. 2. The present price for dominion land is $3 per acre. The office fee for homesteading is $10; on canceled lands, $15 to $20. 3. Six months yearly for three years, though he may purchase after a year's residence on the land and cultivation of 30 acres. 4. No.

M. S.

Is the degree of M. S. conferred from a course of study?—H. C. G.

When signifying Master of Science, it is given for a year's resident of three years' non-resident graduate study and examinations, to holders of the degree of Bachelors of Science. When meaning Master of Surgery it is conferred on Bachelors of Medicine and Bachelors of Surgery, for two years' hospital work in surgery, and written and practical examination in advance surgery.

Black Hills.

Why are the Black Hills of South Dakota, or near there, called "The Bad Lands?"—W. R. M.

Because of the extremely irregular surface of the tract, making getting about in it difficult, and because the region was for years a natural refuge for Sioux in their wars with us. The term bad lands is applied to various localities, and was given by very early French explorers.

Train Speed.

After a train gets under headway does it take as much steam or power to keep it going as to get it up to speed? As at 50 miles an hour, on either level track or on grade?—J. R. T.

The higher speed takes more power. Clark's formula puts the resistance per long ton at 8.6 pounds for 10 miles per hour, and 22.6 pounds for a 50-mile speed.

The Conquest of Riel.

Did Lord Wolseley quell the last Louis Riel rebellion without firing a shot, or losing a man?—J. R.

No; the commander of the royal forces was Maj.-Gen. Middleton of the Canadian militia, who was knighted for his services. The losses of the organized forces were 53 men killed and 129 wounded, and there was much hot skirmishing and most difficult campaigning.

Trademark.

What will it cost me to get a trademark?—H. H.

Twenty-five dollars, if you act without aid from an attorney. This you probably can do successfully after securing from the patent office its pamphlet of rules relating to trademark practice. The pamphlet is sent free to applicants.

Acadia.

Where was Acadia, the scene of Longfellow's "Evangeline?"—S. G.

It was a French colony that took in the settlements south of the St. Lawrence, and originally included New Brunswick and part of Maine. It was the inhabitants of the counties of Kings and Annapolis in Nova Scotia who were driven into exile by George II.

Land in New Mexico.

Where can one get information concerning the kind and amount of land open for settlement in New Mexico?—R. L. D.

At the United States land offices of the territory, which are at Clayton, Los Cruces, Roswell and Santa Fe. Some 54,000,000 acres in New Mexico are vacant and subject to entry.

Lieutenants' Pay.

What is the salary of first and second lieutenants of United States navy?—J. R. C.

The pay—not salary—is $1,800 a year for lieutenants, and $1,500 for lieutenants of junior grade. This is for service at sea, or on land beyond seas; the pay for shore duty is 85 per cent of these amounts.

The Hague Treaty.

What was the purpose of "The Hague treaty?" 2. Who represented the United States in The Hague conference?—W. H. K.

To prevent, "as far as possible, the recourse to force in international relations." 2. Seth Low, Andrew D. White, Stanford Newell, Capt. William Crozier, Capt. A. T. Mahan and Frederick Holls.

To Preserve a Head.

How can I preserve the head of a wild animal, or where can I obtain the desired information?—A. H. H.

You'll need more than a mere smattering of taxidermy to do a passably good job. There are books that give instruction in this art.

Ohio Senators.

When were the present United States senators from Ohio elected, and for what length of time was each chosen?—M. H.

Marcus A. Hanna was elected January 13, 1896, Joseph B. Foraker on January 15, 1896, each for six years.

Marl.

What is marl?—H.

A form of limestone, or, more specifically, amorphous calcium carbonate mixed with more or less of clay and sand. It is valuable as a fertilizer.

Americanism.

Just what is meant by "an Americanism," and what would you say are their source?—F. C.

A word or phrase peculiar to some or all the folk of these United States, or a peculiar sense in which word or phrase is used here. Their sources are many; survivals of older English, inheritances from the English dialects, selections from other languages and coinage come into at least general local use.

Standing Armies.

How many men compose the standing armies of Russia and France?—A News Stand.

Russia's peace establishment consists of 853,146 men; France's of 579,870 men.

Electric Treatment.

How long has electricity been used in treatment of the sick?—F. A. F.

Since about 1809, though its use for years was more experimental than scientific.

Red Ink.

In bringing forward the balance on a bank pass book, which is the proper ink to use, red or black?—W. D.

Red is customary.

A Coon's Age.

How did the phrase, "In a coon's age" originate?—Ignorance.

In the popular belief that the coon was very long lived.

A Royal Duel.

How long since Prince De Orleans and count of Turin fought a duel?—N. C.

They met August 15, 1897.

Cost of Boer War.

How much is the daily cost of the Boer war for England?—H. C. H.

About $600,000.

PERSONAL.

HEART TO HEART TALKS.
My Dear Father Pitt:
There has been too much saving at the spigot and wasting at the bung hole; too much niggardliness and not enough public spirit shown; can you think of any better way of helping the city than by keeping up a good appearance, making our city attractive to strangers and refraining to ourselves. No man should have a dingy looking house when painting is done so reasonable as here.

BRITISH LOSING MEXICAN TRADE

DETAILS THE ENGLISH OVERLOOK

Do Not Pay Sufficient Attention to Packing on the Classification of the Tariff—Delay in the Execution of Orders Another Drawback.

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
905 Fifteenth St., N. W.
WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.

The renewed attention to trade conditions between the United States and the American countries lying south of her borders, due in part to the meeting of the Pan-American congress at the City of Mexico, lends special interest to a statement by a British official in Mexico, Consul Blorklund, which has just reached the treasury bureau of statistics. That officer calls attention sharply to the fact that in the one American country at the south with which the United States has satisfactory transportation facilities, Mexico, the trade of the United States has vastly outgrown that of other nations.

Fifty years ago the trade of Mexico was carried on by British houses, and as late as 1872-3 was in a fairly flourishing condition, but since the opening of the Mexican Central and Mexican National railways American manufacturers have yearly increased their trade with the republic. To-day the British trade is confined to a few agencies (there being no important commercial establishment), who by means of samples and catalogues undertake the execution of orders. Some of the large British houses employ travelers, who can always count on their usual customers for orders, but other houses frequently send out such unsuitable men, often foreigners, that they are unable to get a single order. Mr. Blorklund calls attention to the following points that have been very much overlooked by many British traders:

Mexico's Tariff Classification.

"There are over 900 different classifications in the Mexican tariff, and lists of articles that clearly specify those in which a doubt might exist are issued by the minister of finance. With these (which can be obtained on application) and the original tariff there is no reason why so many mistakes should be made in consular invoices. More care should be taken in drawing up these documents, which duty should not be left to junior clerks, as is too often the case. Mistakes are of daily occurrence, with consequent fines, and the consignee has mostly to suffer. All these difficulties could be obviated if there were a more careful observance of the tariff regulations.

"More attention is required to the question of packing. This does not consist only in a good water case (which in many cases is better than the boxes made on the continent), but it is the way the contents are packed in the case. Merchants or customers abroad often give instructions as to the packing of certain articles, not only to secure their safe arrival, but also on account of the duties that may be leviable on those goods. If these instructions were properly carried out it would save a great deal of trouble on both sides.

Slow to Fill Orders.

"Great delay in execution of orders in the United Kingdom is another serious drawback to the extension of trade. Orders from Mexico could certainly be filled in, say, three months, but it is often more than double that before shipment is advised. This has more than once been the cause of important orders being sent to the United States or some European country, where the order has been filled at once.

"Still another point that deserves the attention of the British trader in general is the failure to give estimates or descriptions when asked for. In such cases an order may depend upon a full and intelligible description being given to the would-be customer in metric weights and measures."

The relative growth in the exports of the great nations to Mexico, referred to in the above statement of Consul Blorklund, is accurately measured by the following table, prepared by the treasury bureau of statistics, which shows the value of the exports of the United States, United Kingdom, France, Germany and Spain to Mexico in each year from 1857 to the latest attainable date in millions of dollars:

| Years. | U. S. | United Kingdom. | France. | Germany. | Spain. |

PITTSBURGH PRICES FOR FARM PRODUCTS

California Strawberries Now Here—Potato Prices Increased—Corn Strong.

The past week has been an active one in nearly all lines of trade, with especial strength noticeable in produce, poultry, butter and eggs. All of these have been in marked demand, with prices advancing.

May is selling at the same figures as a week ago, but the tone of the situation is stronger, with receipts lighter. Straw is unchanged, and in fair request. Rye is advanced with increasing demand, and shorter supplies. Wheat is firmer and higher. The market has been unsettled for some days, but the actual tendency of conditions has been upward, high the situation is stronger. Oats are milder than they were last Monday, and corn is firmer, with No. 2 white middlings and bran offering at advanced figures. The greatest strength, however, was in corn, which has made rapid advances throughout the country, on account of heavy buying; locally there has been an advance of three cents a bushel for ear. All grains have ruled very strong, and these conditions still prevail.

Flour opens the week at the old range of $4 to $4.10. There was some hope expressed at the close of the week that the improved wheat situation would give flour another lift, but it failed to come. Selling is principally at the four-dollar figure, and sales are steady, but not generally large. Sugar went off 10 points during the week, and is slow at the decline. The demand is much less than a month ago, and production, which has been heavy, brought about the fall in prices. Coffee is locally unchanged, but in primal markets there has been considerable strength shown, with free predictions of advances made by dealers. Reports concerning the next Brazilian crop continue unfavorable, which is doing much to overcome the depressing effect of the very heavy receipts of the last crop. Rice is firm. Syrup is unchanged but steady. No change has been made in beans, except for a slight stiffening in quotations for limas. Rye flour is advanced, on account of the higher price of rye, while all corn products are very firm.

Canned tomatoes open this week as they did last, with quotations covering a range of from $1.15 to $1.20. There is no weakening in the market, although selling has been a little quiet. Corn is in fairly good demand, and unchanged. Succotash is firm, the pack this year being light. Fruits are all unchanged.

Currants are maintaining a strong position, with primary market prices advanced. Raisins are showing more strength. Prunes are having more call, and are steady, with prices unchanged since the commencement of the season. Evaporated apples are strong, with no change in quotations, demand being active. Peaches and apricots move but slowly, though prices are firm.

In fruits and produce the principal excitement has been in potatoes, where prices have responded quickly and materially to a more active market, and figures ruling are now much higher than a week ago. So great has been the rush to purchase potatoes that figures asked at growing points have been advanced 20 cents a bushel, and even at those prices a ready market has been found. The fear is expressed by conservative viewers of the situation that the market may be overbought and a depression follow the present flurry. Apples are holding firm, with prices unchanged and fancy stock in active demand. Cabbage is abundant and lower, both for domestic and Danish. Celery is more active, but lettuce is slow, although having a slightly improved sale in the last two or three days. A few tomatoes may yet be found in the market, selling at $1 per chip basket; this week will see them pretty well cleaned up. Cauliflower is neglected, very little attention being shown it by consumers, although the quality is good. Florida eggplant is coming forward more freely and is lower than it was, the fictitious prices which ruled the market during the early part of the week having given way to more reasonable figures. Cranberries are steady and selling freely. California strawberries have made their appearance in the market, selling at 35 to 40 cents a pint, and quickly purchased at those figures; they are of good color and flavor.

In tropical fruits there has been a quiet week, sales steady but not active. California Jaffa oranges are now arriving and offering at $2 to $3 per box. They are seedless, like the navel orange, and of choice flavor, though those which have been received so far are not perfectly matured and not free from sourness. Florida oranges are the best sellers, while Jamaicas are moving steadily. Lemons have had a better week than for some time and are still in good request. Californias being the favorites. Bananas are steady but not active. Grapes are holding their own, with prices unchanged. Nuts have been quiet since Halloween, but are holding firm, as to quotations, with sales increasing.

Butter went forward a cent a pound last Monday and is now firm at that advance, with dealers having trouble to secure enough choice table grades to supply the demand. Cheese remains slow and easy; no improvement has come to the New York market, and the general tone of the situation is quiet. Eggs have been rapidly advancing; fresh are scarce and prices now range from 26 cents for large and desirable orders up to 28 cents for smaller sales. Storage sell at 20 to 22 cents, the highest range for storage eggs in November, according to one jobber, for 10 years.

Poultry receipts during last week were plentiful, but local demand was greatly improved. Spring chickens, both live and dressed, are abundant, and yet prices are holding fairly steady; old fowls are less in demand and are easier. Turkeys are coming forward in such a manner as to banish fears of any real shortage for the Thanksgiving trade, as quotations are remaining unchanged, in spite of the fact that there is a great increase in sales. However, shippers are unwilling to name prices for any future deliveries, and it is possible there may be some fluctuation, all depending upon supply and demand after the beginning of Thanksgiving week. West Virginia and Ohio have been sending forward more than was at first expected, but it is by no means certain yet that there will be enough to meet all the demands to be made upon those states.

The provision market is quiet; further declines have been made in hams and dry salt and smoked meats. Lard lost another eighth, the price for pure in tierces being now 5¾c.

In the hide market prices are unchanged, but the situation is lacking in tone, with price quotations tending downward.

SERMON TO PILOTS.

The Rev. J. H. Craig Delivers a Masterly Address to Them.

The members of Harbor No. 2 of the American Association of Masters and Pilots last night attended the Bellevue Christian church in a body. The Rev. J. H. Craig selected as his topic "Father's at the Helm." His audience listened intentively. He said in part:

"Father's at the Helm. This is the language of a little boy, who being on board a boat in a fearful storm, was asked by one of the passengers, 'Aren't you afraid?' 'Oh, no,' said the boy, 'Father's at the Helm.' This gentlemen is the confidence and trust imposed upon you by the boat owner.

"When flood, storm and tempest is on, he remembers that Jim is at the helm. One whose eye is clear of vision, whose arm is steady, and whose judgment is cool, in the face of danger. If there are 447 beacon lights on his course he knows them all. See with what skill and judgment he handles towns of coal, containing as much as a million bushels, through narrow bridge spans. Like Davy Crockett, he makes sure he is right, then gongs the boat to go ahead. He may not know every obstruction and shallow place in the river bed, but he knows where the deep water is.

"What grave responsibilities rest upon him. His instructions are, keep clear of obstructions, deliver the boat and cargo safely at its destination. This is intensified the more when we know that the tonnage of the Ohio river is greater than the port of New York. The coal mined from the hills of Pennsylvania is king of the commerce of the Ohio river. Last year it amounted to 3,950,000 tons. And those brave men bore safely this combustible substance to light the fires of mill, factory and hearth-stone, and make the world brighter and happier, a maximum distance of 2,000 miles. All honor to them and theirs. Many of them are Christians. All of them should be, and will be, I trust, e'er they make that last trip.

"The analogy of Christ and the beginning of His church is very striking. The first members of the church were sailors, who sailed the Lake of Galilee. The pilots on the Ohio river are entrusted with the freightage things material, but Christ, our pilot, with things eternal. Our common master stands on the bridge at the wheel signaling, 'Let the lower lights be burning;' low bridges, shallow water and rocks ahead. When we are surrounded by the mists and fogs of life. His clear eye penetrates the gloom in time to see the lower lights burning brightly along the shore. When in the quicksands of deadly temptation, and all on board have given up hope, He is heard saying, 'Be of good cheer, I have overcome the world.'

"You guard your reputation as a successful pilot as a sacred trust. You value it as your very life. Much more, then, in a moral sense, are we to watch over your actions, thoughts and words. Your life must be steadied by the Christ of God and His book, which you carry upon your boat. For there are rocks ahead that will wreck you upon the shore of time if you do not have those beacon lights. There are dense fogs which none but Jesus can carry you safely through. Your hope and mine of safe arrival at the eternal harbor of destination will depend largely upon the kind of a pilot that stands day and night at the wheel. Let that pilot be the Christ of Galilee."

For many years the Garfield Remedies have been growing in popularity.

GARFIELD TEA.

A proper realization of the value of this wonderful Herb medicine depends on an actual acquaintance with it, and to introduce it in homes where it is not known the manufacturers send sample packages whenever requested. In many families throughout the world where it is used no other medicine is ever required—it is the best family remedy. It is good for young and old; it establishes a natural action of the bowels, cures chronic constipation, sick headache, indigestion, kidney and liver troubles, and by purifying the blood it clears the complexion, removes the cause of rheumatism, gout and many chronic diseases and keeps people well. There is absolute perfection in the composition of this medicine; it is guaranteed to contain nothing but clean, sweet, health-giving herbs.

Garfield Headache Powders,

For Headaches and Weak Nerves.

Many years of scientific experiments have resulted in producing a remedy that is wonderfully effective in curing pain and building up the nervous system. These powders act with the desired promptness. Other satisfactory qualities are their simplicity, absolute freedom from injurious ingredients and power to produce lasting good results.

Garfield Tea Syrup,

A Pure Fruit Laxative.

The action of this medicine is perfect—it is mild and potent. It is made from the famous Garfield Tea herbs, pure sugar and fruit. Because of its freedom from harmful drugs, stimulants, acids, minerals and narcotics, it is peculiarly adapted to the treatment of infants and children, and it is also remarkably successful in establishing and maintaining good health in the adult.

Garfield Digestive Tablets.

The effect of these Tablets is to almost instantly relieve all pain, flatulency or distress of the stomach after eating; their continued use will permanently cure dyspepsia, and insure a proper assimilation of food. Try them—improved health will prove the most effective argument in favor of this new remedy.

Garfield Relief Plasters,

For Strains, Sprains, Aches and Pains.

This mode of treatment saves doctors' bills and much suffering. The Plasters contain medicinal properties that make their action prompt and certain; backache, weak or strained muscles, and pains that seem chronic go deep-seated yield to their curative action.

Garfield Belladonna Plasters

for rheumatism, lumbago, neuralgia, colds, lameness, sciatica and any pain that can be cured by local application. This agency in the cure of disease gains in importance when the wonderful curative power of belladonna—of the correct strength and in the right quantity—is fully understood.

Garfield Lotion,

Heals All Skin Irritations.

Those who value their complexions should use this lotion freely—it preserves the delicate texture of a fine skin and overcomes the disastrous effects of cold and cutting winds. It prevents and cures fever sores and sunburn. It is impossible to discover a defect in this daintily scented, medicinal balm for the skin. Gentlemen will find this an agreeable toilet accessory for use after shaving.

MANY FACTORS OF GOOD OMEN

Financiers Look for Substantial Improvement in Security Market.

TREATY OF PEACE GOOD FOR RAILROADS

Settlement of Northwestern Railway Muddle Should Result in Release of Large Amount of Capital Now Tied Up.

(SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.)
NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Although the general tendency of prices was toward a higher level the security market of the week was swayed by conflicting influences, which resulted in some irregularity. At the last the character of the trading was somewhat changed. Commission house and investment buying were somewhat less in evidence than earlier in the week and there was apparently some modification of western enthusiasm. At the same time the professional element again came prominently to the fore and the volume of transactions, both in stocks and bonds, was maintained on about the same basis as prevailed during the preceding week. All things considered, the market movement was nearly normal. The news developments presented favorable as well as unfavorable features, and though the former predominated, there is much for Wall street to consider before it commits itself irrevocably to a position from which it might be difficult to recede.

With so many evidences of prosperity forced upon public attention and with the seals affixed to the treaty of amity and concord between the two greatest financial forces in this country, constituting the groundwork probably of the most powerful capitalistic aggregation in the world, it is small wonder that Wall street should continue hopeful, even in the face of a not unclouded future. That confidence is wanting, or, perhaps, that uncertainty is still the keynote of the situation, was clearly indicated by the course of the market on Thursday.

Ground for Encouragement.

With full knowledge that the entire northwestern railway situation had been brought under one control, which will work vast economies on the one hand and result in largely increasing earnings on the other, through the maintenance of rates, checking of competitive railroad building, and by a proper distribution of traffic, professional leaders sold the market and frightened some timid holders of securities into doing the same. The speculative element professed to be disappointed over the terms of the settlement and the manner in which it was received by the public. In reality, their only disappointment arose from the fact that prices from the prevailing high level did not at once shoot up to the stars, and when they themselves sought to take profits from stocks bought lower down, they found that many other persons were doing precisely the same thing.

The elements which chiefly militate against the confidence are not found in the present security market, which maintains a strong undertone. Leaders could force the reaction, but they were unable to force extensive liquidation, for the very apparent reason that the persons who hold the stocks are the strongest financial interests in the country. These are seeking an opportunity to sell profitably and not in a declining market.

West Buys Securities.

On the uprush of prices during the last two weeks the selling by pools and cliques and syndicates has been very well absorbed, chiefly by the west. This is indicated by the reduction in bank loans in the face of increased activity in securities. There is reason to believe that the process will continue despite such checks as may come from time to time through further gold shipments and a more active money market, and the gradual realization that the country's exports are steadily falling behind.

It is clearly a distributive movement which is in process in Wall street, but a distributive movement which contains many factors favorable to the leading element which points to continuance and the moderate enhancement of prices at every favoring opportunity.

There is, of course, some discrimination in securities, as was noted more particularly in the close of the week, when industrial and traction shares rather than high-grade securities found favor with the professional element. It is by such a process of discrimination that the market reveals its shifting back into professional hands, apparently indicating uncertainty on certain points which Wall street has eliminated from the proposition. The speculative element apparently does not take into consideration the vast amount of securities created during the last year, and by what slow process these are digested through the natural increase of wealth. For every share of stock taken out of the market, except for investment, new securities of holding companies or of a convertible character have been created.

Actual Loss of Wealth.

The public has shown great power of absorption, but the bank loans, ranging from $100,000 to nearly $5,000,000 in excess of what they have ever been at this season for a decade, shows that there are still vast quantities yet for sale. In the meanwhile, there has been an actual loss of wealth in this country through crop damages and to our chief customers abroad; England, through the waste of treasure in war and through the suspension of gold production in South Africa; Russia, Germany and France through crop losses and an industrial cataclysm. The material wealth remaining in this country is vast and may carry us through to a crop season, but in the meantime there has been a real and actual loss amounting up into the hundreds of millions. It is this in the end which must govern the course of prices, which are now at a very high level.

Money will doubtless work still closer in the consequence for gold shipment and the end of the year requirements. Preparations are already being made for the January 1 disbursements, which will be heavier than ever before. In addition to this, in the near future will come the requirements for further foreign remittances in connection with the last installment of 15 per cent due December 3 on the British war loan. The Northern Pacific settlement will call for some funds and lock up some money temporarily, though not as much as a transaction of $400,000,000 would imply.

Outlook in Money Market.

The holders of Great Northern and Northern Pacific preferred will make a direct exchange of their holdings for the shares of the Northern Securities Company, and on that transaction one hand will simply wash another. There is, however, some $55,000,000 of Northern Pacific preferred stock outstanding in public hands which calls for payment in cash, and which will tie up some money. It should be recognized that at times in a new and developing country money is worth the legal rate of 6 per cent, and that 6 per cent stock does not indicate panic or even stringency, particularly when everything goes to show that there is a vast supply of funds in the country. Six per cent is not favorable to sustain stock market activity or for a bull campaign, but such a rate would certainly accelerate the return of funds from the interior and would probably check gold exports by attracting money to this country or through its employment here by Europe at the higher rates. In any event, the interval at which a high rate may prevail will be brief, and the expedients for relief through bond purchases are open to those who can avail themselves of the opportunity.

RUSSIANS MAKE ANOTHER OFFER

THE WESTINGHOUSE CO. INTERESTED

Figuring on the St. Petersburg Rapid Transit Project--Alexander Memorial Church Nearing Completion.

ST. PETERSBURG, Nov. 1.—The proposal of a group of American capitalists to take over and modernize the street railway systems of this city has awakened St. Petersburg capitalists to the financial possibilities of the project. As a counter off to that of Murry A. Verner, the St. Petersburg Horse Car Company offers not only to build the palace bridge, but to construct an underground electric line under the Nevsky prospect. The city is at law with this company. It is believed that if Mr. Verner does not receive the franchise the city will electrify the tramways itself. The Westinghouse Electric Company is figuring on this assumption, and it is also studying the situation at Moscow.

Alexander Memorial Church.

The church in memory of the Emperor Alexander II., which is being built on the spot where he was assassinated, seems to be progressing toward completion at last. The exterior and interior walls are done and are being decorated. The gilded and porcelain cupolas have long been finished. The interior promises to be equally rich. Mosaic work will abound. There will be room for 3,000 worshipers. The church is in the strictest Russian style.

Famine Relief Measures.

The press is beginning to realize that the government has made a radical front-about in respect to famines, and this year displays no signs of pursuing an ostrich policy. Commendable energy is also manifest in relief measures, though reports from portions of Siberia show the needed grain has not reached its destination, prices in some places standing 200 or 300 per cent above normal. The railway ministry announces reduced tariffs for relief foodstuffs.

River Improvement Frauds.

A criminal process which has just ended at Nijni-Novgoorod proves that Russia has not yet attained the ideal of all governments, an incorruptible public service. Several engineers led by one Alexandroff were convicted of wholesale frauds in connection with river improvements during a period of years. They executed whatever work they did in a most shameless manner and charged for material never purchased and laborers never hired, and sold material sent them almost as fast as it was delivered. It is interesting in this connection that Assistant Minister of Finance Romanoff's visit to Manchuria was mainly to inquire into the peculiar disappearance of railway records from places where the Chinese found nothing else worth carrying off.

Protest Against Liquor Monopoly.

From several provinces there have been coming in during several months loud complaints against the government liquor monopoly. Nearly all the Zemstvs of the famine districts have petitioned vainly, it seems, against the continued sale of spirits during the famine, and in the city of St. Petersburg and house owners in a portion of the city with a population of 10,000 workingmen, are petitioning the government to close the liquor booths in this district. In other parts the Zemstvs demand higher liquor prices, the increased profits to be devoted to education. These petitions have likewise been disregarded so far. The minister of finance proposes to allow the temperance committee 4,000,000 roubles next year, or 900,000 more than this year.

The finance minister, who has control of all factories, proposes to introduce evening and Sunday classes for workmen, instruction to be both elementary and technical.

Want Increased Police Force.

The St. Petersburg prefect of police asks for an increase in the force of 400 to 450 in the higher police and from 2,000 to 2,500 in ordinary police. Salaries are also to be increased to a minimum of 600 roubles a year. The total increased expense will be 1,082,000 roubles.

The annual students' movement appears to have begun this year at Kieff. A meeting has been held and resolutions adopted asking for the readmission of students who were expelled from the university last winter and who have hitherto vainly sought to return.

Protest by Students.

The St. Petersburg university students also held a meeting or two to protest against an article in the weekly journal Grajdanin (The Citizen), which gratuitously called in question the morality of the women students and constructed in his imagination a St. Petersburg Quartier Latin. There seems to have been no tendency in this direction so far. On the advice of the minister of education the students confined themselves to a declaration of contempt. Endless speeches were, however, delivered.

Money for Education.

The budget for the ministry of education for the coming year will probably be increased by 4,000,000 roubles to 37,000,000 roubles. Elementary schools will receive 1,700,000 roubles, the universities 500,000 roubles, the building fund 1,000,000 roubles more and other departments smaller increases.

Chinese Mission Coming.

Rumors that a special Chinese mission headed by an imperial prince, will arrive here about March 1, appear to well founded. Closer commercial relations are stated to be the principal object.

The Japanese colony at Vladivostock has received permission to erect a crematory. It will be the first crematory in the empire. Japanese merchants have been coming to Russia in constantly increasing numbers recently, with a view to closer commercial relations. Two or three parties, who have been well received by Russian authorities and business men, are now in Moscow. All the signs at present point to more cordial relations between the two empires, for the present at least.

It is surprising what a little of the right kind of medicine will do. Small doses of Dr. D. Jayne's Expertorant cure many of the worst Colds.

Making and Saving.

The man who makes lots of money—and spends it all—will still be working 25 years from now. While the man who makes little—and saves part of it—will spend his old age in peace and plenty.

ROOSEVELT APPOINTS TWO COLORED MEN AS JUSTICES.

Emanuel M. Hewlett.

Robert N. Terrell.

Both Are Graduates of Harvard.

WASHINGTON, D. C., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Emanuel M. Hewlett and Robert N. Terrell, the colored men just appointed by President Roosevelt as justices of the peace, are Harvard graduates. In the case of Hewlett, his is a reappointment to a position for which every president has named him since he first took the office under President Harrison in 1890. Mr. Hewlett is a son of the late Prof. A. M. Hewlett of Harvard, and was educated at the Cambridge high school and Chauncey hall in Boston. He took his law degree in the Boston University Law School, and came to Washington to practice in 1880. His admission to the bar of the United States supreme court was granted in 1885, upon motion of Judge Jere M. Wilson.

Barring a position held in the treasury department under President Harrison, Mr. Terrell has never been a public official before. He was born in Orange county, Va., in 1857, and was graduated cum laude from Harvard in 1881. He studied law at the Howard University Law School, and left there as the valedictorian of his class. He was strongly backed by Booker T. Washington.

GOOD USE FOR SURPLUS.

Grand Army Encampment Fund May Be Used for McKinley Monument at Cleveland.

CLEVELAND, Nov. 17.—If the proposition made by a committee of 100 citizens to the finance committee of the recent National Grand Army encampment is carried out a surplus of $8,000 collected for that occasion will be used to erect a bronze statue of heroic size to the late President McKinley in the public square, the center of the business portion of the city.

Thus far the matter has received the indorsement of most of the men connected with the Grand Army encampment, and there is little doubt of the memorial soon becoming a reality.

SWEDISH BISHOP PREACHES.

Representative of King Oscar Fills Pulpit of Rock Island Church.

ROCK ISLAND, ILL., Nov. 17.—Bishop K. H. G. Von Scheele, personal representative of the king of Sweden, who is touring this country, arrived in this city this morning with Lady von Scheele for a week's visit to Augustana college.

He preached in Moline Lutheran church this morning. This evening he lectured in the college chapel on "The Religious Reformation of the Sixteenth Century." He will lecture before students every afternoon during his stay in the city.

BOY CRUSHED TO DEATH.

One Lad Killed and Another Injured by Jumping From Freight Train.

NEW KENSINGTON, PA., Nov. 17.—(Special.)—Herman Andre, aged 15, was instantly killed and Julian Verster, aged 13 was badly injured by jumping off a freight train on the Allegheny Valley railroad near the Parnassus station this afternoon. The youths with a number of companions boarded an extra freight train at Arnold to take a ride. The others jumped and escaped without injury, but Andre and Verster remained on the train until it attained a high rate of speed.

Verster jumped over the embankment and escaped with a dislocated shoulder and a number of bruises. Andre's coat was caught in some manner and when he let go the car he fell between the wheels. An inquest will be held tomorrow. Verster, who was picked up in an unconscious condition, was removed to his home. His injuries are not dangerous.

KNOX GRANTS REQUEST.

Will Consider Charges of Bribery Against Chief Justice of Territorial Court of Arizona.

PHOENIX, ARIZ., Nov. 17.—Webster Street, chief justice of the territorial court, has gone to Washington to appear before the department of justice to answer charges of bribery, brought against him last summer in connection with a decision affecting the King of Arizona Mining Company.

It is alleged in the complaint that Street accepted a bribe of from $5,000 to $7,000. Street was in Washington some time ago and requested an investigation, which Attorney General Knox promised him. Street has just received notice that the charges will be considered November 21.

BIG DECREASE IN OHIO VOTE

Official Figures Show a Falling Off of Twenty Per Cent.

GOV. NASH'S PLURALITY WAS 67,584

The Republican Candidate for Supreme Judge, However, Led His Democratic Opponent by Nearly 77,000.

(SPECIAL TO PITTSBURGH GAZETTE.)

COLUMBUS, Nov. 17.—The official returns, compiled by the clerks of the secretary of state's office, show that the total vote in Ohio at the state and legislative election, November 5, will not reach 840,000. A year ago, when President McKinley was re-elected, it was 1,049,121, and two years ago, when Gov. Nash made his first race, 920,872.

The official returns from all of the 88 counties have been received and tabulated, except those of Cuyahoga and Lucas, two of the largest in the state. The vote in each, however, has been secured from the county chairmen, and is therefore as accurate as the official abstract, having been canvassed by the boards of election of the two counties. The vote by counties on the Republican and Democratic gubernatorial candidates is as follows:

Gov. Nash's plurality is 67,584 and Supreme Judge Price, who led the ticket, will have a margin of nearly 77,000, which really indicates the actual Republican plurality, for neither the Republican nor the Democratic candidate for the judgeship was scratched. The returns show a falling off in the total vote of 20 per cent as compared with the vote cast in every five elections neglected to cast his ballot.

Of the several minority parties, the Prohibitionists alone are entitled to a place upon the official ballot next year, they polled 9,256 votes, about 900 more than necessary to avoid nominating their candidates by petition. They didn't expect this and are much elated over the showing they made. It requires one per cent of the total vote cast for a minority party to retain its place upon the ballot.

The Union Reform party polled 2,535 votes, Socialist-Labor 2,313, and the Socialist party 6,629 votes.

RIFLE PRIZE BARRED.

Canadian Customs Officials Dubious About Admitting It Free of Duty.

NEW YORK, Nov. 17.—Brig. Gen. Bird W. Spencer, president of the National Rifle association of America, and Secretary Lieut. Albert S. Jones, are in communication with the customs authorities of the Dominion of Canada endeavoring to deliver the Palma trophy, which the Canadian marksman won at the rifle shooting tournament which was held at Sea Girt last September.

For some reason the Canadian authorities cannot see their way to admit the trophy, and while Gen. Spencer and all the other American marksmen are reluctant to lose the prize which is emblematic of the International team championship, they are more than anxious to deliver it to the Canadian shooters who so cleverly won it. Gen. Spencer said today that he had no doubt but that the Canadian custom officers would surely find a loop-hole through which the emblem could be admitted to the Canadian dominion.
